Aid And Liberation A Socialist Study Of Aid Policies:

Aid and Liberation Judith Hart, 1973 Foreign Aid in a Changing World Peter Burnell, 1997-09-16 An accessible introduction for all social science students A balanced comprehensive and up to date treatment of the issues and trends A guide to the past present and future of foreign aid Foreign aid has undergone considerable changes over the past fifty years Foreign Aid in a Changing World explores the changes and locates them in a context of wider economic and political developments These are the developments affecting all countries in North South East and West and in particular the changing relations among them The book analyses the different reasons why some countries both in the developing world and former communist states seem to need assistance It critically surveys the values based and interests based arguments in favour of aid and its many forms encompasses the important non governmental and multilateral dimensions as well as the bilateral flows at national and sub national levels and focuses particularly on the contemporary emphasis on making aid dependent on democratization and good government Peter Burnell examines the principal influences on foreign aid what makes aid controversial and whether it has a future He provides an important text for all students of international relations and development studies across the social science disciplines The African Charter on Human and Peoples' Rights Volume 2 Nat Rubner, 2023 Landmark study of the African Charter on Human and Peoples Rights Documents on one side the international community's inability to foist a human rights system upon Africa and on the other the process within the OAU now African Union that eventually brought it into being and determined its content The African Charter on Human and Peoples Rights ACHPR which was proposed in 1979 adopted in 1981 and came into effect in 1986 was the first non Western declaration of human rights and the first official statement of an African human rights perspective With Africa largely absent in 1948 when the Universal Declaration of Human Rights UDHR was adopted it stands in stark historical reproach to the Western conception of universal human rights as a pivotal document in the decolonisation of the continent This book for the first time presents a comprehensive account of the development of the ACHPR which is key to a proper understanding of its fundamental nature Through documenting its process of construction it becomes possible to understand how Africans themselves understood the process and the issues involved and how the ACHPR became a political text asserted by African leaders and not a continuum of a so called universal human rights tradition The result is a radical repositioning of the underlying context of the ACHPR one of the most important documents in modern African history of how it came to be and how it should therefore be understood Volume 2 describes the process through which the ACHPR came into being Analysing the role of Western governments the UN and NGOs it shows that contrary to the prevailing view of African human rights commentators their influence was limited and at times counter productive That in fact the formulation of the ACHPR was a profoundly political process that was primarily a product of an African desire to instigate its own human rights perspective as a counter to the human rights universalism advanced by the Western post war human rights tradition Britain's
