Environmental History in the Making Estelita Vaz, Cristina Joanaz de Melo, Lígia M. Costa Pinto, 2016-10-13 This book is the product of the 2nd World Conference on Environmental History held in Guimarães Portugal in 2014 It gathers works by authors from the five continents addressing concerns raised by past events so as to provide information to help manage the present and the future It reveals how our cultural background and examples of past territorial intervention can help to combat political and cultural limitations through the common language of environmental benefits without disguising harmful past human interventions. Considering that political ideologies such as socialism and capitalism as well as religion fail to offer global paradigms for common ground, an environmentally positive discourse instead of an ecological determinism might serve as an umbrella common language to overcome blocking factors real or invented and avoid repeating ecological loss. Therefore, agency environmental speech and historical research are urgently needed in order to sustain environmental paradigms and overcome political, cultural, and economic interests in the public arena. This book intertwines reflections on our bonds with landscapes, processes of natural and scientific transfer across the globe, the changing of ecosystems, the way in which scientific knowledge has historically both accelerated destruction and allowed a better distribution of vital resources, or as it in today's world can offer alternatives that avoid harming those same vital natural resources: water, soil, and air. In addition, it shows the relevance of cultural factors both in the taming of nature in favor of human comfort and in the role of the environment matters in the forging of cultural identities which cannot be detached from technical intervention in the world. In short, the book firstly studies the past, approaching it as a data set of how the environment has shaped culture; secondly, seeks to understand the present; and thirdly, assesses future perspectives: what to keep, what to change, and what to dream anew, considering that conventional solutions have not sufficed to protect life on our planet.

Catalogues No. 111-114, 137, 141, 147, 148, 151 Bernard Quaritch (Firm), 1891 Western Europe, North America and Australasia Rolf Bohme, 2013-10-22 Topographic mapping plays a basic and important role within the extensive field of cartography. In recent years, this type of mapping has become somewhat neglected and available literature is normally restricted to details concerning the programmes of individual countries, often presented in the form of monographs. Topographic maps are essential tools for use in development projects, resource exploitation, the planning of construction infrastructure, and recreation. Furthermore, they give a detailed illustration of the relative degrees of development of areas within a landscape and are thus unique in demonstrating the cultural status of a country. This book is the first of three volumes and provides an introduction to world topographic mapping, giving details and examples of topographic maps from Western Europe, North America, and Australasia. The information supplied for each country consists of a text including a brief history of the development of topographic mapping, geodetic data, map scales, and series, as well as extracts of maps and index sheets illustrating the present status of map coverage within that country. There is currently no other work employing the approach adopted in assembling this inventory. This work is a comprehensive and important reference and source book for information in the field of topographic mapping.
