Under Construction Marie-Anne Kohl, 2021-01-14 While currently identitarian ideologies and essentialist notions of identity that tend to simplify and reduce life experience to simple factors are globally regaining massive attention it becomes inevitable to recollect the thorough discussions of identity concepts of the past three decades It also calls for an ever keener awareness of and capacity to deal with the complexity and diversity of the world we live in Artists play a major role in the potential reflection and transformation of perceptions and conceptions of the world musicians dancers choreographers spoken word artists performance artists actors also fine art installation media artists or photographers alike Performing

Movements is an expression and embodiment of liberation This book explores the creative liberation political liberation and communicative liberation for youth as one exemplar of culturally sustaining pedagogy The authors share what students and teachers learned in a high school class where they could access and use their wealth of historical and cultural capital Using data from 4 years of an ongoing participatory ethnography this book tells the story of teaching and learning with a curriculum that was developed and implemented collaboratively with students The authors demonstrate that when urban youth have time space emotional cultural pedagogical and trust and when the context for learning is grounded in radical love they will invest themselves in ways that afford authentic expression of their ingenuity and agency resulting in consequential learning and liberation Readers will see how students develop as whole people whose expressions identities and creativity build a sense of purpose and belonging fundamental to becoming an active agent of change in their community The content of the class was hip hop but the goal was liberation best class ever Book Features Centers youth as curriculum makers and authorities of their own experiences Discusses hip hop as a curriculum in and of itself Shows how teaching with youth culture contributes to meaningful learning Includes examples of curriculum units and classroom activities     The Consciousness Revolutions Shimon Edelman,2023-04-06 This book is about all things consciousness great and small It starts by pointing to the key characteristic of consciousness without realizing which it cannot be understood like everything else about the mind it is fundamentally a kind of computation Among many other matters this explains how it is that we share some aspects of consciousness with bacteria how it can arise in artificial machines and not just living ones how the empty cocoon of the self that it spins ends up pretending to be the butterfly and how consciousness dooms this virtual butterfly to the splendor and the suffering of being awake and aware Unlike most other books on consciousness this one includes a discussion of some possible ways whereby we pinned like butterflies by our species history and socioeconomic circumstances can awake to our collective predicament and join forces to do something about it It should be of interest to all readers who care about the nature of our lived experience and about our survival which depends on developing critical consciousness of our dire situation and the social dynamics that shape it     Working with Young People Xavier Úcar,Pere Soler-Masó,Anna Planas-Lladó,2020 It is common to refer to the dynamism and vitality of young people as a source of change creation and innovation but they are often also considered a problem that we do not know how to respond to Young people can make adults feel uncomfortable because they are neither children who can be told what to do nor adults to be treated as equals From the perspective of adults their status is socially and culturally ambiguous     Aphrodite and Eros Barbara Breitenberger,2013-05-13 This book offers a groundbreaking revision of the popular image of Aphrodite and Eros that lives on in Roman poetry Venus and Cupid and has inspired artists for centuries An interdisciplinary analysis of the Archaic period using literary iconographical and cultic evidence shows the distinct concept behind the two deities of love Aphrodite s character sphere of influence and function feature in her traditional myths and are well reflected in cult Eros however was not yet a similarly personified mythical figure at that stage nor did he have an individual cult Breitenberger follows the different stages of the development of Eros's personality Originally a cosmic entity and an unpersonified aspect of Aphrodite he was given his mythical identity by successive archaic lyric poets who were particularly keen to mythologize a male counterpart to the established love goddess Aphrodite This male love god turns out to be the divinized homoerotic ideal of the male aristocracy worshipped at their symposia The development of the male love god is taken as an example to demonstrate that poets' artistic innovation as well as their social and historical background played an important role in creating Greek mythology

Better Worlds Peter Roberts, John Freeman-Moir, 2013-02-21 Better Worlds Education Art and Utopia provides a fresh examination of utopia and education Adopting an interdisciplinary approach and drawing on literature and the visual arts as well as traditional non-fiction sources the authors explore utopia not as a model of social perfection but as the active imaginative building of better worlds Utopian questions they argue lie at the heart of education and addressing such questions demands attention not just to matters of theoretical principle but to the particulars of everyday life and experience Taking utopia seriously in educational thought also involves a consideration of that which is dystopian Utopia this book suggests is not something that is fixed final or ever fully realized instead it must be constantly recreated and education as an ongoing process of reflection action and transformation has a central role to play in this process

The Twilight of Cutting Saida Hodzic, 2017 The last three decades have witnessed a proliferation of nongovernmental organizations engaging in new campaigns to end the practice of female genital cutting across Africa These campaigns have in turn spurred new institutions discourses and political projects bringing about unexpected social transformations both intended and unintended Consequently cutting is waning across the continent At the same time these endings are misrecognized and disavowed by public and scholarly discourses across the political spectrum What does it mean to say that while cutting is ending the Western discourse surrounding it is on the rise And what kind of a feminist anthropology is needed in such a moment The Twilight of Cutting examines these and other questions from the vantage point of Ghanaian feminist and reproductive health NGOs that have organized campaigns against cutting for over thirty years The book looks at these NGOs not as solutions but as sites of problematization The purpose of understanding these Ghanaian campaigns their transnational and regional encounters and the forms of governmentality they produce is not to charge them with providing answers to the question how do we end cutting Instead it is to account for their work their historicity the life worlds and subjectivities they engender and the modes of reflection imminent critique and opposition they

Porfilio, 2011-03-01 This book simultaneously provides multiple analyses of critical pedagogy in the twenty first century while showcasing the scholarship of this new generation of critical scholar educators Needless to say the writers herein represent just a small subset of a much larger movement for critical transformation and a more humane less Eurocentric less paternalistic less homophobic less patriarchal less exploitative and less violent world This volume highlights the finding that rigorous critical pedagogical approaches to education while still marginalized in many contexts are being used in increasingly more classrooms for the benefit of student learning contributing however indirectly to the larger struggle against the barbarism of industrial neoliberal militarized destructiveness The challenge for critical pedagogy in the twenty first century from this point of view includes contributing to the manifestation of a truly global critical pedagogy that is epistemologically democratic and against human suffering and capitalist exploitation These rigorous democratic critical standards for measuring the value of our scholarship including this volume of essays should be the same that we use to critique and transform the larger society in which we live and work
