Sandra Torres

Aging And Old Age:

Aging and Old Age Richard A. Posner, 1995 Observing that people change both physically and cognitively as they age Posner suggests that each of us has in succession two separate selves younger and older with different abilities interests and behaviors an insight that helps clarify a number of issues concerning the elderly Old Age and Agency Emmanuelle Tulle, 2004 This book is about rethinking the ways in which we make sense of social action or agency in later life The contributions in this collection challenge traditional academic approaches to the study of later life which arguably often deny older people agency Social gerontology and the wider society should be more reflexive and rather than contribute to the continued marginalisation of older people should draw attention to the extent to which the latter's actions may be understood within the set of normalising discourses which people have to manage and negotiate as they get old The purpose of this collection is to continue this process by providing philosophical theoretical conceptual and empirical direction for a reflexive social gerontology This book argues that the management of later life has become complex caught as it is within a broad discourse which continues to construct old age as a time of decline and dependency but has shifted the burden of responsibility for the avoidance of decline on individuals Ageing Well Ann Bowling, 2005 What is quality of life What is quality of life in older age How can quality of life in older age be improved This book explores concepts of quality of life in older age in the theoretical literature and presents the views of a national sample of people aged sixty five years or older It offers a broad overview of the quality of life experienced by older people in Britain using a number of wide ranging indicators including health hobbies and interests home and neighbourhood income independence psychological wellbeing and social and family relationships The result is a fascinating book enlivened by rich data both quantitative and qualitative drawn from detailed surveys and interviews with almost a thousand older people Ageing Well is key reading for students academics practitioners and policy makers who are concerned with the research and practice that will help to improve quality of life for older people Old Age In Europe Kathrin Komp, Marja Aartsen, 2013-01-24 Europe currently is the oldest continent in the world and its population is still ageing This demographic shift affects society economy and welfare states Scholars from various disciplines and the public noted this development and wonder what effects it may have but lack adequate information They call for explanations that are concise and easily accessible The book at hand fills this lacuna It introduces readers to the most important developments theories concepts and discussions in ageing studies always keeping an eye on the current situation in Europe Each chapter adopts the perspective of a different discipline e.g. public health sociology economics or technology To make the explanations easy to understand the book includes learning tools such as learning objectives multiple choice questions and a glossary Aging and Old Age Sheila C. McKenzie, 1980 Cultural Perspectives on Aging Andrea Hülsen-Esch, 2021-11-22 Current demographic developments and change due to long life expectancies low birth rates changing family structures and economic and political crises causing migration and flight are having a significant impact on intergenerational relationships the social welfare system the job market and what elderly people can expect from their retirement and environment The socio political relevance of the categories of age and ageing have been increasing and gaining much attention within different scholarly fields However none of the efforts to identify age related diseases or the processes of ageing in order to develop suitable strategies for prevention and therapy have had any effect on the fact that attitudes against the elderly are based on patterns that are determined by parameters that are or not biological or sociological ageing is also a cultural fact This book reveals the importance of cultural factors in order to build a framework for analyzing and understanding cultural constructions of ageing bringing together scholarly discourses from the arts and humanities as well as social medical and psychological fields of study The contributions pave the way for new strategies of caring for elderly people

Old Age in Modern Society Christina R. Victor, 2013-11-11 Old age is a part of the lifecycle about which there are numerous myths and stereotypes To present an overstatement of commonly held beliefs the old are portrayed as dependent individuals characterized by a lack of social autonomy unloved and neglected by both their immediate family and friends and posing a threat to the living standards of younger age groups by being a burden that consumes without producing Older people are perceived as a single homogeneous group and the experience of ageing characterized as being the same for all individuals irrespective of the diversity of their circumstances before the onset of old age In this book detailed statistical material is used to portray the circumstances of older people in modern society in an attempt to evaluate the appropriateness or otherwise of the major stereotypes of later life This volume does not address ageing from a psychological or micro social perspective In particular we do not explore major issues relating to old age Rather we feel that from the extensive collection of surveys concerned with the elderly we can provide a context within which individual elderly people can be studied from more anthropological or biographical perspectives

The Aging Experience Jennie Keith, Christine L. Fry, Anthony P. Glascock, Charlotte Ikels, Jeanette Dickerson-Putman, Henry C. Harpending, Patricia Draper, 1994-09-22 In an attempt to understand the meaning of ageing and the treatment of the aged in different cultures seven anthropologists have made studies of 10 communities on four continents the results of which are presented in this book The authors use both qualitative and statistical data to examine such issues as health and well being perceptions of the life course material resources and functionality of elders A unique resource The Aging Experience provides a detailed comparative analysis of ageing worldwide

Aging and Human Nature Mark Schweda, Michael Coors, Claudia Bozzaro, 2020-01-11 This book focuses on ageing as a topic of philosophical theological and historical anthropology It provides a systematic inventory of fundamental theoretical questions and assumptions involved in the discussion of ageing and old age What does it mean for human beings to grow old and become more vulnerable and dependent How can we understand the manifestations of ageing and old age in the human body How should we interpret the processes of change in the temporal course of a human life What impact does old age have on the social dimensions of human existence In order to tackle these questions the volume brings together internationally distinguished scholars from the fields of philosophy theology cultural studies social gerontology and ageing studies The collection of their original articles makes a twofold contribution to contemporary academic discourse On one hand it helps to clarify and deepen our understanding of ageing and old age by examining it from the fundamental point of view of philosophical theological and historical anthropology At the same time it also enhances and expands the discourses of philosophical theological and historical anthropology by systematically taking into account that human beings are essentially ageing creatures

Aging in multiple sclerosis: from childhood to old age, in women and men Alessandra Lugaresi, Kristen Marie Krysko, Vilija Jokubaitis, 2024-02-21 In recent years attention has been drawn on changes in multiple sclerosis MS prevalence according to sex and age We are now aware that MS is not a disease with onset exclusively in the young adult but that pediatric cases are not infrequent as well as onset in older adults The need to assess the role of aging sexual hormones diet and infections has boosted research in many areas from immunology to imaging techniques to psychology An increasing awareness of the impact of MS on personal and sexual relationships with the need to assess patient related outcomes also in clinical trials has driven research not only in psychology but in many other areas The need to integrate information from all these different research areas is deeply felt

Preparation for Aging E. Heikkinen, J. Kuusinen, I. Ruoppila, 2012-12-06 Full of valuable definitions descriptions discussion and succinct summaries the volume forms an interesting up to date reservoir of information on preparation for aging As a source of specific insights and alternative perspectives it is a welcome addition to the literature Aging and Society

Old Age in Global Perspective Steven Mark Albert, Maria G. Cattell, 1994 Old Age in Global Perspective examines old age around the world by drawing on data from two major sources ethnographic anthropological field research and cross national surveys The authors use biologic demographic and sociocultural approaches to amplify our understanding of variations in individuals experiences of aging and old age in the modern context of aging populations Elders living arrangements intergenerational experiences social relationships and progression through the life course are extensively discussed as are the effects of modernization on late life Conclusions are formulated as brief summary discussions by topic and twenty three specific hypotheses are suggested for future research This volume will be a valuable reference for professionals and advanced students in anthropology sociology and gerontology

Old Age on the New Scene Robert Kastenbaum, 1981

Ethnicity and Old Age Sandra Torres, 2020-09-16 Winner of the Richard Kalish Innovative Publication Award 2021 Part of the Ageing in a Global Context series this book proposes a new research agenda for scholarship that focuses on ethnicity race and old age It argues that in a time of increased international migration population ageing and ethno cultural diversity scholarly imagination must be expanded as current research frameworks are becoming obsolete By bringing attention to the way that ethnicity and race have been addressed in research on ageing and old age with a focus on health inequalities health and social care

intergenerational relationships and caregiving the book proposes how research can be developed in an ethnicity astute and diversity informed manner

New Dynamics in Old Age Hans-Werner Wahl, Clemens Tesch-Romer, Dr. Andreas Hoff, Jon Hendricks, 2017-07-05 This book was nurtured by the belief that the new dynamics of today's and tomorrow's aging has not yet been treated well in the gerontology literature Several questions drove the choice of substance for the book What kind of new dynamics of aging deserves consideration What kinds of theories and fields are at the core of treating such a new dynamics And what kind of empirical evidence should be considered The master hypothesis on which the book is based maintains that the new dynamics of old age is best observed in a range of everyday aging contexts that have been undergoing major change since the second half of the 20th century In particular five areas of new and persistent dynamics are treated in depth the social environment with a focus on cohort effects in social relations and the consideration of family relations and elders as care redelivers the home environment with emphasis on housing and quality of life relocation and urban aging issues the outdoor environment with consideration of out of home activity patterns car driving behaviour and the leisure world of aging the technological environment with treatments of the role of the Internet and the potential of technology for aging outcomes and the societal environment with a focus on global aging the new politics of old age and older persons as market consumers The book's main purpose is to provide the scholarly gerontology community with a comprehensive and critical discussion of these new trends related to old age The book will be of interest for the scholarly community of gerontology in a variety of disciplines sociology psychology demography epidemiology humanities social policy and geriatrics students in gerontology education and in the disciplines named above who have an interest in aging issues graduate level professionals in practical and applied fields related to aging such as community and urban planners health and care providers and policymakers people involved in senior citizens organizations and those in industry who wish to serve older people with new products

New Perspectives on Old Age Hans Thoma, George L. Maddox, 1982

Physiological Basis of Aging and Geriatrics Paola S. Timiras, 2007-08-16 Extensively revised and updated to reflect the current state of knowledge in the study of aging this Fourth Edition offers a complete profile of the aging process at all levels from molecules and cells to demography and evolution Written by international experts in current basic and clinical aging research this text includes aspects of individual comparative and differential aging and discussions of theories and mechanisms of aging This invaluable reference illustrates how bodily systems organs and functions are affected with aging describes how genetic and environmental factors influence age related changes and addresses some of the clinical consequences of these changes for health and longevity Well illustrated with numerous tables and graphs this book presents up to date information from internationally renowned experts in various bio medical fields

Public Health and Aging Steven Mark Albert, Vicki A. Freedman, PhD, 2010 Print CourseSmart

Differences in attitudes between younger and older people toward old age. Implications for counselling Tak Ming Yu, 2014-11-17 Master's Thesis from the year 2006 in the subject Sociology Old Age

grade Distinction course Master of Social Science in Counselling language English abstract The main purpose of this study was to examine the general public's perception on older people Based on this theme five research questions were identified 1 What are the attitudes of younger and older people toward elderly 2 Are older people's attitudes toward themselves being influenced by prevailing ageism views 3 What are the predictors of ageism 4 Do the interaction between younger and older people influence the attitudes toward older people and 5 What are the implications of the above research findings toward older people for counselling Based on these questions five hypotheses were developed No significant difference was found between the attitudes of younger and older people toward the latter In terms of concept and image about older people older people tend to see themselves more negative than younger people People with higher educational levels younger age and religion tend to score a higher value of FAQ than people with lower educational levels older age and non religious People with higher educational levels younger age and religion tend to form more positive image toward older people than people with low lower educational levels older age and non religious People with more interaction with older adults tend to have higher scores on FAQ Basically all the hypotheses were rejected but this study did make several contributions to the study of ageism in Hong Kong First this study found that attitudes of younger students toward older adults were more negative than older people Students attitudes toward older people were dominated by negative ageism views and image whereas older people's attitudes toward older adults were mixed with both negative and positive ageism views It was suggested in this study attitudes of people toward older adults have to be analyzed from three perspectives namely ageism image about older people and attitudes toward caring in order to generate more precise pictures about ageism Finally the study suggested that education intergenerational activities and positive ageing programs could be used to reduce ageism in our societies A

History of Old Age Pat Thane, 2005 Seven contributors examine how the best thinkers and artists of each historical epoch in the West have treated old age Full of surprising and fascinating facts this is an uplifting companion for those who like it or not are beginning to understand the inevitability of their own aging process
