Adoption And The Coloured Child:

Adoption and the Coloured Child Diana Kareh,1970 Equity Planning for School Leaders Todd M. Mealy,Heather Bennett,2023-11-08 This second edition offers strategies tips and guidance on how to promote equitable student growth across content areas The essays in this book complement the work of school board members administrators and community stakeholders in school districts with diverse student populations Authors offer both empirically based and auto ethnographic accounts about equity policy frameworks school counseling resource officers in urban schools trauma informed practices and bias disruptors Each of the 12 essays provides templates for educators and administrators across age ranges and institution types As demographics grow more diverse school leaders will look for ideas to improve campus policy and practice The contributors to this work deliver actionable steps across departments Adoption of Non-White Children Lois

Raynor,2021-11-07 Can adoptive homes be found for non white children Will the children and their new families be happy together though of different race Will they feel like a family Originally published in 1970 this book is an account of a four year project in which International Social Service of Great Britain joined with Bedford College London University to provide a first class adoption service for babies born in Britain of diverse racial origins and to study the outcome of the adoptions In addition a survey sought to determine the number of these children needing adoption homes and a nationwide Adoption Resource Exchange was established to co ordinate the efforts of the numerous agencies seeking parents for them The author examines the project s experience of interracial adoption and relates it to all good adoption practice This title was a welcome addition to the literature on adoption at the time It would have been indispensable to social work practitioners and to students and lecturers on social work courses but it was more than a handbook for those professionally involved The book is well informed and written with style and compassion many readers will be fascinated by the way in which children of Asian African West Indian and mixed parentage became integrated into English families in spite of racial differences It is a success story Today it can be read in its historical context This book is a re issue originally published in 1970 The language used is a reflection of its era and no offence is meant by the Publishers to any reader by this re publication Imagining Adoption

Marianne Novy,2004 DIVEngaging essays on the theme of adoption as seen in literary works and in writings by adoptees adoptive parents and adoption activists div The Cambridge Companion to British Black and Asian Literature (1945-2010) Deirdre Osborne,2016-10-19 Post World War II mass migration to Great Britain altered its demographic composition more markedly than in any other period in its history resulting in a modern multicultural nation state shaped by the ethnic diversity of its citizenry Populations from African Caribbean and South Asian locations arriving in Britain post war brought diasporic sensibilities and literary heritages that have profoundly transformed British national culture leading to a more complex and inclusive sense of its past The Companion to British Black and Asian Literature 1945 2010 examines the creative impact of this rich infusion upon English literature against the backdrop of the seismic social and economic changes triggered by colonialism and migration multiculturalism and contemporary globalization English Narrative Poetry Özlem Görey, 2017-05-11 Poetry by definition is voice which here includes the worlds of both sound silence in which the poem exists Voice in poetry represents the way in which individuals articulate themselves as subjects English Narrative Poetry A Babel of Voices explores how poets in different periods of English literature have manipulated voice in their verse narratives This book devoted to voice explores narrative poems ranging from the Renaissance to the contemporary Starting from Shakespeare it journeys through Pope Wordsworth Keats Rossetti Browning H D Ted Hughes Jackie Kay and Bernardine Evaristo in the light of narrative theory The multiplicity of voice attests to the fact that narrative poetry can present itself as a representation of real life by mimicking the voices of women and men creating what taken together comprises a babel of voices

A Question of Adoption Anne Else, 2023-02-27 A Question of Adoption gives a richly detailed immensely readable account of the ideology and practice of closed stranger adoption in New Zealand from pregnancy through to the final adoption order and its aftermath Anne Else's scrupulous moving narrative explores social and moral attitudes towards unmarried mothers unwanted children and childless couples during the 1950s and 1960s She shows how the resulting system took shape how it worked or failed to work and its lifelong effects on everyone involved then sets out how and why change began to occur This new e book edition written with Maria Haenga Collins includes seven ground breaking new chapters providing a comprehensive account of creating and transferring children through the related processes of adoption state care donor conception and surrogacy It details how so many M ori children were and still are cut off from their wh nau and whakapapa through adoption and state care both stemming from racist colonial ideology and how the Adoption Act 1955 came to be seen as glaringly at odds with contemporary concepts of children's rights and best interests It examines New Zealand's complex history of using third parties to create children through reproductive technology and the lengthy unresolved debates over regulation The final chapter looks at local and global risks now facing human reproduction connection and reproductive justice

The Development of the Infant and the Young Child - E-Book Ronald S. Illingworth, 2012-09-25 This is the tenth edition of a classic work on child development by Ronald Illingworth 1909 1990 the renowned English paediatrician who was Professor of Child Health at the University of Sheffield This book was first published in 1960 and Professor Illingworth revised it frequently It was translated into several languages and is used throughout the world Since the publication of the ninth edition of this book in 1987 a sea of changes has happened in the discipline of child development To bridge this gap Dr MKC Nair and Dr Paul Russell have supported Professor Illingworth's extraordinary observations with contemporary evidence whenever available In addition they have included the current normative values in child development as well as cultural and societal influences on a developing child

The Politics of Adoption Kerry O'Halloran, 2021-03-20 This book which updates and expands the third edition published by Springer in 2015 explains compares and evaluates the social and legal functions of adoption within a range of selected jurisdictions and on an international basis From the standpoint of the development of adoption in England Wales and the changes currently taking place there it considers the process as it has evolved in other countries It also identifies themes of commonality and difference in the experience of adoption in a common law context comparing and contrasting this with the experience under civil law and in Islamic countries and with that of indigenous people This book includes new chapters examining adoption in Russia Korea and Romania Further it uses the international conventions and the associated ECtHR case law to benchmark developments in national law policy and practice and to facilitate a cross cultural comparative analysis Adoption in a Color-blind Society Pamela Anne Quiroz,2007 Adoption in a Color blind Society illustrates how the political economy of private domestic adoption intersects with the political economy of racism to generate quite different demands for infants and children of different races and how the private adoption arena responds to these demands This book argues that rather than moving towards a color blind democracy we instead live in a context where race continues to matter substantially particularly in arenas closest to home

The Adopted Child Christa Hoffmann-Riem,2017-07-05 This exploration of the experiences of adopting parents and children offers unusual insight into adoption s complexity and its profound impact on family life Based on the author s research in Germany where she lived and taught The Adopted Child has a great deal to say about child rearing and identity as well as offering insights into similarities and differences in family life and adoption in Germany and the United States Hoffmann Reim takes the reader through the decision to adopt the adoption placement procedure and the transition from applicant to mother and father She explores differences between emotions experienced in adopting a baby a toddler and an older child and how these emotions can affect relations with the world outside the nuclear family A central concern is secrecy and disclosure with regard to the adopted child s origins Based on case studies and extensive interviews The Adopted Child has fascinated American readers as it did those in Germany Professionals as well as those interested in adoption and family life in general will find it significant Sociologists will find it solidly grounded in concepts and traditions from a diversity of related disciplines And anyone interested in Germans and German society will find the materials revealing and the author s interpretation insightful and wise

Black GI Children in Post-World War II Europe Ingrid Bauer,Philipp Rohrbach,2021-02-15 This volume addresses an issue that was until recently taboo children fathered by Black American GIs who were stationed in Europe during and after World War II and whose mothers were local citizens They were born into societies that defined themselves as White and rejected this extremely visible portion of the so called occupation children Black and White are in this volume not only understood as descriptions of skin color but above all as social constructs and political categories with racist attributions and effects The authors of the contributions examine the manner in which these mixed race children and their mothers were treated by their societies and the respective authorities they assess the experiences and self understandings of the individuals affected they discuss their institutionalization and the strategy practiced by the youth welfare agencies of giving these children up for adoption abroad and finally they highlight how African American couples in the USA interpreted the adoption of these mixed race children from Europe as an act of Black resistance against White supremacy

Lost Kids Mona Gleason, Tamara Myers, Leslie Paris, Veronica Strong-Boag, 2010-07-01 Children and youth occupy important social and political roles even as they sleep in cribs or hang out on street corners Conceptualized as either harbingers or saboteurs of a bright secure tomorrow young people have motivated many adult driven plans to improve their communities future But have all children benefited from these programs and initiatives Lost Kids explores the under representation demonization and inadequate care of vulnerable children and connects them to three key determining factors the role of the state the shifting context of the family and the evolution of child protection and juvenile justice By illuminating the diversity of disadvantaged childhoods this multifaceted collection rejects the essentialism of the so called priceless child or hopeless youth Lost Kids sheds new light on the experiences of vulnerable children in Canada and the United States

LGBTQ Parents and Their Children during the Family Life Cycle Nicola Carone, Henny Bos, Geva Shenkman, Fiona Tasker, 2021-03-26

Life Lines: Writing Transcultural Adoption John McLeod, 2017-04-20 Adoptions that cross the lines of culture race and nation are a major consequence of conflicts around the globe yet their histories and representations have rarely been considered Life Lines Writing Transcultural Adoption is the first critical study to explore narratives of transcultural adoption from contemporary Britain Ireland and America fictions films and memoirs made by those within the adoption triad or those concerned with the pain and possibilities of transcultural adoption While acknowledging the sobering inequalities which engender transcultural adoptions and the lasting upset of sundered relations at the same time John McLeod considers the transfigurative and creative propensity of imagining transcultural adoption as radically calling into question ideas of biogenetic attachment racial genealogy cultural identity and normative family making How might the predicament of being adopted transculturally enable the transformative agency of adoptive being for all Exploring works by Andrea Levy Barbara Kingsolver Toni Morrison Sebastian Barry Caryl Phillips Jackie Kay and several others Life Lines makes a groundbreaking intervention in such fields as transcultural studies postcolonial thought and adoption theory and practice

Adoption and Multiculturalism Jenny Heijun Wills, Tobias Hubinette, Indigo Willing, 2020-09-11 Adoption and Multiculturalism features the voices of international scholars reflecting transnational and transracial adoption and its relationship to notions of multiculturalism The essays trouble common understandings about who is being adopted who is adopting and where these acts are taking place challenging in fascinating ways the tidy master narrative of saviorhood and the concept of a monolithic Western receiving nation Too often the presumption is that the adoptive and receiving country is one that celebrates racial and ethnic diversity thus making it superior to the conservative and insular places from which adoptees arrive The volume's contributors subvert the often simplistic ways that multiculturalism is linked to transnational and transracial adoption and reveal how troubling multiculturalism in fact can be The contributors represent a wide range of disciplines cultures and connections in relation to the adoption constellation bringing perspectives from Europe including Scandinavia Canada the United States and Australia The book brings together the various methodologies of literary criticism history anthropology sociology and cultural theory to demonstrate the multifarious and robust ways that adoption and multiculturalism might be studied and considered Edited by three transnational and transracial adoptees Adoption and Multiculturalism Europe the Americas and the Pacific offers bold new scholarship that revises popular notions of transracial and transnational adoption as practice and phenomenon

Handbook of Adoption Rafael A. Javier, 2007 Handbook of Adoption addresses topics in adoption that reflect the many dimensions of theory research development race adjustment and clinical practice which can affect adoption triad members

Barriers to Adoption United States. Congress. Senate. Committee on Labor and Human Resources. Subcommittee on Children, Family, Drugs and Alcoholism, 1994 Adoption - But at what Price? , 2003 Family Law Jonathan Herring, 2012-12-06 This book provides a stimulating carefully planned introduction to the key issues and debates within family law from some of the leading authorities within their field It is designed both as a self standing book focusing on the key issues in the subject and as a supplement to more detailed textbooks on the subject It is essential reading for anybody studying or practising in the field of family law Each chapter is concerned with one of the main areas of family law such as adoption domestic violence marriage and divorce and covers a range of themes including the public private divide balancing the interests of family members moral values and family law cost and the legal system and the enforcement of family law The book reflects the interdisciplinary nature of the debates on family law and the difficult social and political issues which these have raised
