

A black and white photograph of a man, likely a stoker, working in a dark, industrial environment. He is wearing a cap and overalls, and is using a long-handled tool to move coal. In the background, there are large mechanical components, including a large propeller or fan, and various pipes and chains. The lighting is dramatic, with strong highlights and deep shadows.

Way Down in the Hole Angela J. Hattery, Earl Smith, 2022-10-14 Based on ethnographic observations and interviews with prisoners correctional officers and civilian staff conducted in solitary confinement units Way Down in the Hole explores the myriad ways in which daily intimate interactions between those locked up twenty four hours a day and the correctional officers charged with their care custody and control produce and reproduce hegemonic racial ideologies Smith and Hattery explore the outcome of building prisons in rural economically depressed communities staffing them with white people who live in and around these communities filling them with Black and brown bodies from urban areas and then designing the structure of solitary confinement units such that the most private intimate daily bodily functions take place in very public ways Under these conditions it shouldn't be surprising but is rarely considered that such daily interactions produce and reproduce white racial resentment among many correctional officers and fuel the racialized tensions that prisoners often describe as the worst forms of dehumanization Way Down in the Hole concludes with recommendations for reducing the use of solitary confinement reforming its use in a limited context and most importantly creating an environment in which prisoners and staff co exist in ways that recognize their individual humanity and reduce rather than reproduce racial antagonisms and racial resentment Way Down the Hole Video 1 <https://youtu.be/UuAB63fhge0> Way Down the Hole Video 2 <https://youtu.be/TwEuwl1cTrcQ> Way Down the Hole Video 3 https://youtu.be/bOcBv_UnHIs Way Down the Hole Video 4 https://youtu.be/cx_l1S8D77c

The ^AYouth Gang Problem Irving A. Spergel, 1995-06-01 Every day there are new stories of gang related crime from the proliferation of illegal weapons in the streets and children dealing drugs in their schools to innocent bystanders caught in the crossfire of never ending gang wars Once considered an urban phenomenon gang violence is permeating American life spreading to the suburbs and bringing the problem closer to home for much of America The government schools social agencies and the justice system are conspicuous by their sporadic interest in the subject and have failed to develop effective policies and programs Existing social support mechanisms and strategies for suppressing violence have often been unsuccessful And state and federal policy is largely nonexistent In The Youth Gang Problem A Community Approach Irving Spergel provides a systematic analysis of youth gangs in the United States Based on research historical and comparative analysis and agency documents and the author's extensive first hand experience the work explores the gang problem from the perspective of community disorganization especially population movement and the plight of the underclass It examines the factors of gang member personality gang dynamics criminal organization and the influence of family school prisons and politics as well as the response of criminal justice agencies and community groups Spergel describes techniques used by social agencies schools employment programs criminal justice agencies and grass roots organizations for dealing with gangs and recommends strategies that emphasize the use of local resources planning and collaborative procedures

There is no single strategy and no easy solution to the youth gang problem in the United States There are however substantial steps we can take and they must be honestly and systematically tested Offering a practical and alternative approach to a serious social problem The Youth Gang Problem A Community Approach is a major and long awaited contribution to this dilemma It is required reading for criminal justice personnel school staff social workers policy makers students and scholars of urban and organizational sociology and the general reader concerned with the youth gang problem and how to control intervene and prevent it Daily Report, Foreign Radio Broadcasts United States. Public Engagement and Social Science Stella Maile,David J. Griffiths,2014 Drawing on social science conversations at a lively caf in Bristol this highly original book explores the value of public engagement in a wider social science context The chapters range from themes such as the dialogic character of the social sciences pragmatism in responses and the underpinnings of managerial approaches to the restructuring of higher education The first part reflects upon the different social and political inflections of public engagement It is followed by chapters based upon talks at the caf that were concerned with public engagement and the contribution of social science to a reflexive understanding of the dilemmas and practices of daily life Together the contributors offer a refreshing look at the role of social science in the societies it examines
