Double Bind:

System and Writing in the Philosophy of Jacques Derrida Christopher Johnson, 1993-04-15 This is an important new critical analysis of Derrida's theory of writing based on close readings of key texts. It reveals a dimension of Derrida's thinking that has been neglected in favor of those deconstructionist clichés favored by much recent literary criticism. Christopher Johnson highlights the special character of Derrida's philosophy that comes from his contact with contemporary natural science and with systems theory. This study casts new light on an exacting set of intellectual issues facing philosophy and critical theory today.

Satanic Ritual Abuse Colin A. Ross, 1995-01-01 Although Dr. Ross has found no evidence of a widespread Satanic network, he is open to the possibility that a certain percentage of his patients' memories may be entirely or partially historically accurate. In treatment, he recommends that the therapist adopt an attitude hovering between disbelief and credulous entrapment.

Crimes of Punishment Theodore L. Dorpat, 2007 This groundbreaking book by an award-winning psychoanalyst and forensic psychiatrist presents a comprehensive exploration of a timely but often taboo topic: the failure of punishment to deter crime and violence, an issue that affects us both individually and as a culture. Written at the culmination of the author's fifty-year career as a psychoanalyst, forensic psychologist, and scholar, this wide-ranging work identifies the origins of violence and investigates the surprising consequences of punishment from a multitude of perspectives. In his treatment of the topic, Dr. Dorpat utilizes scientific research, ethical reasoning, and his vast clinical experience and insight. He also suggests the benefits of new and emerging humane alternatives to the revenge punishment model currently entrenched in our society, such as restorative justice. In contrast to most contemporary measures, these new approaches, while still imprisoning dangerous individuals, effectively stress reparation and forms of sanctioning other than incarceration. When restitution replaces revenge, everyone benefits. Crimes of Punishment examines four key interrelated social methods of punishment: These are 1) the corporal punishment of children, 2) the incarceration of adults in prisons, 3) capital punishment, the death penalty, and 4) emotional/verbal abuse. As he elucidates and analyzes each of these forms of punishment, Dr. Dorpat clearly and logically makes the case that punishment is not only ineffectual but that it also engenders more of what it ostensibly aims to stop: violence and misbehavior. Both children and adults who are subjected to punishment tend to become more violent individuals. In covering the full scope of our contemporary justice system, Dr. Dorpat brings to the forefront those who are often overlooked or dismissed: the victims of crime. His concluding chapters present and clarify the psychological wounds and needs of these individuals and demonstrate how restorative justice is effective in attending to victims in an ethical and healing manner In a humane and ethically evolved society restitution replaces punishment Market Comparison Crimes of Punishment is unique in that it covers not just one but four different types of punishment the corporal punishment of children the incarceration of adults the death penalty and verbal emotional abuse Two earlier books written by psychiatrists expose the terrible conditions in America's prisons They are The Crime of Punishment New York Viking 1968 by Karl Menninger and Prison Madness by Terry Kupers San Francisco Jossey Bass 1999 This book differs in two important ways from the books written by Menninger and Kupers First The Crimes of Punishment covers other kinds of punishment while those authors deal only with the punishment of incarceration Secondly the reforms they recommend are merely piecemeal modifications of the present criminal justice systems whereas Dr Dorpat argues for a radical change that includes the abolition of today's punitive prison Retributive Justice system and the establishment of a new and different system namely Restorative justice a system that has been developed over the past decade in Australia and New Zealand The Crimes of Punishment differs from Menninger's book in covering the many changes that have occurred in prisons since 1968 In several short chapters on restorative justice the book also explores this exciting new approach and serves as an informed introduction to a new important and effective moral approach to the treatment of criminals Social Work Treatment 4th Edition Francis J. Turner, 1996-09-01 Mental Health and Psychiatric Nursing Janet L. Davies, Ellen Hastings Janosik, 1991

Resistances of Psychoanalysis Jacques Derrida, 1998 In the three essays that make up this stimulating and often startling book Jacques Derrida argues against the notion that the basic ideas of psychoanalysis have been thoroughly worked through argued and assimilated The continuing interest in psychoanalysis is here examined in the various resistances to analysis conceived not only as a phenomenon theorized at the heart of psychoanalysis but as psychoanalysis's resistance to itself an insusceptibility to analysis that has to do with the structure of analysis itself Derrida not only shows how the interest of psychoanalysis and psychoanalytic writing can be renewed today but these essays afford him the opportunity to revisit and reassess a subject he first confronted in an essay on Freud in 1966 They also serve to clarify Derrida's thinking about the subjects of the essays Freud Lacan and Foucault a thinking that especially with regard to the last two has been greatly distorted and misunderstood The first essay on Freud is a tour de force of close reading of Freud's texts as philosophical reflection By means of the fine distinctions Derrida makes in this analytical reading particularly of The Interpretation of Dreams he opens up the realm of analysis into new and unpredictable forms such as meeting with an interdiction when taking an analysis further is forbidden by a structural limit Following the essay that might be dubbed Derrida's return to Freud the next is devoted to Lacan the figure for whom that phrase was something of a slogan In this essay and the next on Foucault Derrida reencounters two thinkers to whom he had earlier devoted important essays which precipitated stormy discussions and numerous divisions within the intellectual milieus influenced by their writings In this essay which skillfully integrates the concept of resistance into larger questions Derrida asks in effect What is the origin and nature of the text that constitutes Lacanian psychoanalysis considering its existence as an archive as teachings as seminars transcripts quotations etc Derrida's third essay may be called not simply a criticism but an appreciation of Foucault's work an appreciation not only in the psychological and rhetorical sense but also in the sense that it elevates Foucault's thought by giving back to it ranges and nuances lost through its reduction by his readers his own texts and its formulaic packaging

Growing Wings on the Way Rosalind Armson, 2011-05-31 This book is about dealing with messes Sometimes known as wicked problems messes or messy situations are fairly easy to spot it's hard to know where to start we can't define them everything seems to connect to everything else and depends on something else having been done first we get in a muddle thinking about them we often try to ignore some aspects of them when we finally do something about them they usually get worse they're so entangled that our first mistake is usually to try and fix them as we would fix a simple problem
