

An aerial photograph of a river delta, likely the Murray-Darling Basin in Australia. The image shows a complex network of water channels and numerous green, vegetated islands and sandbars. The water is a pale, silty blue, and the land is a vibrant green. The perspective is from directly above, looking down on the landscape.

Down To Earth Australian Landscapes:

Down to Earth Richard Woldendorp, 1999 Storymen Hannah Rachel Bell, 2009-11-04 What do the artistic works of acclaimed author Tim Winton and eminent Ngarinyin lawman Bungul David Mowaljarlai have in common According to Hannah Rachel Bell they both reflect sacred relationship with the natural world the biological imperative of a male rite of passage an emergent urban tribalism and the fundamental role of story in the transmission of cultural knowledge In Bell's four decade friendship with Mowaljarlai she had to confront the cultural assumptions that sculpted her way of seeing The journey was life changing When she returned to teaching in 2001 Tim Winton's novels featured in the curriculum She recognised an eerie familiarity and thought Winton must have been influenced by traditional elders to express such an indigenous perspective She wrote to him This resulted in 4 years of correspondence and an excavation of converging world views exposed through personal memoir letters paintings and conversations and culminating in Storymen Australia's Wild Places Roger McDonald, 2009 Drawing on the extensive collection of the National Library of Australia this book highlights the fingerprints humans have left on the landscape through the lenses of Australia's greatest photographers Roger McDonald has written an insightful introductory essay as well as extended captions describing his response Australia's Wild Weather Mark Tredinnick, National Library of Australia, 2011 Weather is the oldest story in the world one we want to keep on telling each other when we meet as though it were part of who we are a story that wants to keep on telling itself and affecting us whether we like it or not We breathe it in we see embodied in it our fears and desires it falls on our heads And we'd better take care of it our lives are in its hands Marrying photographs from the collection of the National Library of Australia with an evocative and contemplative essay by poet Mark Tredinnick Australia's Wild Weather is a lyric field guide to Australia's climate Tredinnick considers what it means to be living at time when weather is no longer small talk it is most of the news Beautifully written the author contemplates what weather means to us and how it affects our daily lives

Postcolonial Literatures of Climate Change, 2022-07-04 Postcolonial Literatures of Climate Change investigates the evolving nature of postcolonial literary criticism in response to global regional and local environmental transformations brought about by climate change It builds upon and extends previous studies in postcolonial ecocriticism to demonstrate how the growing awareness of human caused global warming has begun to permeate literary consciousness praxis and analysis The breadth of the volume's coverage the diversity of its focal locations cultures genres and texts serves as a salient reminder that while climate change is global its impacts vary affecting peoples from place to place unequally and often in accordance with their particular historical experience of colonialism and neo colonialism as well as their ongoing marginalisations Demonstrating the urgency of invoking novel epistemological approaches combining the scientific and the imaginative this book is a must read for those concerned about the present and potential impacts of climate change on formerly colonised areas of the world The comprehensive and illuminating Introduction offers a crucial history and current state of postcolonial ecocriticism as it has been and is addressing climate crises Helen Tiffin University of Wollongong The broad focus on the polar regions the Pacific and the Caribbean with added essays on environmental justice activism in India and Egypt opens up rich terrain for examination under the rubric of postcolonial and ecocritical analysis not only expanding recent studies in this field but also enabling new comparisons and conceptual linkages Helen Gilbert Royal Holloway University of London The subject is topical and vital and will become even more so as the problem of how to reconcile the demands of climate change with the effects on regions and individual nations already damaged by the economic effects of colonisation and the subsequent inequalities resulting from neo colonialism continues to grow Gareth Griffiths Em Prof University of Western Australia

Re-writing Spatiality Britta Kühlenbeck, 2010 The objective of this project is to encourage new ways of thinking about the meaning and significance of space It follows a desire that has been expressed and theorized by Henri Lefebvre and by extension Edward W Soja to remove Spatiality from the margin of the Triad of Being and to bring it into the Triad fold alongside with and of at least equal significance to Historicity and Sociality The thesis focuses on how space of the Pilbara region in Western Australia is produced in contemporary Australian writing film art and through lived experience The thesis argues for an understanding of space as essentially dynamic Connect with Nature Dr Les Higgins, 2021-11-01 If you want a deeper connection with nature this book is for you It will help you form a relationship with nature that can improve happiness well being and health At the same time it will foster in you a desire to take care of the natural environment Literary Activists, 2009-09 Uniquely examining the link between Australian writers and social change this study investigates the motives behind literary figures who strive to become activists and social intellectuals Exploring this intimate connection this resource asks what such a bond reveals about Australian literature and the power of the written word With fresh insight this guide delves into the activism careers and writings of Judith Wright Patrick White Oodgeroo of the tribe of Noonuccal Les Murray Helen Garner David Malouf and Tim Winton Australian Landscapes P. Bishop, B. Pillans, Brad Pillans, 2010 Australian Landscapes provides an up to date statement on the geomorphology of Australia Karst desert bedrock rivers coasts submarine geomorphology biogeomorphology and tectonics are all covered aided by the latest geochronological techniques and remote sensing approaches The antiquity and enduring geomorphological stability of the Australian continent are emphasized in several chapters but the cutting edge techniques used to establish that stability also reveal much complexity including areas of considerable recent tectonic activity and a wide range of rates of landscape change Links to the biological sphere are explored in relation both to the lengthy human presence on the continent and to a biota that resulted from Cenozoic aridification of the continent dated using new techniques New syntheses of glaciation in Tasmania aridification in South Australia and aeolian activity all focus on Quaternary landscape evolution The Dutch Down Under Nonja Peters, 2006 The celebrations of the first 400 years of relations between The Commonwealth of Australia and The Kingdom of The Netherlands mark a very special and important event for both countries The shared relationship between the two countries was first established in 1606 when the Dutch vessel Duyfken mapped part of the coast near present day Weipa Cape York Peninsula of the continent that would in time become known as Australia This event led to further encounters between early maritime pioneers and traces of early Dutch influence are still found in such Australian place names as Tasmania and Cape Leeuwin Over time subsequent global events forged closer links between the two countries as part of the post war migration from a war ravaged Europe to the population hungry Australia almost 170 000 Dutch nationals arrived down under It was this migration from Europe in the 1950s that allowed the Australian economy to move forward into more prosperous times Today there are some 270 000 Australian residents who were either born in the Netherlands or who claim Dutch ancestry The Dutch Down Under 1606 2006 provides illuminating commentary from 23 contributing authors on the history of these relationships and on the socio economic and cultural impact of the migration on both Dutch residents in Australia and their families in the Netherlands

Rethinking Wilderness and the Wild Robyn Bartel, Marty Branagan, Fiona Utley, Stephen Harris, 2020-10-29 Rethinking Wilderness and the Wild Conflict Conservation and Co existence examines the complexities surrounding the concept of wilderness Contemporary wilderness scholarship has tended to fall into two categories the so called fortress conservation and co existence schools of thought This book contending that this polarisation has led to a silencing and concealment of alternative perspectives and lines of enquiry extends beyond these confines and in particular steers away from the dilemmas of paradise or paradox in order to advance an intellectual and policy agenda of plurality and diversity rather than of prescription and definition Drawing on case studies from Australia Aotearoa New Zealand the United States and Iceland and explorations of embodied experience creative practice philosophy and First Nations land management approaches the assembled chapters examine wilderness ideals conflicts and human nature dualities afresh and examine co existence and conservation in the Anthropocene in diverse ontological and multidisciplinary ways By demonstrating a strong commitment to respecting the knowledge and perspectives of Indigenous peoples this work delivers a more nuanced ethical and decolonising approach to issues arising from relationships with wilderness Such a collection is immediately appropriate given the political challenges and social complexities of our time and the mounting threats to life across the globe The abiding and uniting logic of the book is to offer a unique and innovative contribution to engender transformations of wilderness scholarship activism and conservation policy This text refutes the inherent privileging and exclusionary tactics of dominant modes of enquiry that too often serve to silence non human and contrary positions It reveals a multi faceted and contingent wilderness alive with agency diversity and possibility This book will be of great interest to students and scholars of conservation environmental and natural resource management Indigenous studies and environmental policy and planning It will also be of interest to practitioners policymakers and NGOs involved in conservation protected environments and environmental governance

The Land's Wild Music Mark Tredinnick, 2011-04-14 The Land's Wild Music explores the home terrains and the writing of four great American writers of place Barry Lopez Peter Matthiessen Terry Tempest Williams and James Galvin In their work and its relationship with their home places Tredinnick an Australian writer searches for answers to such questions such as whether it is possible for a writer to make an authentic witness of a place how one captures the landscape as it truly is and how one joins the place in witness so that its lyric becomes one's own and enters into one's own work He asks what it might mean to enact an ecological imagination of the world and whether it might be possible to see the work and the writer as part of the place itself The work is a meditation on the nature of landscape and its power to shape the lives and syntax of men and women It is animated by the author's encounters with Lopez Matthiessen Williams and Galvin by critical readings of their work and by the author's engagement with the landscapes that have shaped these writers and their writing the Cascades Long Island the Colorado Plateau and the high prairies of the Rocky Mountains Tredinnick seeks the spring of nature writing deep in the nature of a place itself carried in a writer's wild self inside and resonated over and over again at the desk until it is a work in which the place itself sings GreenSpirit Marian Van Eyk McCain, 2010-04-30 The definitive book on 21st Century green spirituality and its key role in creating a peaceful just and sustainable world Australian Writers, 1975-2000 Selina Samuels, 2006 Essays on the literary historiography of Australia provide an overview of prominent and influential Australian writers of the literary and cultural movements from 1975 to 2000 A period marked by strong female voices and concern to represent the female experience Discusses the wide stylistic sweep of the Australian writers of this period the diversity of poetry dramatists who wrote scripts for movies and television and traditional genres such as fiction and drama
