Earth Frank H. T. Rhodes, 2012-06-10 It s impossible to grasp the whole planet or integrate all the descriptions of it But because we live here we have to try This is not just an artistic compulsion or an existential yearning still less an academic exercise It s a survival issue This is the only planet we have We re stuck here and we don t own the place it would be the height of arrogance to assume that we do We re tenants here not owners but we re tenants with hope for a long term tenancy We want to extend our lease just as far as we can from Earth A Tenant s Manual In Earth A Tenant s Manual the distinguished geologist Frank H T Rhodes President Emeritus of Cornell University provides a sweeping accessible and deeply informed guide to the home we all share showing us how we might best preserve the Earth s livability for ourselves and future generations Rhodes begins by setting the scene for our active planet and explaining how its location and composition determine how the Earth works and why it teems with life He emphasizes the changes that are of concern to us today from earthquakes to climate change and the clashes over the energy resources needed for the Earth s exploding population He concludes with an extended exploration of humanity s prospects on a complex protean and ultimately finite world It is not a question of whether the planet is sustainable the challenge facing life on Earth and the life of the Earth is whether an expanding and high consumption species like ours is sustainable Only new resources new priorities new policies and most of all new knowledge can reverse the damage that humanity is doing to our home and ourselves A sustainable human future Rhodes concludes in this eloquent sobering but ultimately optimistic book will require a sense of responsible stewardship for we are not owners of this planet we are tenants Surveying the systems large and small that govern Earth s processes and influence its changes Rhodes addresses the negative consequences of human activities for the health of its regulatory systems but offers practical suggestions as to how we might effect repairs or at least limit further damage to our home

Environment : Problems and Solutions D K Asthana, 2001 For Degree and Post Graduate Students

The Human Needs Valentin Matcas, 2013-03-20 Everything that you do in life you do to fulfill your needs including your social demands eating development addictions sleeping reproduction social competition and learning While you can do so at all cognitive existential and social levels depending on means demands and abilities Furthermore you always follow laws in the world as you fulfill your needs but can you follow these simultaneously You may smile slightly here since experience is personalized and therefore unique throughout the world but what exactly is going on Why should you ever encounter problems as a living human being in a human world What are your needs and feelings exactly and what do they make you do

Who sends you your own personal natural human needs And is everything that you know about the human needs pertinent enough to assure a meaningful successful fulfilling life Because everybody ends up in dreadful circumstances at times struggling with countless of problems it happens to you and to those around so why should you have to fail in life at least partially as a human being while following rules and the human needs simultaneously And since this happens to everybody can humans actually be at fault Because if humans themselves are considered wrong incapable or compromised in an actual human world through their own natural needs and feelings then what exactly do laws and authorities seek here if they do not serve humans society needs and fulfillment the most Because now it seems that authorities hold you responsible for everything that life sends your way ending up contradicting and judging life through you and punishing you dreadfully While many times it is done so on purpose to reach you or to take you out of the way Since everybody becomes involved when you fail and you have to be highly capable today to manage both life and society simultaneously And to make matters more complex you cannot find to learn anything on this topic but only laws codes stereotypes and irrelevant or trivial beliefs And now when you study everything closely you see how the human experience in this world is marked by the human needs and feelings on one side and by people s ignorance about the human needs and feelings on the other Throughout this book we study the comprehensive human existence very closely as it starts with the human needs We identify and analyze all needs feelings fulfillment behavior reasoning and meaning while understanding life and the wider world altogether If you seek to learn more about yourself and your own needs and feelings this book is for you environmental issues The contributors are internationally known figures drawn from a range of different disciplines including geography psychology social policy and philosophy The contributions range from those tackling individual concrete issues such as nuclear waste and the threat to the rain forest to those addressing matters of policy principle and attitude such as our obligations to future generations and the nature of technological risk Emphasis lies not only on scientific facts but on ethical perspectives principles of trust cooperation far sightedness respect and concern for the future The Environment in Question is designed as a text for students of philosophy environmental science environmental education ecology and teacher education It can be used as a self contained inter disciplinary course book or in conjunction with relevant material In addition this collection of previously unpublished essays will interest professionals in each field as well as the interested layperson concerned about this planet s future The substantial cross section of concerns and approaches will provide all readers with the necessary background and insights to develop an awareness of the problems and to enter into the environmental debate

Development and the Environmental Crisis Michael Redclift, 2010-11-26 First published in 1984 Michael Redclift s book makes the global environmental crisis a central concern of political economy and its structural causes a central concern of environmentalism Michael Redclift argues that a close analysis of the environmental crisis in the South reveals the importance of the share of resources obtained by different social groups The development strategies based on the experiences and interests of Western capitalist countries fail to recognise that environmental degradation in the South is a product of inequalities in both global and local economic relations and cannot be solved simply by applying solutions borrowed from environmentalism in the North The key to understanding the South s environmental problems lies in the recognition that structural processes markets technology state intervention are also a determining influence upon the way natural resources are used Through his review of Europe s Green Movement contemporary breakthroughs in biotechnology and information systems and recent feminist discourse Michael Redclift has enlarged the compass of the environmental debate and produced a book which should serve as a benchmark in future discussions of development and the environment It will be of importance to students in a range of disciplines within development studies geography ecology and the social sciences
