John O.S. Kennedy

Agricultural Project Management Monitoring And Control Of Implementation:

Agricultural Project Management Peter Smith, 2012-12-06 I first became interested in the methods of planning the sequence and timing of jobs on large scale development projects as a field officer involved in planning and implementing mechanised farming schemes in Uganda in the mid sixties This interest was reinforced by experience of agro industrial projects in both Nigeria and Iran when it became obvious that the lax traditional methods of both planning and controlling the implementation of agricultural and other rural development projects were very ineffective compared with those already in use in other disciplines An extended spell as Resident Adviser on a World Bank project to strengthen planning and project management services in the agricultural sector in Sind Province Pakistan stimulated this interest further and gave opportunities to develop the use of improved methods on some very complex schemes This book summarises the experience gained in adapting critical path methods well established in other fields to Third World development projects with their peculiar problems It would not have been possible to reach this point without the help and stimulation of discussions with a large number of colleagues including John Joyce then of Hunting Technical Services Hatsuya Azumi World Bank and particularly Zaffar Sohrwardy and Akhtar Ali of Aarkays Associates in Karachi during our work together My thanks are also due to Yasin Mohammed who typed most of the original draft Anwar Mohammed and Irene Mills for final typing and to my wife Jill for drawing the original figures

Kennedy, 2012-12-06 Humans interact with and are part of the mysterious processes of nature Inevitably they have to discover how to manage the environment for their long term survival and benefit To do this successfully means learning something about the dynamics of natural processes and then using the knowledge to work with the forces of nature for some desired outcome These are intriguing and challenging tasks This book describes a technique which has much to offer in attempting to achieve the latter task A knowledge of dynamic programming is useful for anyone interested in the optimal management of agricultural and natural resources for two reasons First resource management problems are often problems of dynamic optimization The dynamic programming approach offers insights into the economics of dynamic optimization which can be explained much more simply than can other approaches Conditions for the optimal management of a resource can be derived using the logic of dynamic programming taking as a starting point the usual economic definition of the value of a resource which is optimally managed through time This is set out in Chapter I for a general resource problem with the minimum of mathematics The results are related to the discrete maximum principle of control theory In subsequent chapters dynamic programming arguments are used to derive optimality conditions for particular resources Bibliographies and Literature of Agriculture ,1986 Near East Readings on Agricultural Investments Projects ,1979-01-01 The Indian Journal of Agricultural Economics ,1985 Vols include Proceedings of the conference of the Indian Society of Agricultural Economics Project Design for Agricultural Development N.
