Agriculture of the Hidatsa Indians Gilbert Livingstone Wilson, Waheenee, 2022-05-29 Gilbert Livingstone Wilson's Agriculture of the Hidatsa Indians offers a meticulous ethnographic record of the agricultural practices of the Hidatsa a Native American tribe traditionally located in what is now North Dakota Crafted from the intimate and detailed narratives of Buffalo Bird Woman and her son the book transcends mere scholarly exposition to become a living document of a deeply intertwined relationship among people their culture and the land Wilson's literary style is both precise and narrative embedding the reader in the context of early 20th century ethnography and the larger socio-historical framework of the American indigenous experience in the face of expanding settler society The comprehensive depiction of the Hidatsa's techniques from crop selection to harvest festivals reflects a profound cultural understanding that eschews external interpretation in favor of indigenous voice and perspective Educated at Harvard University and devoted to the systematic study of Native American cultures Wilson's bond with the

Hidatsa through Buffalo Bird Woman and her son granted him unparalleled insights into their world This collaboration is a testament to Wilson s methodological innovation prioritizing authentic voice in ethnographic research His commitment captures the essence of the tribe s agricultural expertise presenting it as both a scientific account and a cultural testament Agriculture of the Hidatsa Indians will resonate with scholars of ethnography anthropology and agricultural history as well as with those interested in Indigenous knowledge systems and environmental studies This text is an indispensable resource offering readers an immersive experience into Hidatsa society serving not only as an academic reference but as a tribute to the resilience and ingenuity of the Hidatsa people and their harmonious agricultural traditions The New York Times
