Dowsing Francis Hitching,1978 For at least 7 000 years people have been fascinated and perplexed with the uncanny behavior of the divining rod Dowsing was practiced by the ancient Babylonians Chinese and Egyptians in Biblical times and by the 19th Century there were countless recorded examples of the dowser s rod or pendulum being used not just to find water or mines but almost any lost or hidden object that can be imagined In Part One of this book Francis Hitching explores the history and tradition of dowsing and reveals how we can learn to dowse The second section describes the scientific search to understand dowsing and documents the latest research on dowsing by the U S government and others particularly the British and the Russians In his conclusion Hitching relates the art of dowsing to other types of paranormal abilities and psychic manifestations and develops the connection between dowsing psi and the frontiers of human consciousness This book places dowsing in its widest context unlocking doors to a strange and unknown world back cover

Lost in Transition Aaron D. Purcell, 2023-08-18 In Lost in Transition Removing Resettling and Renewing Appalachia Aaron D Purcell presents a thematic and chronological exploration of twentieth century removal and resettlement projects across southern Appalachia The book shares complex stories of loss and recollection that have grown and evolved over time This edited volume contains seven case studies of public land removal actions in Virginia Kentucky the Carolinas and Tennessee from the 1930s through the 1960s Some of the removals include the Tennessee Valley Authority and the Norris Basin Shenandoah National Park and the New River the Great Smoky Mountains National Park and the Keowee Toxaway Project in northwestern South Carolina Each essay asks key questions How did governmental entities throughout the twentieth century deal with land acquisition and removal of families and communities What do the oral histories of the families and communities particularly from different generations tell us about the legacies of these removals This collection reveals confrontations between past and present federal agencies and citizens and the original accounts of removal and resettlement and contemporary interpretations The result is a blending of practical historical concerns with contemporary nostalgia and romanticism which often deepen the complexity of Appalachian cultural life Lost in Transition provides a nuanced and insightful study of removal and resettlement projects that applies critical analysis of fact mythology and storytelling It illustrates the important role of place in southern Appalachian history This collection is a helpful resource to anthropologists folklorists and Appalachian studies scholars and a powerful volume of stories for all readers who reflect upon the importance of place and home

The Blind Atheist Walter Henry Wright, 2009 Atheists getting bolder are putting messages on London buses that challenge religion head on One atheist book in particular suggested that religious instruction should be removed from the school curriculum and replaced with evolutionary science In reply this book looks at atheism morality science and Godless societies It demonstrates that science at its roots depends on faith as much as religion Undeniably there are paranormal events that defy a scientific explanation Scholars may argue their sophistries but religious experience has a certainty about it that has even martyred some believers The world that we sense is not so rigid as we think The interpretation of our senses is all in the mind and even the Past Present and Future are not as we normally perceive them This book destroys our preconceptions on these subjects and shakes the unwarranted certainty of the atheistic position
