Aptitude, Learning, and Instruction Richard E. Snow,Pat-Anthony Federico,William E. Montague,2021-05-30 For the previous 6 years before publication Office of Naval Research ONR had been conducting a thematically oriented contract research program aimed in large part at developing the kind of broad theoretical framework necessary for a workable process interpretation of aptitude learning and performance Originally published in 1980 the papers in this collection are generally addressed to three broad areas that were central to those interests of the ONR Personnel and Training Research Programs One area is concerned with individual differences information processing as revealed in simple laboratory or psychometric tests The second area focuses on the structural aspects of learning and performance using tools and concepts from semantic memory theory to describe what is learned and how it is learned And the third area is aimed at the management of instruction It addresses itself to the kinds of research and instructional designs required for effective implementation of adaptive instruction

Time and Learning in the Special Education Classroom Libby Goodman,1990-01-01 Focusing on the relationship between time use and learning results this book explores the instructional processes in special education classrooms The text emphasizes teacher control of time resources at the classroom level instructional management strategies that conserve and enhance instructional time and the efficient and effective use of learning time to enhance student performance outcomes The dual dimensions of time and task are incorporated throughout the text to communicate the essential message that time and the appropriate use of time go hand in hand in the classroom Adequate time alone is a necessary but insufficient condition for maximal learning to occur Time and Learning in the Special Education Classroom strikes a balance between research and application to achieve a scholarly yet readable text relevant for both pre service and in service teachers supervisors principals administrators and teacher educators

Computer-aided Ear-training Susanna Király,2016-07-14 My doctoral thesis has involved two related tasks The first was to analyse Zolt n Kod ly s philosophy of music education and on this basis to develop a computer assisted instruction method CAI for teaching music theory and self ge ear training The second task was to experiment with the effectiveness of this method and compare it with traditional approaches to teaching Many student find music theory and ear training difficult During the 1990s in connection with my licentiate thesis Self ge in the Computer Classroom 2000 I initiated this research project and developed a CAI method for teaching music theory and self ge I wanted to see just how useful Kod ly s approach could be in computer aided teaching and learning The results show that the Kod ly approach can be successfully applied to the development of a computer aided self ge programme and the Kod ly system is applicable to new learning environments and teaching practices In music education CAI is an area with great potential for development It offers multiple learning options and can enhance students motivation to study music theory and ear training some of the learning outcomes were even better than with the traditional ways of learning The results also show however that the teacher pupil interaction is essential in a computer aided learning programme

International Handbook of the Religious, Moral and Spiritual Dimensions in Education Marian de Souza, Gloria Durka, Kathleen Engebretson, Robert Jackson, Andrew McGrady, 2007-06-04 Traditionally spirituality has resided and been contained within religious frameworks but while the links between the two areas are still acknowledged by many in the contemporary world spirituality is perceived by some as an aspect of human life that is distinct from religion Consequently many are searching for meaning within and without religious traditions today and seeking answers to ethical and moral questions that have been generated by the knowledge and technological explosion One outcome is the renewed interest in the religious spiritual and moral dimensions of education throughout the life cycle This International Handbook presents the research and professional practice of scholars who are daily engaged in the consideration of these dimensions in education The result is a collection of essays which reflects the discipline in all of its internationality as it as today Embedded within the chapters is also an agenda for the future where the religious moral and spiritual dimensions in education are proposed as an exciting and challenging way forward for educators at all levels in society As well it offers a vision for the emergence of a peaceful and just world

Parents and Schools Angela L. Carrasquillo, Clement B. London, 2013-11-26 This book is based on the premise that schools and parents need to work together for the social emotional cognitive and academic development of children While the school provides a leadership model parents act as reinforcers of learning and prime movers in their children s education The authors emphasize throughout the book that parents and educators need to celebrate the pleasure of teaching In clear and accessible language this work presents theories on learning and human relations It then charts and reviews the important components of a successful school parent partnership giving specific recommendations on the best way to involve diverse groups of parents Chapters are US Families in the Context of Change The African American Experience in Family Context The Hispanic American Experience in Famiy Context The Asian American Experience in Family Context Communities

Haertel, 1990-01-31 The International Encyclopedia of Educational Evaluation provides a current and comprehensive treatment of the major evaluation approaches and methods used in educational research focusing on themes such as educational needs assessment measurement evaluating design decision making and educational policy This single volume is an up to date reference work for the beginning student as well as the advanced practitioner and offers educational evaluators access to the range of techniques and disciplines pertinent to good evaluation practice Instructional Design:

International Perspectives I Sanne Dijkstra, Franz Schott, Robert D. Tennyson, Norbert M. Seel, 2013-05-13 Instructional design theory and practice has evolved over the past 30 years from an initial narrow focus on programmed instruction to a multidimensional field of study integrating psychology technology evaluation measurement and management The growth of instructional design ID has occurred because of direct needs problems and goals from society Its application in planning instruction first developed in the United States with the Department of Defense during World War II with the purpose of meeting immediate concerns for effective training of larger numbers of military personnel From the beginning ID has rapidly expanded into applications in industrial and executive training vocational training classroom learning and professional education Although ID has its roots in the U S applications and theoretical growth is an international activity However literature at the international level is still limited to either individual author contributions or collections primarily represented by single countries As a result there is no standard reference source that contains the rich variety of theories and applications to form the international foundation for the field The goal of this two volume set is to establish international foundations for ID theory research and practice within the framework of the two following objectives to identify and define the theoretical research and model foundations for ID and to bridge the gap between ID foundations and application Volume I includes chapters on philosophical and theoretical issues on learning theory and ID models Volume II provides an overview of the state of the art of solving ID problems The contributors offer contrasting points of view which provide a rare opportunity to see the diversity and complexity in the field The editorial committee has selected a wide range of internationally known authors to make presentations in the topic areas of the field Instructional Design: Theory, research, and models Robert D.
