Agent Mediated Electronic Commerce:

Agent Mediated Electronic Commerce Frank Dignum, 2001-01-30 This book documents the efforts undertaken by the EG AgentLink Special Interest Group on Agent Mediated Electronic Commerce SIG AMEC First and foremost the book presents a roadmap of research and current technological development in the area of agent mediated electronic commerce A particularly interesting part of this roadmap is the joint perspective on future developments The book also contains a number of papers that fill in parts of this roadmap in a European context Some of the papers present significant current R D results while other papers indicate some clear directions for future research The book is structured in topical sections on negotiation markets user preferences and security Agent Mediated Electronic Commerce II Alexandros Moukas, Carles Sierra, Fredrik Ygge, 2000-07-26 The Internet is spawning many new markets and electronic commerce is changing many market conventions Not only are old commercial practices being adapted to the new conditions of immediacy brought forth by the global networks but new products and services as well as new practices are beginning to appear There is already ample evidence that agent based technologies will be crucial for these developments However many theoretical technological sociological and legal aspects will need to be addressed before such opportunities become a significant reality In addition to streamlining traditional transactions agents enable new types of transactions For example the elusive one to one marketing becomes more of a reality when consumer agents capture and share or sell consumer demographics Prices and other transaction dimensions need no longer to be fixed selling agents can dynamically tailor merchant offerings to each consumer Economies of scale become feasible in new markets when agents negotiate on special arbitration contracts Dynamic business relationships will give rise to more competitively agile organizations It is these new opportunities combined with substantial reduction in transaction costs that will revolutionize electronic commerce Agent-Mediated Electronic Commerce III Frank Dignum, Ulises Cortes, 2003-06-29 In this book we present a collection of papers around the topic of Agent Mediated Electronic Commerce Most of the papers originate from the third workshop on Agent Mediated Electronic Commerce held in conjunction with the Autonomous Agents conference in June 2000 After two previous workshops one during the Autonomous Agents conference in 1998 in Minneapolis and the second one in conjunction with the International Joint Conference On Artificial Intelligence in 1999 this workshop continued the tradition of the previous ones by setting the scene for the assessment of the challenges that Agent Mediated Electronic Commerce faces as well as the opportunities it creates By focusing on agent mediated interactions specialists from different disciplines were brought together who contribute theoretical and application perspectives in the narrowly focused topic that nevertheless involves wide ranging concerns such as agent architectures institutionalization economic theory modeling legal frameworks and policy guidelines The main topics for the workshop were Electronic negotiation models for agents Formal issues for agents that operate in electronic market places Virtual trading institutions and platforms Trading strategies for interrelated transactions respectively auctions The workshop received 12

submissions of which 7 were selected for publication in this volume Although the number of submissions was less than expected for an important area like agent mediated electronic commerce there is no reason to worry that this area does not get enough attention from the agent community

Designing Trading Strategies and Mechanisms for Electronic Markets Esther David, Christopher Kiekintveld, Valentin Robu, Onn Shehory, Sebastian Stein, 2013-09-16 This volume contains 11 thoroughly refereed and revised papers detailing recent advances in research on designing trading agents and mechanisms for agent mediated e commerce They were originally presented at the Joint Workshop on Trading Agent Design and Analysis TADA 2012 and Agent Mediated Electronic Commerce AMEC 2012 co located with AAMAS 2012 in Valencia Spain in June 2012 The increasing reliance on software agents has created a range of pressing new research challenges including the design of appropriate agent decision algorithms approaches for predicting the complex behaviors and interactions of multiple agents including the computation of equilibria and the engineering of protocols and mechanisms that ensure electronic markets behave in a stable manner or fulfill other desirable criteria Drawing upon a diverse range of scientific disciplines including computer science economics artificial intelligence operations research and game theory the papers collected in this volume represent a cross section of recent research and cover topics such as strategies for individual trading agents the design of markets and interaction protocols between agents and a variety of applications Agent-Mediated Electronic Commerce V Peyman Faratin, David C. Parkes, Juan A. Rodríguez-Aguilar, William E. Walsh, 2004-10-18 This book constitutes the thoroughly refereed post proceedings of the 5th International Workshop on Agent Mediated Electronic Commerce AMEC 2003 held in Melbourne Australia in July 2003 as part of AAMAS 2003 The 9 revised full papers presented were carefully selected from 22 submissions during two rounds of reviewing and revision The papers are organized in topical sections on automated negotiation systems and mechanism design and multi agent markets Agent Mediated Electronic Commerce Pablo Noriega, Carles Sierra, 2003-06-29 Electronic Commerce as a gamut of activities involving electronic transactions performed over a network via software that may be more or less autonomous is an emerging reality Strategic studies have shown that electronic commerce is a major growth industry The book is devoted to the challenges and opportunities that electronic commerce opens for agent technology For some time electronic commerce has attracted the avid attention of agent builders and agent technology researchers and these have decisively contributed to advancing the state of the art in the field The second generation software agents now entering the scene hold great promise for the further advancement of electronic commerce This book originates from a workshop on Agent Mediated Electronic Trading held at Agents 98 in Minneapolis Minnesota in May 1998 The eleven carefully reviewed and revised papers present a unique survey of software agents in the context of electronic commerce Agent Mediated Electronic Commerce II Alexandros Moukas, Carles Sierra, Fredrik Ygge, 2007-01-01 The Internet is spawning many new markets and electronic commerce is changing many market conventions Not only are old commercial practices being adapted to the new conditions of immediacy brought forth by the global networks but new products and services as well as new practices are beginning to appear There is already ample evidence that agent based technologies will be crucial for these developments. However many theoretical, technological, sociological and legal aspects will need to be addressed before such opportunities become a significant reality. In addition to streamlining traditional transactions, agents enable new types of transactions. For example, the elusive one to one marketing becomes more of a reality when consumer agents capture and share or sell consumer demographics. Prices and other transaction dimensions need no longer to be fixed; selling agents can dynamically tailor merchant offerings to each consumer. Economies of scale become feasible in new markets when agents negotiate on special arbitration contracts. Dynamic business relationships will give rise to more competitively agile organizations. It is these new opportunities combined with substantial reduction in transaction costs that will revolutionize electronic commerce.

Agent Mediated Electronic Commerce Frank Dignum, Carles Sierra, 2003-06-29. It is now no longer necessary to argue the importance of agent technology. Besides numerous conferences and workshops on specific aspects of agent technology, there are also many companies that are exploring its exploitation possibilities. In the light of these developments and in order to foster the transfer of agent technology from research labs to business, the EU has funded a network of excellence devoted to agent technology. This network of excellence, called AgentLink (<http://www.agentlink.org>), aims at bringing together research groups from different countries and industrial developers. The ultimate goal is to create synergy among the different projects and groups to improve the competence of European industry and the excellence of academia. In order to achieve this goal, Agent Link organises educational activities, summer schools, builds agent related literature repositories and facilitates collaboration between member nodes. One of the main activities related to the last point are the regular meetings of Special Interest Groups (SIGs). At this moment, six SIGs are functioning, focusing on topics ranging from agent based social simulation to intelligent agents for telecommunications applications and telematics. The current book combines two results from the activities of the SIG on Agent Mediated Electronic Commerce. This SIG gathers the main research groups and industrial partners interested in the use of agent technology in electronic commerce. First and foremost, the book contains a roadmap of research and current technological developments in the area of agent mediated electronic commerce.

Agent Mediated Electronic Commerce Pablo Noriega, Carles Sierra, 1999-04-28. Electronic Commerce as a gamut of activities involving electronic transactions performed over a network via software that may be more or less autonomous, is an emerging reality. Strategic studies have shown that electronic commerce is a major growth industry. The book is devoted to the challenges and opportunities that electronic commerce opens for agent technology. For some time, electronic commerce has attracted the avid attention of agent builders and agent technology researchers and these have decisively contributed to advancing the state of the art in the field. The second generation software agents now entering the scene hold great promise for the further advancement of electronic commerce. This book originates from a workshop on Agent Mediated Electronic Trading held at Agents 98 in Minneapolis, Minnesota, in May 1998. The eleven carefully reviewed and revised papers present a unique survey of software agents in the context of electronic commerce.
