Washington Square by Henry James Joseph Cowley,2016-01-20 Henry James was born in the United States in New York City on April 15 1843 and is considered an American writer though he spent most of his life in England and a year before his death in London on February 28 1916 became a British citizen He is regarded as one of the key literary figures of the 19th century writing mainly narrative fiction He influenced many other writers most notably Edith Wharton James was the son of Henry James Sr a well known intellectual of his day and the brother of William James Henry is known especially for the novels in which he portrays Americans encountering Europeans His style of writing often verbose and indirect especially in his later years can make him difficult to read Often too he writes from the point of view of the characters within a tale exploring issues related to consciousness and perception James contributed significantly to literary criticism especially in his later years when his works were republished with extensive introductions by James He insisted that writers be allowed the greatest freedom in their writing and that narrative fiction be true to life giving readers a view of life that is recognizable He felt that the only way to judge whether a novel is good or bad is by whether the author is good or bad His imaginative use of point of view interior monologue and narrators who were not necessarily reliable brought depth and interest to his fiction The Aspern Papers is one of his most notable short novels along with The Turn of the Screw In addition to fiction he published articles books of travel autobiography biography criticism and plays Among his masterpieces are Daisy Miller 1879 The Portrait of a Lady 1881 The Bostonians 1886 What Maisie Knew 1897 The Wings of the Dove 1902 and The Golden Bowl 1916 available in this series Classics Condensed by Cowley *Report of the Trial of Prof. John W.
