properties of optimization models explicitly including dosimetric indices which the clinical treatment guidelines are based on Modelling dosimetric indices explicitly yields mixed integer programs which are computationally demanding to solve The computing time of the treatment planning is of clinical relevance as the planning is typically conducted while the patient is under anaesthesia Research topics in this thesis include both studying properties of models extending and improving models and developing new optimization models to be able to take more aspects into account in the treatment planning There are several advantages of using mathematical optimization for treatment planning in comparison to manual planning First the treatment planning phase can be shortened compared to the time consuming manual planning Secondly also the quality of treatment plans can be improved by using optimization models and algorithms for example by considering more of the clinically relevant aspects Finally with the use of optimization algorithms the requirements of experience and skill level for the planners are lower This thesis summary contains a literature review over optimization models for treatment planning including the catheter placement problem How optimization models consider the multiobjective nature of the treatment planning problem is also discussed Catalog of Copyright Entries.
