Admiral William Shepherd Benson:

Admiral William Shepherd Benson, First Chief of Naval Operations Mary Klachko, David F. Trask, 1987 In this full length study of the navy's first CNO the authors offer a judicious evaluation of Benson's sound leadership of the navy at war

Catalogue of the Public Documents of the ... Congress and of All Departments of the Government of the United States United States. Superintendent of Documents, 1929 U.S. Leadership in Wartime Spencer C. Tucker, 2009-09-10 A historical study of the relationship between civilian and military leaders in the United States during wartime from the American Revolution to the Iraq War Now from one of the world's leading publishers of military history comes a breakthrough reference on one of the most important and complex aspects of U S national defense U S Leadership in Wartime Clashes Controversy and Compromise offers a comprehensive analysis of the characteristics that constitute effective leadership in war and discusses the often contentious relationships between U S civilian and military leadership throughout American history U S Leadership in Wartime focuses on ten conflicts including the Revolutionary War the Civil War World Wars I and II the Vietnam War the Iraq War and the war in Afghanistan Coverage for each conflict focuses on the dynamics of civilian military relations and their impact on the course outcome and perception of each war under discussion Coverage in each chapter includes an overview essay sidebars and detailed treatments of key engagements and battles as well as detailed biographical essays of important figures not just politicians and generals but also labor leaders business leaders journalists and women Anglo-American Naval Relations, 1917-1919 Michael Simpson, 1991 This collection of documents some half of which are from American sources traces the relationship between the Royal Navy and the United States Navy the British Admiralty and the US Department of the Navy and the British and United States governments on naval matters from before America's entry into the Great War in 1917 until the Paris Peace Conference in 1919 The pacific President Wilson's decision to declare war on Germany on 6 April 1917 became inevitable once Germany resumed unrestricted submarine warfare on all neutral and Allied shipping That gamble was based on the belief that Britain would be starved into surrender before America's vast resources could be mobilised It very nearly succeeded When America entered the war U boats were sinking one in every four ocean going vessels clearing British ports and in April 1917 alone almost 900 000 tons of Allied and neutral shipping was lost Britain was down to just a few weeks supply of grain and the Grand Fleet was reduced to steaming at half speed for want of fuel oil Clearly the priority was to counter the U boats but despite ample evidence of its effectiveness in specific cases introduction of a convoy system was opposed by both navies on the grounds that it was a defensive policy which would not result in increased U boat sinkings Once introduced in May 1917 it proved an immediate success both dramatically reducing losses and increasing U boat losses However despite preliminary discussions prior to the US declaration of war driven notably by the then Assistant Secretary of the Navy and future President Franklin D Roosevelt and the Anglophile Ambassador to Britain Walter Hines Page the US Navy was woefully unprepared for war and at least initially more of a drain on allied resources than an asset Moreover while the Admiralty made desperate pleas for the smaller craft needed to counter U boats in the Western Approaches Washington continued to pursue a capital ship building programme and to retain submarine counter measure vessels on America's Eastern seaboard despite little or no evidence of U boat activity in those waters And while a close and successful partnership developed at sea from the outset suspicion and rivalry underlay the wider relationship and rapidly resurfaced once the guns fell silent due in no small part to pronounced Anglophobia at higher levels in the US Navy The papers are divided into nine sections each with its own introduction and cover preliminary discussions before America's declaration of war integration of the two navies activities while staving off defeat by the U boats the gradual development of a harmonious working relationship as America's commitment to the war increased and the last year of the war in which the relationship came to fruition Subsequent sections then deal with more specific topics the submarine war US battleships in European waters the North Sea mine barrier the Mediterranean the Western Atlantic and the Caribbean and finally the naval armistice and the Peace Treaty

One Hundred Years of Sea Power George W. Baer, 1996-07-01 A navy is a state's main instrument of maritime force What it should do what doctrine it holds what ships it deploys and how it fights are determined by practical political and military choices in relation to national needs Choices are made according to the state's goals perceived threat maritime opportunity technological capabilities practical experience and not the least the way the sea service defines itself and its way of war This book is a history of the modern U S Navy It explains how the Navy in the century after 1890 was formed and reformed in the interaction of purpose experience and doctrine

Wilson and China: A Revised History of the Shandong Question Bruce Elleman, 2015-06-03 Drawing on sources in Japanese Chinese and American archives and libraries this book reassesses another facet of Woodrow Wilson's agenda at the 1919 Paris Peace Conference at the end of World War I Breaking with accepted scholarly opinions the author argues that Wilson did not betray China as many Chinese and Western scholars have charged rather Wilson successfully negotiated a compromise with the Japanese to ensure that China's sovereignty would be respected in Shandong Province Rejecting the compromise Chinese negotiators refused to sign the Treaty of Versailles creating conditions for the Soviet Union's entry into China and its later influence over the course of
