their support to a liberalized trading system as did many conservatives on both sides of the Atlantic believing that the program would preserve some degree of free enterprise in the international economy Unfortunately for its disciples Woods argues multilateralism was so modified by the forces of isolationism and economic nationalism_and by bureaucratic politics in the United States_that it failed to achieve its economic and strategic goals The international economy that emerged after World War II was not an equitable partnership and merely finalized the fifty year process by which the United States supplanted Great Britain as the arbiter of Western Capitalism In the end modified multilateralism hampered rather than facilitated the free flow of goods and capital and it did little to promote social democracy National Library of Medicine
