Alan Sorrell, 1980 Alan Sorrell Alan Sorrell, National Museum of Wales, 1980 Re-creations Mark Redknap, 2002 This beautiful book looks at the ways we illustrate our past through the eyes of artists craftspeople historians and scientists

Envisioning the Past Sam Smiles, Stephanie Moser, 2008-04-15 Envisioning the Past Archaeology and the Image is a groundbreaking collection of original essays that brings together archaeologists art historians and anthropologists to provide new perspectives on the construction of knowledge concerning the antiquity of man Covers a wide variety of time periods and topics from the Renaissance and the 18th century to the engravings photography and virtual realities of today Questions what we can learn from considering the use of images in the past and present that might guide our responsible use of them in the future Available within the prestigious New Interventions in Art History series published in connection with the Association of Art Historians

Pinning Down the Past Mike Corbishley, 2014-04-17 In a relatively short period of time the pursuit of archaeology has evolved from an antiquarian interest to a specialised scientific activity Part of this evolution has always included the interest of the public and archaeologists efforts to educate them As each new method and technique is developed and each new specialism is created the challenge of making archaeology available as a learning resource grows with it Today for example the issues which surround archaeology and heritage such as the pressures of tourism on sites now form part of many formal educational curricula This book the first to deal with the subject in such depth examines the place of education and outreach within the wider archaeological community Written by one of Britain s leading archaeological educationalists it charts the sometimes difficult and painful growth and development of education and archaeology Packed full of informative and enlightening case studies from the circus at Colchester to Sutton Hoo and Hadrian s Wall this work examines exactly how we have reached the point we are at where that place is and suggests areas for future development By drawing upon many decades of experience at the front line of archaeological education the author has produced a key text that will play a major role in the on going development of the heritage industry Publisher s website The British Library General Catalogue of Printed Books 1976 to 1982 British Library, 1983 Art and Artists ,1980 The British Neo-Romantics, 1935-1950 ,1983 Annual Report - National Library of Wales National Library of Wales, 1980 British Archaeological Abstracts ,1982

Charter of Incorporation and Report of the Progress of the Library from the Granting of the Charter National Library of Wales, 1981 Armies, Chivalry and Warfare in Medieval Britain and France Matthew Strickland, 1998 The proceedings of the 1995 Harlaxton Symposium comprise twenty essays which testify to the diversity of current approaches to the study of medieval warfare employing not only a variety of chronicle and documentary sources but also contemporary literature and iconography from the early middle ages to the sixteen century Contributors include Maurice Keen Christopher Allmand Carol Edgington Richard Morris Jim Bradbury Toby Purser Charles Coulson
