Japan Christopher Dresser, 1882 The Art and Architecture of Japan Robert Treat Paine, Alexander Coburn Soper, 1981-01-01 Once slighted as mere copying from China the arts of Japan are now seen as a unique alternation of advances and withdrawals At times the islanders produced Chinese style works of great beauty unmatched on the continent When they chose to be independent their art differs at every level Sculpture and even more painting are concrete sensuous and emotional speaking directly to all Impressions of Japanese Architecture Ralph Adams Cram, 2011-07-05 The best book on Japanese architecture ever produced by a Westerner The American Architect Japanese architecture is undoubtedly less well known and less appreciated than the architecture of any other civilized nation Not only this but it is almost universally misjudged and while the world has by degrees come to know and admire the pictorial and industrial arts of Japan her architecture which is the root and vehicle of all other modes of art is passed over with a casual reference to its fantastic quality or a patronizing tribute to the excellence of some of its carved decoration Written at a time when Japanese art was only beginning to be appreciated in the West Impressions of Japanese Architecture conveys a sense of discovery and enthusiasm that modern readers will find as interesting and infectious as the book's first readers did Long considered a classic this new edition contains a foreword by acclaimed contemporary architect and author Mira Locher Originally published about one hundred years ago Impressions of Japanese Architecture is still of immense value to anyone wishing for a better understanding of Japanese architecture art and culture Impressions of Japanese Architecture and the Allied Arts

Chinese Architecture and the Beaux-Arts Jeffrey W.

Cody, Nancy Shatzman Steinhardt, Tony Atkin, 2011-01-31 In the early twentieth century Chinese traditional architecture and the French derived methods of the cole des Beaux Arts converged in the United States when Chinese students were given scholarships to train as architects at American universities whose design curricula were dominated by Beaux Arts methods Upon their return home in the 1920s and 1930s these graduates began to practice architecture and create China s first architectural schools often transferring a version of what they had learned in the U S to Chinese situations The resulting complex series of design related transplantations had major implications for China between 1911 and 1949 as it simultaneously underwent cataclysmic social economic and political changes After 1949 and the founding of the People s Republic China experienced a radically different wave of influence from the Beaux Arts through advisors from the Soviet Union who first under Stalin and later Khrushchev brought Beaux Arts ideals in the guise of socialist progress In the early twenty first century China is still feeling the effects of these events Chinese Architecture and the Beaux Arts examines the coalescing of the two major architectural systems placing significant shifts in architectural theory and practice in China within relevant contemporary cultural and educational contexts Fifteen major scholars from around the world analyze and synthesize these crucial events to shed light on the dramatic architectural and urban changes occurring in China today many of which have global ramifications This stimulating and generously illustrated work is divided into three sections framed by an introduction and a postscript The first focuses on the convergence of Chinese architecture and the cole des Beaux Arts outlining the salient aspects of each and suggesting how and why the two met in the U S The second section centers on the question of how Chinese architects were influenced by the Beaux Arts and how Chinese architecture was changed as a result The third takes an even closer look at the Beaux Arts influence addressing how innovative practices new schools of architecture and buildings whose designs were linked to Beaux Arts assumptions led to distinctive new paradigms that were rooted in a changing China By virtue of its scope scale and scholarship this volume promises to become a classic in the fields of Chinese and Western architectural history Contributors Tony Atkin Peter J Carroll Yung Ho Chang Jeffrey W Cody Kerry Sizheng Fan Fu Chao Ching Gu Daqing Seng Kuan Delin Lai Xing Ruan Joseph Rykwert Nancy S Steinhardt David VanZanten Rudolf Wagner Zhang Jie Zhao Chen
