New Challenges for the Eurozone Governance José Caetano, Isabel Vieira, António Caleiro, 2021-02-22 This book adopts a comprehensive approach combining the views of economists and political scientists to assess the threats of maintaining the non collaborative stance that prevailed in the response to past crises and to explore new solutions to the present emergency The coronavirus pandemic represents a serious test for the continued existence of the European Monetary Union It has worsened pre existing divisions among its members and highlighted the urgent need to address institutional and governance problems that were already apparent in the aftermath of the financial crisis and sovereign debt crisis but have now gained in relevance following the more widespread impact of the disease across the European Union This book discusses concrete strategies to overcome the current challenges focusing on the need to build an effective economic and monetary union It also reflects on ways of pursuing conformity with discipline and coordination rules while also adopting a more collaborative stance that has so far been absent in the Eurozone and has consistently undermined the political and social dimensions of the common currency project

The Cultural Politics of Markets Katharine N. Rankin, 2004-01-01 In a neoliberal era when the ideology of the free market governs community development as much as international trade a conflict between capital and tradition is inevitable Issues such as the value ascribed to honour and social prestige are difficult to negotiate with economic opportunity Using the example of a traditional Nepalese market town Katharine Neilson Rankin explores how economic liberalization has blended with local cultures of value Utilizing the ethnographic method of anthropology and the comparative and normative thrust of geography Rankin undertakes a critique of neoliberal approaches to development She demonstrates how market led development does not expand opportunity but rather deepens existing injustice and inequality which is further exacerbated by planners eager to implement market led approaches relying on naively idealistic notions of social capital to expand poor people's access to the market

The Cultural Politics of Markets Katharine Neilson Rankin, 2004-04-20 International markets have emerged as the favoured way of achieving not only economic growth and efficiency but also political freedom and social justice This book is a study of the social embeddedness of markets in an era when the ideology of the free market governs development as much as trade Using a wide theoretical framework that encompasses both anthropology and geography Katharine Rankin critiques neoliberal approaches to development showing that the capitalist market will always be linked to local social structures and cultures of value Market led development therefore does not necessarily expand opportunity rather it can deepen existing injustice and inequality Using the example of a traditional Newar market town located in the Kathmandu Valley in Nepal Rankin explores how the value ascribed to social prestige relates to economic opportunity Showing how those in subordinate social locations are positioned to critique inequality Rankin argues that planners should pursue progressive notions of development that recognise the critical resources within culture

Brown, 1994 Identifying developing and servicing markets The selection and evaluation of processing options Raw material supply Financial analysis of agroindustrial investments Managing the agroindustrial enterprise Socioeconomic evaluation of agroindustries

BOOK JACKET Africa and IMF Conditionality Kwame Akonor, 2013-09-13 Ghana was one of the first African countries to adopt a comprehensive IMF reform program and the one that has sustained adjustment longest Yet questions of Ghana's compliance to what extent did it comply how did it manage compliance what patterns of non compliance existed and why have not been systematically investigated and remain poorly understood This book argues that understanding the domestic political environment is crucial in explaining why compliance or the lack thereof occurs Akonor maintains that compliance with IMF conditionality in Ghana has had high political costs and thus non compliance occurred once the political survival of a regime was at stake

From Power Sharing to Democracy Sid Noel, 2005-09-22 From Power Sharing to Democracy examines the theoretical underpinnings of power sharing as a means of achieving sustainable democratic governance Contributors examine key areas including Afghanistan Cyprus Kosovo Macedonia and South Africa where power sharing constitutions and political institutions have been employed or proposed They provide an in depth exploration of consociationalism under which the previously warring ethnic communities are guaranteed a proportionate share of political offices and protection of their vital interests and federalism which provides for substantial territorial autonomy in cases where the communities are territorially segregated

Does Privatization Deliver? Ahmed Galal, Mary M.

Shirley,1994 Examines whether Africa s disappointing economic performance reflects a failure to undertake structural adjustment reforms or a failure of those reforms to boost growth Covers 29 African countries that underwent adjustment in the late 1980s To reverse the economic decline that began in the 1970s many Sub Saharan countries initiated programs to pave the way for long term development and prosperity by restructuring their economies This report addresses just how much those countries undertaking reform actually changed their policies the extent to which their policy reforms restored growth and the future for adjustment The report recognizes that adjustment can work in Africa but that it cannot work miracles in reducing poverty or ensuring sustained equitable growth African adjustment programs must go hand in hand with long term development efforts to invest more in human capital and infrastructure expand institutional capacity and provide better governance

Reforming agricultural markets in Africa Kherallah, Mylene,Delgado, Christopher

L.,Gabre-Madhin, Eleni Z.,Minot, Nicholas,Johnson, Michael,2002-01-01 The long term reduction of hunger and poverty in Sub Saharan Africa remains one of the great challenges for the international development community Eliminating hunger and promoting widespread growth in the region inevitably involves agriculture given its central role in the region s economies Over the past 20 years most African governments have carried out reforms to deregulate agricultural markets and reduce the role of state enterprises How much has the state actually withdrawn from agricultural markets Have well functioning private markets emerged How successful were these reforms in boosting agricultural production economic growth and the incomes of the rural poor What lessons can we learn from the reform process The authors of this book address these questions through an analysis based on an extensive review of experiences with reform focusing on three major agricultural markets fertilizer food crops and export crops They examine the historical rationales for intervention the factors contributing to reform the process of implementation and the impact of the reforms on farmers and consumers in Sub Saharan Africa The authors find that reforms have had many favorable results but that the impact has been muted by partial implementation and structural constraints They propose a new agenda for promoting the development of agricultural markets in Sub Saharan Africa identifying areas where governments can play a supportive role They argue that appropriate agricultural marketing policies and investments can improve livelihoods and the economic health of the region
