Obligations and Omissions Rebecca Tiessen, Stephen Baranyi, 2017-06-12 On issues pertaining to women and girls Stephen Harper's federal government positioned Canada as a beacon of light in the world Programs were developed in relation to women's maternal health and the protection of the girl child but other actions point to an ambiguous and even contradictory approach that failed to address gender inequality In Obligations and Omissions contributors examine Canada's equivocal and diminished role in working toward gender equality in the period between 2006 and 2015 Using a critical feminist lens to document analyze and challenge Canada's relations with the Global South chapters explore the extent to which matters of gender equality have been erased or exploited under the Harper government and the factors that explain these policy shifts. While the contributors document successes in Canada's approach to some issues facing women and girls around the world, they also show many problems with the ways that agenda was framed and implemented under the Conservative government. Drawing on rich theoretical investigation, empirical research and discourse analysis, Obligations and Omissions reveals a complex picture of diverse practices underscoring the implications of these actions for communities in the Global South for Canada's image in the international community and for future governments in the pursuit of a renewed gender equality strategy.

Rethinking National Action Plans on Women, Peace and Security Sahla Aroussi, 2017-05-15. At the time of its adoption in October 2000, United Nations Security Council resolution 1325 on Women, Peace and Security (WPS) was hailed as a turning point for women involved in conflicts, peacemaking, peacekeeping and post-conflict reconstruction. Resolution 1325 required all efforts aimed at resolving conflicts and building peace to be inclusive, gender sensitive and transformative for women. In recent years, National Action Plans (NAPs) on WPS have become one of the most commonly used tools by states to channel, assess and monitor the implementation of resolution 1325 and other UN WPS resolutions. This book presents an edited version of the proceedings of the NATO Advanced Research Workshop (ARW) on National Action Plans on Women, Peace and Security held in Dublin, Ireland, in May 2016. The workshop brought together representatives from various states as well as academics and members of civil society and international organizations to discuss their experiences with NAPs and to critically reflect on the role of NAPs in supporting the implementation by states of the WPS framework. The aim of this book is to disseminate the key arguments, findings and recommendations which emerged from the discussions held at the ARW. It includes a summary report which sets out key arguments and recommendations and offers a number of key papers from the ARW with the intention of contributing to academic and policy debates concerning gender and armed conflict and more particularly the WPS framework.

Enhancing Women's Roles in Preventing and Countering Violent Extremism (P/CVE) Rogelio Alonso, José Herrera, Lilah El Sayed, 2019-02-15. Women can make a unique and valuable contribution to countering terrorism and violent extremism. Their participation in the wider fight against terrorism and violent extremism is essential. This is why NATO continues to encourage its allies and partners to engage more systematically on the nexus between gender and counter terrorism. This book presents edited contributions presented at the NATO Advanced Research Workshop (ARW) Enhancing Women's Roles in International Preventing and Countering Violent Extremism Efforts held in Madrid, Spain, from 19-21 March 2018, organized by Hedayah and the Fundación para el Análisis y los Estudios Sociales (FAES). The workshop was aimed at building on existing good practice and recommendations from the fields of countering violent extremism (CVE) and women, peace and security (WPS), recognizing that while many women facilitate acts of terrorism, willingly support terrorist groups and perform terrorist acts, they can also play a key role in preventing the violent extremism. The fight against terrorism requires a whole society approach in which women's participation is essential.

Contributors to this volume explore the extent to which terrorism and violent extremism are gendered activities. They also discuss the importance of women's social and political participation in helping to counter acts of terror and violence. Evidence-based research is used to identify how women can be empowered to enhance the fight against terrorism and to identify opportunities for substantive meaningful roles across a wide spectrum of counter terrorism activities. Given current and emerging threats, the book focuses in particular on NATO countries, partners in the Middle East and North Africa, and will be of particular interest to all those involved with security and gender issues. Role of Participation in Sustainable
