Art Another Language For Learning:

Art, Another Language for Learning Elaine Pear Cohen, Ruth Straus Gainer, 1984 Donation Arts with the Brain in Mind Eric Jensen, 2001 Using research on the brain and learning Eric Jensen presents the definitive case for making the arts a core part of your curriculum and integral to teaching in every subject and classroom Art, Another Language for Learning Elaine Pear Cohen, Ruth Straus Gainer, 1976 This book presents true stories about childhood development with accompanying discussions about the role of the art processes as well as products Project Zero Frameworks for Early Childhood Education: Project Spectrum : early learning activities Howard Gardner, David Henry Feldman, Mara Krechevsky, Jie-Qi Chen, 1998-11-13 The groundbreaking work of Harvard University psychologist Howard Gardner on multiple intelligences and Tufts University psychologist David Henry Feldman on nonuniversal development is fast becoming the standard by which children's intelligence and cognitive development is understood In this landmark three volume set Mara Krechevsky and her colleagues at Project Zero make these insights available for both teachers and scholars alike This curriculum resource provides enriching activities in a wide variety of disciplines including mechanics and construction movement and music The Colors of Learning Rosemary Althouse, Margaret H. Johnson, Sharon T. Mitchell, 2003 Unique in its creativity and depth of understanding The Colors of Learning will change the way that teachers think about and react to children's artwork Promoting the integration of visual art into all early childhood curriculum areas this volume will help early childhood professionals present in depth art experiences to children so that they become engrossed in expressing their ideas and newly learned concepts through art media This user friendly volume features actual classroom dialogue throughout the text and many illustrations of children's art including some in full color Based on standards endorsed by the National Association for the Education of Young Children NAEYC and the National Art Education Association NAEA this important book focuses on Lev Vygotsky's theory of social interactions in learning showing how teacher child and child child relations become an important part of the art experience Helping teachers to use more effective language to build children's conceptual knowledge and guide them in their art making The use of many kinds of art media providing examples of developmentally appropriate activities to improve children's thinking and learning Moving away from art that is solely created to be cute and pleasing to adults to art experiences that develop the child's individual expression The authors have given the field of early education a valuable usable gift one that will have a great impact on young children's lives and those who teach them From the Foreword by Carol Seefeldt The Colors of Learning provides a new awareness of why and how to integrate art into all subject areas in early childhood curriculum should help all teachers of young children to enhance and enjoy their teaching and the children's learning Meg Barden Cline Lecturer retired University of Massachusetts at Amherst A Theory-based Approach to Art Therapy Ephrat Huss, 2015-05-15 Art therapy literature is often based either on practice in a specific setting art material or population or if taking a more theoretical focus on illustrative case studies This book provides a theory based approach to research teaching and practicing art therapy including verbal and arts based techniques settings art processes and analyses and the principles of supervision evaluation and research It also offers an overview and discussion of how the different orientations of psychological and social theories are interpreted and implemented by art therapy The book provides an integrative perspective that anchors methodology within a rigorous theoretical background Focusing on three sub groups of Dynamic Humanistic and Systemic social theories each chapter outlines the central concepts of varying sub theories within a general heading and their interpretation from an art therapy perspective Ephrat Huss explores the respective and shifting roles of art client and therapist through each theory demonstrating the practical implications for creating a coherent intervention that informs all parts of the setting therapy client evaluation and supervision A Theory based Approach to Art Therapy draws on the latest research in the field and will be a valuable text for art therapy theorists educators students and researchers as well as for other social practitioners interested in understanding how to integrate the arts into their practice

The Value of Drawing Instruction in the Visual Arts and Across Curricula Seymour Simmons III, 2021-03-29 By applying philosophical and historical perspectives to drawing instruction this volume demonstrates how diverse teaching methods contribute to cognitive and holistic development applicable within and beyond the visual arts Offering a new perspective on the art and science of drawing this text reveals the often unrecognized benefits that drawing can have on the human mind and thus argues for the importance of drawing instruction despite and even due to contemporary digitalization Given the predominance of visual information and digital media visual thinking in and through drawing may be an essential skill for the future As such the book counters recent declines in drawing instruction to propose five Paradigms for teaching drawing as design as seeing as experience and experiment as expression and as a visual language with exemplary curricula for pre K12 art and general education pre professional programs across the visual arts and continuing education With the aid of instructional examples this volume dispels the misconception of drawing as a talent reserved for the artistically gifted and posits it as a teachable skill that can be learned by all This text will be of primary interest to researchers scholars and doctoral students with interests in drawing theory and practice cognition in the arts positive psychology creativity theory as well as the philosophy and history of arts education Aligning with contemporary trends such as Design Thinking STEAM and Graphicacy the text will also have appeal to visual arts educators at all levels and other educators involved in arts integration

The Authority to Imagine Maria Piantanida, 2006 Textbook Telling Pieces Peggy Albers, Sharon Murphy, 1999-12-01 Telling Pieces is an exploration of how pre adolescent middle school children develop a knowledge and understanding of the conventions of art art as literacy and how they use this knowledge to create representations of their lives in a small midwestern U S town Beginning with an overview of social semiotics and emergent literacy theorizing the authors set the stage for their study of sixth graders involved in art A gallery of children's artworks is presented allowing readers viewers to consider these texts independent of the authors interpretations of them Then set against the gallery is the story of the community and school contexts in which the artworks are produced contexts in which racism homophobia and the repression of creativity are often the norm The interpretation the authors bring to bear on the artworks reveals stories that the artworks may or may not tell on their own But the tales of artistic literacy achievement are counterbalanced by reflection about the content of the artworks produced because the artworks reveal the impossibility for students to imagine beyond the situational bounds of racism homophobia and religiosity The authors conclude by raising questions about the kinds of conditions that make literacy in art possible In doing so they explore selected alternative models and in addition ask readers to consider the implications of the ideological issues underlying teaching children how to represent their ideas They also advocate for a participatory pedagogy of possibility founded on ethical relational principles in the creation and interpretation of visual text Of particular interest to school professionals researchers and graduate students in literacy or art education this pioneering book brings together the fields of art education and literacy education through its focus on how middle school students come to work with and understand the semiotic systems introduces sociolinguistic sociological and postmodernist perspectives to thinking about children's work with art adding a new dimension to the psychological and developmental descriptions that have tended to dominate thinking in the field includes a gallery of 40 examples of children's artwork providing a unique opportunity for readers/viewers to interpret and consider the artwork of the sixth graders independent of the authors' interpretations presents descriptions of art teaching in process gives considerable attention to the interpretation of the children's artworks and the influences that contribute to the content they represent and considers varying models of art education along with the implications of introducing new representational possibilities
