(Un)sighted Archives of Migration Cathrine Bublatzky, Fiona Siegenthaler, 2022-11-28 Un sighted Archives of Migration acknowledges that migration is a fundamental part of social practice and collective memory However archives that have undergone migration or were established by individuals or communities with migration experience gain little public and institutional attention This volume with its transversal perspective across the fields of art anthropology and social activism offers new perspectives on the enormous potential of migratory archives as resourceful spaces for encounter and remembrance and as a contribution to the plural collective memories and identities of post migratory societies Emphasizing the archival agency by migrants the chapters raise new questions with regard to the multi directional collaborative forms of knowledge production within and beyond an archive its boundaries and its materiality Focusing on the complexities of power relations spatial and temporal dynamics media practices and meaning production involved in the making maintenance viewing appropriation destruction and loss of such archives the chapters contribute to a critical methodological and theoretical discussion about un sighted archives as spaces of encounter and resistance in a liminal zone of visibility and invisibility This book was originally published as a special issue of Visual Anthropology

The Culture of Curating and the Curating of Culture(s) Paul O'Neill, 2016-09-02 How curating has changed art and how art has changed curating an examination of the emergence contemporary curatorship Once considered a mere caretaker for collections the curator is now widely viewed as a globally connected auteur Over the last twenty five years as international group exhibitions and biennials have become the dominant mode of presenting contemporary art to the public curatorship has begun to be perceived as a constellation of creative activities not unlike artistic praxis The curator has gone from being a behind the scenes organizer and selector to a visible centrally important cultural producer In The Culture of Curating and the Curating of Culture s Paul O'Neill examines the emergence of independent curatorship and the discourse that helped to establish it O'Neill describes how by the 1980s curated group exhibitions large scale temporary projects with artworks cast as illustrative fragments came to be understood as the creative work of curator auteurs The proliferation of new biennials and other large international exhibitions in the 1990s created a cohort of high profile globally mobile curators moving from Venice to Paris to Kassel In the 1990s curatorial and artistic practice converged blurring the distinction between artist and curator O'Neill argues that this change in the understanding of curatorship was shaped by a curator centered discourse that effectively advocated and authorized the new independent curatorial practice Drawing on the extensive curatorial literature and his own interviews with leading curators critics art historians and artists O'Neill traces the development of the curator as artist model and the ways it has been contested The Culture of Curating and the Curating of Culture s documents the many ways in which our perception of art has been transformed by curating and the discourses surrounding it
