Aging in a Changing Society Zena Smith Blau, 1981 Aging in a Changing World Molly George, 2021-10-15 This is a story about aging in place in a world of global movement Around the world many older people have stayed still but have been profoundly impacted by the movement of others Without migrating themselves many older people now live in a far different country than the one of their memories Recently the Brexit vote and the 2016 election of Trump have re enforced prevalent stereotypes of the racist older person This book challenges simplified images of the old as racist nostalgic and resistant to change by taking a deeper more nuanced look at older people s complex relationship with the diversity and multiculturalism that has grown and developed around them Aging in a Changing World takes a look at how some older people in New Zealand have been responding to and interacting with the new multiculturalism they now encounter in their daily lives Through their unhurried micro daily interactions with immigrants they quietly emerge as agents of the very social change they are assumed to oppose Middle Age and Aging Bernice L. Consumption and Aging Populations Shigeru Matsumoto,2025-02-21 This book explores the impact of population aging on energy use patterns in society from both a theoretical and an empirical angle with a specific focus on Japan and Spain Many developed countries are currently experiencing both population aging and population decline while the demand for social services such as health care and public transportation is expected to increase This book expands upon these well known socioeconomic challenges and explores the less well known and more complex relationship between population aging time allocation to social practices and energy resource consumption In the face of energy supply scarcity and climate change concerns the impact of population aging on energy consumption is of paramount importance By focusing on the effects of changing time allocation patterns on social practices the book shows that the impact of population aging on energy consumption will affect not just only affect the residential sector but also other socio economic sectors of society Using data from Japan and Spain currently among the fastest aging countries in the world the volume shows that the challenges of an aging society are far more complex and worrying than previously anticipated If an aging society is an inevitable future we need to prepare for the challenges that lie ahead Written by researchers in the fields of demography economics environmental engineering geography physics and transportation engineering this book will compel academics and policy makers to reflect on these problems and act
