Developing Alberta's Oil Sands Paul Anthony Chastko, 2004 Alberta's oil sands represent a vast and untapped oil reserve that could reasonably supply all of Canada's energy needs for the next 475 years. With an estimated 300 billion barrels of recoverable oil at stake, the quest to develop this natural resource has been undertaken by many powerful actors both nationally and internationally. Using research that integrates the economic, political, scientific, and business factors that have been influential in discovering and developing the sands, this book provides a comprehensive history of the oil sands project and a window on the nature of the complex relationships between industry, government, and transnational players. This book is the first comprehensive volume that examines the origins and development of the oil sands industry over the last century.

Historical Atlas of Canada: Addressing the twentieth century, 1891-1961 Geoffrey J. Matthews, 1987-01-01 Uses maps to illustrate the development of Canada from the last ice sheet to the end of the eighteenth century.

Health of People, Places and Planet Colin D. Butler, Jane Dixon, Anthony G. Capon, 2015-07-31 This book has three main goals. The first is to celebrate the work of a great public health figure, the late A. J. Tony McMichael (1942-2014). The second is to position contemporary public health issues in an interdisciplinary context and in ways that highlight the interdependency between the environment, human institutions, and behaviours, a broad approach championed by Tony. The third is to encourage emerging and future public health leaders to advocate for policies and cultural change to sustain and improve human health from a foundation of objective scholarship. The book's foreword and 38 chapters were written by people who were inspired by Tony, many of whom worked with him at some point in the last 40 years. Its structure reflects five major public health domains, each of which Tony made major contributions to: in an extremely productive academic life, occupational health and safety, environmental and social epidemiology, nutrition and food systems, climate change and health, and ecosystem change and infectious disease. The final section, Transformation, is dedicated to Tony's desire for public health scientists to propose adaptive and mitigating solutions to the problems they were observing. Each section contains at least one key publication involving Tony. There is also a selection of artworks from an exhibition which formed part of the conference held to honour Tony at The Australian National University in 2012. This conference formed the first part of Tony's festschrift, completed by this book.
