century which are as inevitable as they are difficult to predict Military Innovation in the Interwar Period Williamson R. Murray, Allan R. Millett, 1998-08-13 In 1914 the armies and navies that faced each other were alike right down to the strengths of their companies and battalions and the designs of their battleships and cruisers Differences were of degree rather than essence During the interwar period however the armed forces grew increasingly asymmetrical developing different approaches to the same problems This study of major military innovations in the 1920s and 1930s explores differences in exploitation by the seven major military powers The comparative essays investigate how and why innovation occurred or did not occur and explain much of the strategic and operative performance of the Axis and Allies in World War II The essays focus on several instances of how military services developed new technology and weapons and incorporated them into their doctrine organization and styles of operations United States Army in World War II. ,1954

Parameters ,1997 United States Army in World War II.: The organization and role of the Army Service Forces ,1954 Register of the University of California University of California (1868-1952),1949 MacArthur's Airman Thomas E. Griffith,1998 Thomas Griffith offers a critical assessment of George C Kenney s numerous contributions to MacArthur s war efforts He depicts Kenney as a staunch proponent of airpower s ability to shape the outcome of military engagement and a commander who shared MacArthur s strategic vision Winning the Next War Stephen Peter Rosen,1991 Rosen argues that armies and navies are not forever doomed to fight the last war Rather they are able to respond to shifts in the international strategic situation Congressional Record United States. Congress,1952 The Congressional Record is the official record of the proceedings and debates of the United States Congress It is published daily when Congress is in session The Congressional Record began publication in 1873 Debates for sessions prior to 1873 are recorded in The Debates and Proceedings in the Congress of the United States 1789 1824 the Register of Debates in Congress 1824 1837 and the Congressional Globe 1833 1873 Resource manager's handbook for public affairs ,1985

Blind Landings Erik M. Conway,2006-11-04 When darkness falls storms rage fog settles or lights fail pilots are forced to make instrument landings relying on technology and training to guide them through typically the most dangerous part of any flight In this original study Erik M Conway recounts one of the most important stories in aviation history the evolution of aircraft landing aids that make landing safe and routine in almost all weather conditions Discussing technologies such as the Loth leader cable system the American National Bureau of Standards system and its descendants the Instrument Landing System the MIT Army Sperry Gyroscope microwave blind landing system and the MIT Radiation Lab s radar based Ground Controlled Approach system Conway interweaves technological change training innovation and pilots experiences to examine the evolution of blind landing technologies He shows how systems originally intended to produce routine all weather blind landings gradually developed into routine instrument guided approaches Even so after two decades of development and experience pilots still did not want to place the most critical phase of flight the landing entirely in technology s invisible hand

By the end of World War II the very concept of landing blind therefore had disappeared from the trade literature a victim of human limitations Black American Military Leaders Walter L. Hawkins, 2016-04-27 This book is a revision with greatly expanded inclusion criteria of the 1993 African American Generals and Flag Officers Biographies of Over 120 Blacks in the United States Military It offers detailed career oriented summaries for men and women who often overcame societal obstacles to become ranking members of the armed forces Persons from all branches are now included Army Navy Air Force and Marine Corps as well as the National Guard and Reserves Flying Magazine , 1954-10
