The Life of a Galilean Shaman Pieter F. Craffert, 2008-01-01 Historical Jesus research remains trapped in the positivistic historiographical framework from which it emerged more than a hundred and fifty years ago This is confirmed by the nested assumptions shared by the majority of researchers These include the idea that a historical figure could not have been like the

Gospel portrayals and consequently the Gospels have developed in a linear and layered fashion from the authentic kernels to the elaborated literary constructions as they are known today The aim of historical Jesus research therefore is to identify the authentic material from which the historical figure as a social type underneath the overlay is constructed Anthropological historiography offers an alternative framework for dealing with Jesus of Nazareth as a social personage fully embedded in a first century Mediterranean worldview and the Gospels as cultural artifacts related to this figure The shamanic complex can account for the cultural processes and dynamics related to his social personage This cross cultural model represents a religious pattern that refers to a family of features for describing those religious entrepreneurs who based on regular Altered State of Consciousness experiences perform a specific set of social functions in their communities This model accounts for the wide spectrum of the data ascribed to Jesus of Nazareth while it offers a coherent framework for constructing the historical Jesus as a social personage embedded in his worldview As a Galilean shamanic figure Jesus typically performed healings and exorcisms he controlled the spirits while he also acted as prophet teacher and mediator of divine knowledge

Kerouac, the Word and the Way Benedict Giomo,2000 Jack Kerouac a ragged priest of the word according to Ben Giomo embarked on a spiritual quest for the ultimate meaning of existence and suffering and the celebration of joy in the meantime For Kerouac the quest was a sustained and creative experiment in literary form Intuitive and innovative Kerouac created prose styles that reflected his search for personal meaning and spiritual intensity These styles varied from an exuberant brand of conventional narrative On the Road The Dharma Bums and Desolation Angels to spontaneous bop prosody Visions of Cody Doctor Sax and The Subterraneans Giomo's primary purpose is to chronicle and clarify Kerouac's various spiritual quests through close examinations of the novels Kerouac began his quest with On the Road which also is Giomo's real starting point To establish early themes spiritual struggles and stylistic shifts however Giomo begins with the first novel Town and Country and ends with Big Sur the final turning point in Kerouac's quest Kerouac was primarily a religious writer bent on testing and celebrating the profane depths and transcendent heights of experience and reporting both truly Baptized and buried a Catholic he was also heavily influenced by Buddhism especially from 1954 until 1957 when he integrated traditional Eastern belief into several novels Catholicism remained an essential force in his writing but his study of Buddhism was serious and not solely in the service of his literary art As he wrote to Malcolm Cowley in 1954 Since I saw you I took up the study of Buddhism and for me it's the word and the way I was looking for Giomo also seeks IT a vital force in the experience of living that takes one by surprise suspending for the moment belief in the real concrete grey everyday of facts of self and selfhood its various meanings paths and oscillations from romantic lyricism to the ragged and ecstatic joy of pure being and from the void pit of the Great World Snake to the joyous pain of amorous love and finally from Catholic Buddhist serenity to the onset of penitential martyrhood
