Gateway to Memory Mark A. Gluck,Catherine E. Myers,2001 This book is for students and researchers who have a specific interest in learning and memory and want to understand how computational models can be integrated into experimental research on the hippocampus and learning It emphasizes the function of brain structures as they give rise to behavior rather than the molecular or neuronal details It also emphasizes the process of modeling rather than the mathematical details of the models themselves The book is divided into two parts The first part provides a tutorial introduction to topics in neuroscience the psychology of learning and memory and the theory of neural network models The second part the core of the book reviews computational models of how the hippocampus cooperates with other brain structures including the entorhinal cortex basal forebrain cerebellum and primary sensory and motor cortices to support learning and memory in both animals and humans The book assumes no prior knowledge of computational modeling or mathematics For those who wish to delve more deeply into the formal details of the models there are optional mathboxes and appendices The book also includes extensive references and suggestions for further readings
