Dorset Dumpling The:

The Dorset Dumplings and the Two-plings at Paddling Bay Kay Ennals, 1994* Davy's Devon Herd Book Containing the Ages and Pedigrees of Pure Bred Devon Cattle with Supplemental Register and Dual-purpose Section Devon Cattle Breeders' Society, 1891 Silk Hay Hilary Townsend, 2012-06-01 Silk Hay is Hilary Townsend's account of the painstaking restoration of Silk Hay her medieval Tudor house in Dorset. It recounts in fascinating detail the historical and architectural background of the house and is laced through with the human story behind the renovation including the persistent setbacks, difficulties and frustrating delays that beset her during the thirty years the restoration took. As a passionate conservationist Hilary Townsend was delighted to discover the original Tudor curing cupboard and fireplace in the parlour of Silk Hay and eventually to her delight also discovered a crude sketch of a Crusader Knight carved on a re-used stone. The need to preserve Britain's architectural heritage is also discussed by Hilary in Silk Hay as she acknowledges the tremendous help she received from the Society for the Protection of Ancient Buildings and the invaluable grant from the Thomas Hardy Memorial Fund during the renovation of the house. This book is an eye witness account of 30 years of intensive restoration work on this medieval Tudor house by one unqualified woman. It will appeal to any readers interested in architecture, building restoration and to the general non-fiction reader. Silk Hay is also a significant record of the struggles of a lone female having to negotiate and employ successive groups of somewhat uncompromising male builders often in fraught and daunting circumstances. It also reveals how Silk Hay was a crucial inspiration to Douglas Adams for the bulldozer scene that opens The Hitchhiker's Guide to the Galaxy. Devon Herd Book John Tanner Davey, 1893 Punch, 1989 The Canadian National Record for Swine, 1922 British Berkshire Herd Book British Berkshire Society, 1899 History of the Devon breed of cattle J.
