Art As Religious Studies Douglas G. Adams, Diane Apostolos-Cappadona, 2001-04-17 Religion and the Arts: History and Method Diane Apostolos-Cappadona, 2017-11-06 In Religion and the Arts History and Method Diane Apostolos Cappadona presents an overview of the 19th century origins of this discrete field of study and its methodological journey to the present day through issues of repatriation museum exhibitions and globalization Apostolos Cappadona suggests that the fluidity and flexibility of the study of religion and the arts has expanded like an umbrella since the 1970s and the understanding that art was simply a visual exegesis of texts to now support the study of material popular and visual culture as well as gender She also delivers a careful analysis of the evolution of thought from traditional iconographies to the transformations once scholars were influenced by response theory and challenged by globalization and technology Religion and the Arts History and Method offers an indispensable introduction to the questions and perspectives essential to the study of this field

Hornik, Mikeal Carl Parsons, 2003 Since the iconoclastic controversies of the eighth and ninth centuries the visual arts have been the subject of much ecclesiastical discussion and contention In particular since the mid 1960s Protestant scholars and clergy have been paying more attention to the potential role of the visual arts in theology and liturgy of the Christian Church As a result numerous programs were begun under a variety of nomenclature e g Religion and the Arts Theology and the Arts etc Most of the essays in this book were originally presented as part of the Pruitt Symposium on Interpreting Christian Art held at Baylor University in October 2000 The symposium provided the opportunity to bring together scholars clergy and laity who are interested in the question of how religious art can contribute to the life of the contemporary Christian community The resulting essays are a rich fare in interdisciplinary exploration of Christian art by art historians theologians and biblical scholars Essayists include Margaret Miles Robin M Jensen Graydon F Snyder Charles Barber Anthony Cutler William M Jensen Paolo Berdini John W Cook and the editors Heidi J Hornik and Mikeal C Parsons

An Ethology of

Religion and Art Bryan Rennie, 2020-02-13 Drawing from sources including the ethology of art and the cognitive science of religion this book proposes an improved understanding of both art and religion as behaviors developed in the process of human evolution Looking at both art and religion as closely related but not identical behaviors a more coherent definition of religion can be formed that avoids pitfalls such as the Eurocentric characterization of religion as belief or the dismissal of the category as nothing more than false belief or the product of scholarly invention The book integrates highly relevant insights from the ethology and anthropology of art particularly the identification of the special by Ellen Dissanayake and art as agency by Alfred Gell with insights from among others Ann Taves who similarly identified specialness as characteristic of religion It integrates these insights into a useful and accurate understanding and explanation of the relationship of art and religion and of religion as a human behavior This in turn is used to suggest how art can contribute to the development and maintenance of religions The innovative combination of art science and religion in this book makes it a vital resource for scholars of

Religion and the Arts Aesthetics Religious Studies Religion and Science and Religious Anthropology Art and Religion in Eighteenth-Century Europe Nigel Aston, 2009-07-15 Eighteenth century Europe witnessed monumental upheavals in both the Catholic and Protestant faiths and the repercussions rippled down to the churches religious art forms Nigel Aston now chronicles here the intertwining of cultural and institutional turmoil during this pivotal century The sustained popularity of religious art in the face of competition from increasingly prevalent secular artworks lies at the heart of this study Religious art staked out new spaces of display in state institutions palaces and private collections the book shows as well as taking advantage of patronage from monarchs such as Louis XIV and George III who funded religious art in an effort to enhance their monarchical prestige Aston also explores the motivations and exhibition practices of private collectors and analyzes changing Catholic and Protestant attitudes toward art The book also examines purchases made by corporate patrons such as charity hospitals and religious confraternities and considers what this reveals about the changing religiosity of the era as well An in depth historical study Art and Religion in Eighteenth Century Europe will be essential for art history and religious studies scholars alike In the Beginning is the Icon Sigurd Bergmann, 2016-04-08 Icons provide depictions of God or encounters with the divine that enable reflection and prayer In the Beginning is the Icon explores the value of these images for a theology of liberation Iconology art theory philosophical aesthetics art history and anthropology are integrated with rigorous theological reflection to argue that the creation and observation of pictures can have a liberating effect on humanity In presenting art from across the world In the Beginning is the Icon reflects the ethnocentricity of both art and religious studies and offers a new cross cultural approach to the theology of art Creativity and Spirituality Earle Jerome Coleman, 1998-01-01 Drawing from six living faiths this book philosophically analyzes relations between art and religion in order to explain how the concepts art beauty creativity and aesthetic experience find their place or counterparts in religious discourse and experience Art and Religion in Africa Rosalind Hackett, 1998-10-01 Africa s religious and artistic traditions constitute a primary example of its intellectual and cultural vitality Artistic works play a vital role especially where oral traditions dominate in communicating ideas about the relationship between the human spiritual and natural worlds This work is a comparative study of Africa s visual and performing arts concentrating on their geographical material and gendered diversity and focusing on the relation of these arts to African religion The author combines ethnographic and art historical methodology but does not assume any prior knowledge of African art or African religion The text seeks a greater understanding of the philosophical and religious aspects of African art thus challenging western perceptions of what is important in terms of artistic representation This approach reveals the transformative capacities and multi dimensionality of African art The work also highlights the changes brought about by Christianity Islam and the newer religious movements in post colonial Africa

The Work of Art Michael D. Jackson, 2016-10-25 How are we to think of works of art Rather than treat art as an expression of individual genius market forces or aesthetic principles Michael Jackson focuses on how art effects transformations in our lives Art opens up transitional ritual or utopian spaces that enable us to reconcile inward imperatives and outward constraints thereby making our lives more manageable and meaningful Art allows us to strike a balance between being actors and being acted upon Drawing on his ethnographic fieldwork in Aboriginal Australia and West Africa as well as insights from psychoanalysis religious studies literature and the philosophy of art Jackson deploys an extraordinary range of references from Bruegel to Beuys Paleolithic art to performance art Michelangelo to Munch to explore the symbolic labor whereby human beings make themselves both individually and socially out of the environmental biographical and physical materials that affect them a process that connects art with gestation storytelling and dreaming and illuminates the elementary forms of religious life

The Art of the Sublime Roger Homan, 2017-03-02 In the view of Hegel and others pagan art is the art of the beautiful and Christian art is the art of the sublime Roger Homan provides a comprehensive and informative account of the course of Christian art encompassing a re evaluation of conventional aesthetics and its application to religious art Homan argues that taste and aesthetics are fashioned by morality and belief and that Christian art must be assessed not in terms of its place in the history of art but of its place in Christian faith The narrative basis of Christian art is documented but religious art is also explored as the expression of the devout and as an element in the trappings of collective expression and personal quest Sections in the book explore pilgrimage art puritan art the tension of Gothic and Classical church architecture and the language of worship Current areas of debate including the relationship of ethics to the appreciation of art are also discussed

An extensive range of examples of painting architecture and decoration most of which are of European origin are discussed throughout with a number of striking illustrations included within the text

Art, Modernity and Faith George Pattison, 1998 This book first published in hardback by Macmillan in 1991 appeared in paperback in 1998 with a new concluding chapter and extra illustrations After an opening chapter which tells the story of modern art George Pattison leads the reader through a more or less historical narrative of the relationship between Christianity and the visual arts He begins with the deep rooted fear of images in the Judaeo Christian tradition through Thomism and the writings of Maritain Ruckin and Forsyth into the uncertainties of the twentieth century There are concluding discussions on how respect for the integrity of the visual image becomes a way of grace and how the Zen experience indicates a method which can be used by both theologians and artists It is rare to encounter an author so deeply informed in matters of religion and theology while being so obviously at home in the history and theory of the arts Combining these spheres of learning George Pattison makes a distinctive contribution to understanding religiously significant aspects of art providing in the process a fresh perspective on why the religious or theological import of art cannot fully be captured in other media of human creation and reflection

Theology George Pattison is Lady Margaret Professor of Divinity in the University of Oxford and a Canon of Christ Church Cathedral Oxford
