Revolution in China Kay Ann Johnson,2009-02-15 Kay Ann Johnson provides much needed information about women and gender equality under Communist leadership She contends that although the Chinese Communist Party has always ostensibly favored women s rights and family reform it has rarely pushed for such reforms In reality its policies often have reinforced the traditional role of women to further the Party s predominant economic and military aims Johnson s primary focus is on reforms of marriage and family because traditional marriage family and kinship practices have had the greatest influence in defining and shaping women s place in Chinese society Conversant with current theory in political science anthropology and Marxist and feminist analysis Johnson writes with clarity and discernment free of dogma Her discussions of family reform ultimately provide insights into the Chinese government s concern with decreasing the national birth rate which has become a top priority Johnson s predictions of a coming crisis in population control are borne out by the recent increase in female infanticide and the government abortion campaign
