Economy—Energy—Environment Simulation K. Uno, 2005-12-08 In the policy arena as well as in the academic world a new challenge is having to deal with the global community We are increasingly aware that the world is linked through economy energy environment interactions We are increasingly aware at the same time that the emergence of the global community does not imply an integrated harmonious world rather it is a community where countries regions of different interests and values face each other directly Global governance has to be achieved through actions of national governments under different motives and constraints We need to have an analytical tool that is capable of producing a global picture yet with detailed country resolution If the world is a better place now compared to 100 years ago in terms of per capita income this is due to the industrialization that continued throughout the 20th century We entered the 21st century knowing that the human aspiration that translates into ever increasing production may not be tenable in the long run Sustainability of the global community is at stake In contrast to incremental decision making through the market mechanism that should lead to some optimal state under some assumptions such as perfect knowledge smooth movement of resources no externalities and so forth we need to have an analytical tool to provide us with details of the future state of the world Canada International Monetary Fund, 2001-04-23 The Canadian economy ended the 1990s with a very strong performance underpinned by the sound macroeconomic policies put in place during the decade The Bank of Canada raised interest rates markedly in 2000 as estimates of slack in the economy were narrowing rapidly Executive Directors agreed with the authorities view that monetary policy should be set to reflect economic conditions in Canada and should aim to allow the economy to seek its productive potential without compromising the official inflation target Canadian Income Tax Act Canada, 19??
