

An aerial photograph of a rural landscape. The terrain is characterized by large, irregular patches of reddish-brown soil, likely from erosion or specific soil types. These are interspersed with areas of green, which appear to be agricultural fields or pastures. Some small, dark structures, possibly houses or farm buildings, are visible in the lower-left and upper-right corners. The overall scene suggests a developing agricultural region.

Agrarian Relation In Transition:

Agrarian Relation, Institutional Change, and Colonial Legacy Binoy Nath Verma, 1994 Agrarian Relations in Late Medieval Malabar M. T. Narayanan, 2003 To understand how colonialism redraws the equations of the colonized societies a thorough analysis of the latter in the immediate precolonial period is required There are few attempts on that line elsewhere in India but Malabar remained excluded The present study is an attempt to analyse theoretically and empirically the agrarian relations in Malabar during the late medieval period Migration, Agrarian Transition, and Rural Change in Southeast Asia Philip F. Kelly, 2013-10-18 Rural life in Southeast Asia is being transformed by new and intensifying processes of migration and mobility Migration out of rural areas creates new forms of class mobility familial relations production processes and income Migration into rural areas creates a new and sometimes marginalized workforce contestation over resource access and the juxtaposition of culturally different groups At the same time everyday mobility stretches the spatial boundaries of village and family life The bounded space of the village is no longer adequate to understand the dynamics that are driving and resulting from rural social change This collection of original studies explores the cultural economic and environmental dimensions of intensifying migration and mobility in rural Southeast Asia at multiple scales Diverse processes are explored including rural urban flows rural rural movement everyday mobilities and international migrations into regional and global labour markets Drawing on fieldwork in six countries across the region these essays also explore what migration means for our understanding of class citizenship gender and the state in a rapidly changing part of the world This book was based on two parts of a special issue of Critical Asian Studies The Agrarian Question in Socialist Transitions Ashwani Saith, 2013-10-28 First published in 1986 This collection of eight essays begins with a piece that constructs a preliminary argument concerning the position of the peasantry in the twin transitions the first to industrialisation and the second towards socialism In the poor developing country launching upon both simultaneously the agrarian question bifurcates into two dichotomous sets of issues African Land Questions, Agrarian Transitions and the State Sam Moyo, 2008 This empirically grounded study provides a critical reflection on the land question in Africa research on which tends to be tangential conceptually loose and generally inadequate It argues that the most pressing research concern must be to understand the precise nature of the African land question its land reforms and their effects on development To unravel the roots of land conflicts in Africa requires thorough understanding of the complex social and political contradictions which have ensued from colonial and post colonial land policies as well as from Africa's development and capital accumulation trajectories especially with regard to the land rights of the continent's poor The study thus questions the capacity of emerging neo liberal economic and political regimes in Africa to deliver land reforms which address growing inequality and poverty It equally questions the understanding of the nature of popular demands for land reforms by African states and their ability to address these demands under the current global political and economic structures dictated by neo liberalism and its narrow regime of ownership The study invites scholars and policy makers to creatively draw on the specific historical trajectories and contemporary expression of the land and agrarian questions in Africa to enrich both theory and practice on land in Africa

Reconfigured Agrarian Relations in Zimbabwe Shonhe, Toendepi, 2017-12-16 Radical land reform programmes generate changes in agrarian structures and capital accumulation trajectories in the countryside This book examines how capital accumulation is being reshaped by changing financing and marketing of agricultural commodities and presents an emerging Quadi PMMR model agrarian structure composed of the poor middle middle to rich peasants and some rich capitalists with a growing middle scale farmer base constituting two thirds of the rural population in Zimbabwe This evidence based assessment 15 years after the FTLRP sheds light on policy outcomes and impacts on communities revealing the changing production marketing capital accumulation and class formation tendencies across Zimbabwe s settlement models and agro ecological settings The book fuses the reliance on agrarian political economy lenses and factor component analysis to reveal the dynamics of agrarian change and to explore the dialectic between production and circulation and between the centre and periphery in exceptional fashion that expands our understanding of Zimbabwe s agrarian transition

Agrarian Relation in Transition Series Binoy Nath Verma, 1994 Agrarian Relation in Transition Series: Agrarian tension and conflict Binoy Nath Verma, 1994 Crisis and Conflict in Agriculture Rami Zurayk, Eckart Woertz, Rachel Bahn, 2018-09-18 This volume sets out to explore the dialectic relating agriculture crisis and conflict and attempts to expand the knowledge on these interactions Part 1 of the volume chapters 1 6 discusses thematic issues and methodological approaches to understanding the intersection of agriculture crisis and conflict Part 2 chapters 7 20 provides case studies that take a detailed approach to understanding agricultural contexts facing crisis and conflict or the role played by agriculture within crisis and conflict Studies are selected from areas that might be expected to feature in such a volume the Middle East and North Africa sub Saharan Africa South and Southeast Asia and Latin America as well as less obvious regions where conflict within agriculture refers not to widespread violence or wars but rather latent or simmering crisis Central Asia and Europe Crises stemming from politically driven violence natural disasters and climate change are covered as well as competition over resources

Agrarian Relations in Transition P. K. Das, 2001 Land and Livelihoods in Neoliberal India Deepak K. Mishra, Pradeep Nayak, 2020-05-28 The book discusses important developments emerging around the land questions in India in the context of India s neoliberal economic development and its changing political economy It covers many issues that have been impinging the political economy in land and livelihoods in India since the 1990s examining the land question from diverse methodological standpoints Most of the chapters rely on evidence generated through primary surveys in different parts of the country The book via its diversity of approaches and methodologies brings out new and hitherto unexplored and or less researched issues on the emerging land question in India The range of issues addressed in the volume encompasses the contemporary developments in the political economy of land land dispossession SEZs agrarian changes urbanisation and the drive for the commodification of land across India The authors also examine role of the state in promoting the capitalist transformation in India and continuities and changes emerging in the context of land liberalisation and market friendly economic reforms Social Structure and Rural Development in the Third World Guy Berger,1992-10-22 An analysis of the relationship between Third World farmers and the international economy Evolution of Agrarian Relations in India Bhowani Sen,1962 The Labor of Development Patrick Heller,2018-10-18 The state of Kerala in southern India is notable for the ways in which lower class mobilization and state intervention have combined to create one of the most successful cases of social and redistributive development in the Third World In contrast to predictions that labor militancy in developing countries threatens to overload fledgling democratic institutions and derail economic growth The Labor of Development shows that the political and economic inclusion of industrial and agricultural workers in Kerala set the stage for a democratically negotiated capitalist transformation When compared to the other Indian states Kerala s departure from the national pattern is tied to its history of social movements and highlights the significance of understanding sub national patterns of democratic consolidation and state building The case of Kerala provides important theoretical insights into the circumstances under which the expansion of political and social citizenship can become the basis for managing economic change Using examples from agriculture industry and the informal sector Patrick Heller examines the institutional and political dynamics through which the demands of organized labor and the imperatives of capitalist growth have evolved from a period of open conflict and stagnation to one of class compromise He also demonstrates that the Kerala model has broad ramifications for understanding the relationship between substantive democracy and market economies in low income countries Local Knowledge and Agricultural Decision Making in the Philippines Virginia Dimasuay Nazarea, Virginia D. Nazarea-Sandoval,1995 The political ecology of colonial capitalism Bikrum Gill,2024-11-05 This book situates the post financial crisis phenomenon of the global land grab within the longue duree of the capitalist world system It does so by advancing a theoretical and historical framework called the political ecology of colonial capitalism that clarifies the key role played by the co production of race and nature in provisioning the ecological surplus that has historically secured the emergence and reproduction of capitalist development The key premise of this book is that the global land grab constitutes another such attempted moment of re securing the cheap food premise through racialized frontier appropriation The argument advanced here is that within the neoliberal crisis conjuncture the hegemonic resolution of capital s escalating social ecological contradictions necessitates through the practice of global primitive accumulation the racialized construction of frontiers of unused nature in emergent zones of appropriation Agrarian Modernity and Development in India Shibsankar Jena,2023-11-21 The social science discourse on the power of modernity and its everyday negotiation with tradition and locality in India has been a matter of continuous debate and discussion among academicians since the colonial era By taking agriculture as a special field of investigation this book describes the condition of modernity in the agrarian social system of contemporary India Farming is not only an economic activity but also a personality formation where status plays a significant role in Indian society Taking culture and social status as the two important variables in the local agriculture as performance this book develops a sociology of knowledge approach towards agrarian modernity and development in postcolonial India

Peasants, Capitalism, and Imperialism in an Age of Politico-Ecological Crisis Mark Tilzey, Fraser Sugden, 2023-09-27 This book utilises a new theoretical approach to understand the dynamics of the peasantry and peasant resistance in relation to capitalism state class and imperialism in the global South In this companion volume to Peasants Capitalism and the Work of Eric R Wolf the authors further develop their thinking on agrarian transitions to capitalism the development of imperialism and the place of the peasantry in these dynamics with special reference to the global South in an era of politico ecological crisis Focusing on the political role of the peasantry in contested transitions to capitalism and to modes of production outside of and beyond capitalism the book contends that an understanding of these dynamics requires an analysis of class struggle and of the resources material and discursive that different classes can bring to bear on this struggle The book focuses on the rise of capitalism in the global South within the context of imperial subordination to the global North and the place of the peasantry in shaping and resisting these dynamics The book presents case studies of contested transitions to agrarian capitalism in Bolivia Ecuador Guatemala Mexico Peru and South Asia It also examines the case of transition to a post capitalist mode of production in Cuba The book concludes with an assessment of the nature of capitalism and imperialism within the context of the contemporary politico ecological crisis and the potential role of the peasantry as agent of emancipatory change towards social and environmental sustainability This book will be of great interest to students and researchers in the areas of peasant studies rural politics agrarian studies development and political ecology

Socioecological Transitions and Global Change Marina Fischer-Kowalski, Helmut Haberl, 2007-01-01 Unlike so many books that analyze material and energy flows in society and the developments therein this is one of the few that link such information to developments in social organization and that discusses how limits in one sphere influence the other and in reverse Arnold Tukker Journal of Industrial Ecology This book is a neat summary of the main research developments achieved by the editors and their colleagues at the Institute of Social Ecology at Klagenfurt University in Vienna and represents an interesting and important landmark in the social metabolism approach to sustainable development The book is arranged over eight chapters each of which can stand alone as an interesting paper with a specific focus though several chapters are complimentary The various chapters are largely written in an interesting and engaging style and the material covered is well presented so that the largely social science content should be easily assimilated by a wide general readership The book is well laid out Any ecologists interested in flows of energy and materials within changing agrarian and industrial landscapes would be well served by reading this approachable text Robert A Francis Landscape Ecology In an important contribution to sustainability science Fischer Kowalski and Haberl extend the frontiers of contemporary socio ecological research to articulate a theory of material energy and land use transitions across multiple scales based on detailed empirical studies in Europe and Asia. The insights it presents on agrarian industrial transitions are crucial to understand the potential impact of emerging nations like India and China on global change. Aromar Revi, India China Institute, The New School University, US. This volume represents the culmination of several years of empirical research and refinement of the social metabolism approach. That approach is one of the most exciting and illuminating innovations in the fields of human ecology, industrial ecology, and environmental history. Here the team from Vienna's Institute of Social Ecology shows masterfully how the insights of social metabolism shed light on transitions to high energy society in Austria, in Britain, and in the world at large. J. R. McNeill, Georgetown University, US. This significant new book analyses fundamental changes in society, nature, interaction, the socioeconomic use of materials, energy, and land. The volume presents a number of case studies addressing transitions from an agrarian to an industrial socioecological regime, analysed within the materials and energy flow accounting MEFA framework. It is argued that by concentrating on the biophysical dimensions of change in the course of industrialization, social development issues can be explicitly linked to changes in the natural environment. From the historical transition in Europe to current transitions in developing countries, the book offers a broad and comprehensive analysis of transition processes across scales from local to national. The comparison of historical and current assessments allows a theory of the underlying patterns of the agrarian industrial transition to emerge. On this basis, future trends and possible pathways towards or indeed further departures from sustainability are discussed. Empirical in character and cautious in its assumptions, this insightful book provides rich and in-depth material for further studies in socioecological research. It will be essential reading for students and researchers of ecological economics, industrial ecology, human ecology, environmental sociology, environmental history, geography, as well as land, energy, and development studies.

Global Handbook of Inequality Surinder S. Jodhka, Boike Rehbein, 2024-11-19. This handbook provides the most up-to-date and comprehensive review of the literature on inequality. It provides comprehensive overviews of the main theoretical traditions, concepts, dimensions, methodologies, and contemporary debates around inequality, as well as outlines of the situation of inequality in the world regions. Each entry covers the most relevant literature on the respective topic and gives an introduction to the key discussions. This authoritative reference work includes contributions from established and upcoming scholars based all over the world and is truly global in perspective. It serves as a first introduction to the study of a particular field or issue related to inequality. The distinctive aspect of this handbook is its emphasis on the lived realities of inequality, its relational and cultural aspects, as well as the economic and quantitative aspects. This is a must-read reference volume for students, researchers, and professionals interested in this topic across the spectrum of the social sciences.
