Addicted To Black Gold:

Gold Warriors Peggy Seagrave, Sterling Seagrave, 2020-05-05 In 1945 US intelligence officers in Manila discovered that the Japanese had hidden large quantities of gold bullion and other looted treasure in the Philippines President Truman decided to recover the gold but to keep its riches secret These combined with Japanese treasure recovered during the US occupation and with recovered Nazi loot would create a worldwide American political action fund to fight communism This Black Gold gave Washington virtually limitless unaccountable funds providing an asset base to reinforce the treasuries of America's allies to bribe political and military leaders and to manipulate elections in foreign countries for more than fifty years

Oil Addiction Pierre Chomat, 2004 Totally addicted to oil Man in his industrial adventure has transformed nearly all the Earth's ecosystems into egosystems designed to serve only his own needs and desires at the expense of all other species He persists despite the irreversible damage he is causing to the environment He has already disrupted the Earth's thermostats Western society has reached the Age of Excess which will last only as long as there is still fossil energy to fuel it The Earth cannot keep up with Man's demand for natural resources Her hydrocarbon reserves are shrinking rapidly and by 2010 global production will begin to decrease setting off a period of unprecedented planetary disorder and turmoil Today the United States must import most of the oil it needs from faraway countries Therein lies a terrible paradox the power of America is rooted in dependency The free enterprise system that it is imposing on the rest of the world cannot solve this paradoxical situation it will only amplify it and hasten destabilization It is high time to wonder whether we in the West in our suicidal quest for energy are not running the risk of losing control of the course of our history The invasion of Iraq by the United States military in lockstep with American corporations is a distressing and reprehensible step in this direction

Oil, Power, and War Matthieu Auzanneau, 2020-02-20 The story of oil is one of hubris fortune betrayal and destruction It is the story of a resource that has been undeniably central to the creation of our modern culture and ever present during the darkest exploits of empire the world over For the past 150 years oil has become the most essential ingredient for economic military and political power And it has brought us to our present moment in which political leaders and the fossil fuel industry consider extraordinary and extraordinarily dangerous policy on a world stage marked by shifting power bases. Upending the conventional wisdom by crafting a people's history award-winning journalist Matthieu Auzanneau deftly traces how oil became a national and then global addiction, outlines the enormous consequences of that addiction, sheds new light on major historical and contemporary figures, and raises new questions about stories we thought we knew well. What really sparked the oil crises in the 1970s: the shift away from the gold standard at Bretton Woods or even the financial crash of 2008? How has oil shaped the events that have defined our times: two world wars, the Cold War, the Great Depression, ongoing wars in the Middle East, the advent of neoliberalism, and the Great Recession among them? With brutal clarity, Oil Power and War exposes the heavy hand oil has had in all of our lives and illustrates how much heavier that hand could get during the increasingly desperate race to control the last of the world's easily and cheaply extractable reserves.

Eye of the Tiger Melanie Greene, 2016-02-29. Their matchmaker folks think it'd be great. If Natalie and Evan would date. Watch them say, "No thanks." But plow into the banks of the slippery slope where they skate. Natalie East and Evan Lee are determined to stay single. Their parents are just as determined to get them together. Nat, still reeling from the abrupt end of a three-year relationship, needs to prove to her mother that they are both capable of enjoying successful single lives. Her conventional mother pressures her to date their new friends: self-indulgent and status-obsessed son. The interference drives Natalie wild. Evan worked like a demon to launch his career. Now he's ready for a devilish amount of fun. While he was achieving success, his parents planned his future; they gush that Natalie is sweet, steady, and ready to settle down. Each message from his family hacks away at his joking, easy-going facade. When Nat and Evan involuntarily connect over coffee, neither is what the other expected. As their friendship grows and passions emerge, will they risk losing their independent lives? Are they prepared for a journey from lighthearted friends to steamy lovers or more?

of African American women in news media through detailed studies of national and local news the mainstream and Black press and traditional news outlets as well as newer digital platforms She argues that previous studies of African Americans and the news have largely ignored the representations of women as distinct from men and the ways in which socioeconomic class can be a determining factor in how Black women are portrayed in the news Meyers also proposes that a pattern of paternalistic racism as distinct from the modern racism found in previous studies of news coverage of African Americans is more likely to characterize the media's treatment of African American women Drawing on critical cultural studies and black feminist theory concerning representation and the intersectionality of gender race and class Meyers goes beyond the cultural myths and stereotypes of African American women to provide an updated portrayal of Black women today African American Women in the News is ideal for courses on African American studies American studies journalism studies media studies sociology studies women's studies and for professional journalists and students of journalism who seek to improve the diversity and sensitivity of their journalistic practice
