Population and Society Dudley L. Poston, Jr., Leon F. Bouvier, 2010-04-07

Population and Society An Introduction to Demography is an ideal text for undergraduate as well as graduate students taking their first course in demography It is sociologically oriented although economics political science geography history and the other social sciences are also used to inform the materials Although the emphasis is on demography the book recognizes that at the individual level population change is related to private decisions especially in relation to fertility but also to mortality and migration The text thus considers in some detail the role of individuals in population decision making At the level of countries and even the world changes in population size have an important effect on the environmental and related challenges facing all of the world's inhabitants Therefore attention is paid to the broad implications of population growth and change

Jehovah's Witnesses

Edmond C. Gruss, 2001 Truth and Dare, Mathematical Modelling for Sustainable Development Marion

Hersh, 2006-01-02 Many people are convinced that Sustainable Development and Mathematics are completely unrelated Sustainable Development in its role of a value laden imperative for polluting and over consuming societies seems to be totally unconnected to mathematical reasoning and ignorant of the values behind its symbols Still they are not only connected they need each other Mathematics needs Sustainable Development When science was gradually reinvented in European medieval societies it was legitimised as contributing to the disclosure of God's divine creation The conflicts that emerged became well known as a result of the clash between Galileo and the Church Science found a new legitimacy through recognition that it was a powerful force against superstition In the Enlightenment the argument was pushed forward by attributing Progress to the advancement of science science could produce a better world by promoting rationality In our modern society science has become intimately linked to technology Science for its own sake unfortunately rarely has positive outcomes in terms of research grant applications Meanwhile science and technology and the progress they are supposed to produce meet with wide scale scepticism We all know of the current global problems climate change resource depletion a thinning ozone layer space debris declining biodiversity malnutrition dying ecosystems global inequity and the risk of unprecedented nuclear wars Science has to engage with these problems or lose its legitimacy
