Lauzon, 2017-01-01 Building on the scholarship of key art historians and theorists such as Judith Butler and Mieke Bal

Claudette Lauzon embarks upon a transnational analysis of contemporary artists who challenge the assumption that home is a stable site of belonging Of What One Cannot Speak Mieke Bal, 2011-03-15 Doris Salcedo a Colombian born artist addresses the politics of memory and forgetting in work that embraces fraught situations in dangerous places Noted critic and theorist Mieke Bal narrates between the disciplines of contemporary culture in order to boldly reimagine the role of the visual arts Both women are pathbreaking figures globally renowned and widely respected Doris Salcedo meet Mieke Bal In

Of What One Cannot Speak Bal leads us into intimate encounters with Salcedo s art encouraging us to consider each work as a theoretical object that invites and demands certain kinds of considerations about history death erasure and grief Bal ranges widely through Salcedo s work from Salcedo s Atrabiliarios series in which the artist uses worn shoes to retrace los desaparecidos the disappeared from nations like Argentina Chile and Colombia to Shibboleth Salcedo s once in a lifetime commission by the Tate Modern for which she created a rupture as if by earthquake that stretched the length of the museum hall s concrete floor In each instance Salcedo s installations speak for themselves utilizing household items human bones and common domestic architecture to explore the silent spaces between violence trauma and identity Yet Bal draws out even deeper responses to the work questioning the nature of political art altogether and introducing concepts of metaphor time and space in order to contend with Salcedo s powerful sculptures and installations An unforgettable fusion of art and essay Of What One Cannot Speak takes us to the very core of events we are capable of remembering yet still uncomfortably cannot speak aloud Doris Salcedo Doris Salcedo, 1998 Doris Salcedo s work gives visible and concrete form to the inexpressible effects of terror pain and destruction which are the stock in trade of repressive political and military regimes specifically those in her native Colombia That it does so without recourse to the literal underscores the extraordinary complexity of her endeavor which investigates the relationship between the intimate poetic and unique nature of an individual s life and the

Affecting the Conflict: Mediations of the Colombian War in Contemporary Art and Film Rubén Darío Yepes

Muñoz, 2025-04-08 This book focuses on the art and films produced between the years 2002 and 2017 in relation to the Colombian armed conflict It asks the following questions How have contemporary art and film addressed the Colombian conflict What are the contributions of these forms of visual culture to the memorialization of the armed conflict and the overcoming of its negative legacies The main goal is to understand the ways in which contemporary art and film contribute to the historical and social transformations that Colombian society needs to undertake if it is to move beyond the violence and trauma of an internal war that has gone on for over fifty years and produced at least six million victims The main claim is that the artworks and films in question mediate the conflict rather than represent it In other words they bridge the distance between their urban audiences and the predominantly rural conflict Paying heed to the affective turn of the humanities and social sciences the book also claims that this mediation consists first and foremost an affective engagement with the conflict's history events and victims This affective engagement counters the apathy toward and removal from the conflict that has predominated in Colombian urban sectors Thus the singularity of this book lies in the fact that it studies a topic that has not been adequately addressed within English speaking academia as well as in its cross media and interdisciplinary scope Moreover it is noteworthy for the originality of its approach and especially its attention to affect A Hunger for

Aesthetics Michael Kelly, 2012-05-15 For decades aesthetics has been subjected to a variety of critiques often concerning its treatment of beauty or the autonomy of art Collectively these complaints have generated an anti aesthetic stance prevalent in the contemporary art world Yet if we examine the motivations for these critiques Michael Kelly argues we find theorists and artists hungering for a new kind of aesthetics one better calibrated to contemporary art and its moral and political demands Following an analysis of the work of Stanley Cavell Arthur Danto Umberto Eco Susan Sontag and other philosophers of the 1960s who made aesthetics more responsive to contemporary art Kelly considers Sontag's aesthetics in greater detail In On Photography 1977 she argues that a photograph of a person who is suffering only aestheticizes the suffering for the viewer's pleasure yet she insists in Regarding the Pain of Others 2003 that such a photograph can have a sustainable moral political effect precisely because of its aesthetics Kelly considers this dramatic change to be symptomatic of a cultural shift in our understanding of aesthetics ethics and politics He discusses these issues in connection with Gerhard Richter s and Doris Salcedo s art chosen because it is often identified with the anti aesthetic even though it is clearly aesthetic Focusing first on Richter s Baader Meinhof series Kelly concludes with Salcedo s enactments of suffering caused by social injustice Throughout A Hunger for Aesthetics he reveals the place of critique in contemporary art which if we understand aesthetics as critique confirms that it is integral to art Meeting the demand for aesthetics voiced by many who participate in art Kelly advocates for a critical aesthetics that confirms the power of art
