Airplanes Women And Song:

Airplanes, Women, and Song Boris Sergievsky, 2017-01-30 Boris Sergievsky was one of the most colorful of the early aviators. He made his first flight less than ten years after the Wright brothers made theirs; he made his last only four years before the Concorde took off. Born in Russia, Sergievsky learned to fly in 1912. In World War I he became a much-decorated infantry officer and then a fighter pilot battling the Austro-Hungarians. During the Russian Civil War that followed, he fought on three fronts against the Bolsheviks. Coming to America in 1923, the first job he could find in New York was with a pick and shovel digging the Holland Tunnel, but he soon joined Igor Sikorsky's airplane company. Over the next decade as chief test pilot for the company, he tested the Sikorsky flying boats that Pan American Airways used to establish its world-wide routes, setting seventeen world aviation records along the way. Sergievsky also flew pioneering flights across uncharted African and Latin American jungles in the 1930s, flew with Charles Lindbergh, tested early helicopters and jets, and flew his own Grumman Mallard on charter flights until 1965. Through it all, his sense of humor remained intact, as did his passion for beautiful women.

Women's Songs from West Africa Thomas A. Hale, Aissata G. Sidikou, 2013-12-02 Exploring the origins, organization, subject matter, and performance contexts of singers and singing, Women's Songs from West Africa expands our understanding of the world of women in West Africa and their complex and subtle roles as verbal artists. Covering Côte d'Ivoire, the Gambia, Mali, Niger, Nigeria, Senegal, and beyond, the essays attest to the importance of women's contributions to the most widespread form of verbal art in Africa.

Women and the Machine Julie Wosk, 2021-04-27 An engaging study of the ways women and machines have been represented in art, photography, advertising, and literature, Arwen Palmer Mohun (University of Delaware) explores sexist jokes about women drivers to such empowering icons as Amelia Earhart and Rosie the Riveter. Representations of the relationship between women and modern technology in popular culture have been both demeaning and celebratory. Depictions of women as timid and fearful creatures baffled by machinery have alternated with images of them as being fully capable of technological mastery and control and of lending sex appeal to machines as products. In Women and the Machine, historian Julie Wosk maps the contradictory ways in which women's interactions with and understanding of machinery have been defined in Western popular culture since the dawn of the Industrial Revolution. Drawing on both visual and literary sources, Wosk illuminates popular gender stereotypes that have burdened women throughout modern history while underscoring their advances in what was long considered the domain of men. Illustrated with more than 150 images, Women and the Machine reveals women rejoicing in their new liberties and technical skill even as they confront society's ambivalence about these developments along with male fantasies and fears. Engaging and entertaining, using illustrations, cartoons, and photographs from the past three centuries, Wosk delineates shifts in social acceptance of women's relationship to technology. Her work is complex, comprehensive, and highly readable. Publishers Weekly Art historian Wosk analyzes the overt and covert messages in depictions of women and machines in an array of fiction and more impressively in some 150 visual images Booklist City Songs and American Life, 1900-1950

Michael L. Lasser, 2019 Nothing defines the songs of the great American songbook more richly and persuasively than their urban sensibility During the first half of the twentieth century songwriter such as Harold Arlen Irving Berlin Dorothy Fields George and Ira Gershwin and Thomas Fats Waller flourished in New York City the home of Tin Pan Alley Broadway and Harlem Many of these remarkably deft and forceful creators were native New Yorkers Others got to Gotham as fast as they could Either way it was as if from their vantage point on the West Side of Manhattan these artists were describing America not its geography of politics but its heart to Americans and to the world at large In City songs and American life 1900 1950 renowned author and broadcaster Michael Lasser offers an evocative and probing account of the popular songs including some written originally for the stage or screen that America heard and sang and danced to during the turbulent first half of the twentieth century Lasser demonstrates how the spirit of the teeming city pervaded these wildly diverse songs Often that spirit took form overtly in songs that portrayed the glamor of Broadway of the energy and jazz age culture of Harlem But a city bred spirit or even a specifically New York City way of feeling and talking also infused many other widely known and loved songs stretching from the early decades of the century to the twenties the age of the flapper bathtub gin and women s right to vote the Great Depression and finally World War II Throughout this remarkable book Lasser emphasizes how the soul of city life as echoes in the nation s songs developed and changed in tandem with economic social and political currents in America as a whole Dust jacket flap Air Lines: Short Stories to Be Read on Planes John Power, 2024-01-29

Drawing on his fascination with the natural world and human nature John Power presents us with a collection of short stories that peer around the corner of life Each self contained story captures a snapshot a scene a momentary observation to highlight both the beauty and brutality of our natures Set in different countries and epochs these poetic fable like tales are linked by a single arbitrary thread a reference to air travel An inventor tries to gain funding for a new kind of butterfly powered airship An introverted child is obsessed with leaving the ground An ancient landscape speaks to a hiker with sounds of growth and decay With sting in the tail resolutions and piercing honesty Air Lines Short Stories to Be Read on Planes investigates the truth behind our interactions with ourselves and others John Power is an Australian journalist editor and author He holds a Bachelor of Arts Hons degree from The University of Melbourne and a Graduate Diploma in Publishing Editing from Monash University His first book of fiction Life Training Short Stories to Be Read on Trains was published by Longueville Books

American Women During World War II Doris Weatherford, 2009-10-16 American Women during World War II documents the lives and stories of women who contributed directly to the war effort via official and semi official military organizations as well as the millions of women who worked in civilian defense industries ranging from aircraft maintenance to munitions manufacturing and much more It also illuminates how the war changed the lives of women in more traditional home front roles All women had to cope with rationing of basic household goods and most women volunteered in war related programs Other entries discuss institutional change as the war affected every aspect of life including as schools hospitals and even religion American Women during World War II provides a handy one volume collection of information and images suitable for any public or professional library U.S. Air Services, 1932 Kittyhawk K. Tillinghast, 2011-10-17 Kirby Stevens a pioneer woman aviatrix for the WASPs uncovered a traitorous plot to bring down the first flying program exclusively for women pilots and she must put more than her reputation on the line to expose the truth When an American Ace disappeared in a mysterious crash Kirby's discovery was buried and her investigation sealed by Congress Sixty Five years later the WASPs are about to receive the Congressional Gold medal but Kirby's confession has Army Special Investigator John Cutter scrambling for details before she will either receive the Nation's highest honor or a death sentence Cutter must unearth the woman pilot's past and reveal a secret mission which led to the death of one pilot and the disappearance of another and put the WASP on death row Working the Skies Drew Whitelegg, 2007-06-01 Get ready for takeoff The life of the flight attendant a.k.a. stewardess was supposedly once one of glamour exotic travel and sexual freedom as recently depicted in such films as Catch Me If You Can and View From the Top The nostalgia for the beautiful carefree and ever helpful stewardess perhaps reveals a yearning for simpler times but nonetheless does not square with the difficult demanding and sometimes dangerous job of today's flight attendants Based on interviews with over sixty flight attendants both female and male labor leaders and drawing upon his observations while flying across the country and overseas Drew Whitelegg reveals a much more complicated profession one that in many ways is the quintessential job of the modern age where life moves at record speeds and all that is solid seems up in the air Containing lively portraits of flight attendants both current and retired this book is the first to show the intimate illuminating funny and sometimes dangerous behind the scenes stories of daily life for the flight attendant Going behind the curtain Whitelegg ventures into first class coach the cabin and life on call for these men and women who spend week in and week out in foreign cities sleeping in hotel rooms miles from home Working the Skies also elucidates the contemporary work and labor issues that confront the modern worker the demands of full time work and parenthood the downsizing of corporate America and the resulting labor lockouts decreasing wages and hours worked job insecurity and the emotional toll of a high stress job Given the events of 9/11 flight attendants now have an especially poignant set of stressful concerns to manage both for their own safety as well as for those they serve the passengers Flight attendants originally registered nurses charged with attending to passengers medical needs now find themselves wearing the hats of therapist security guard and undercover agent This last set of tasks pushing some as Whitelegg shows out of the business altogether Gender and the Race for Space Erinn McComb, 2025-06-10 The American astronaut image was informed by early Cold War ideals of masculinity that helped mold a distinctly American anti communist masculinity which appeared on the surface anyway to resolve not only an American crisis of masculinity but helped win the Cold War on an ideological and popular level This American image focused on strict gender binaries of man as the protector controlling technology and containing communism while woman was the passive actor with spaceflight technology left behind in the home waiting for the return of the astronaut husband Allowing women to fly into space would have represented a lack of individual control with spaceflight technology I Want to Hijack an Airplane Sŭng-hŭi Kim,2004 Kim Seung Hee s poetry is a blend of rigorous intellectualism and lyricism that borders on the sentimental Her poems also deal with the cold and dehumanizing aspects of modern urban life and the longing for freedom as an absolute ideal Boots, Bikes, and Bombers Ginny Wood,2012-06-15 Born in Washington in 1917 Ginny Hill Wood served as a Women s Airforce Service pilot in World War II and flew a military surplus airplane to Alaska in 1946 Settling in Fairbanks she went on to cofound Camp Denali Alaska s first wilderness ecotourism lodge This title presents an oral history of Ginny Hill Wood Famous First Facts Joseph Nathan Kane,Steven Anzovin,Janet Podell,2006 For more than half a century Famous First Facts has earned the accolades of reviewers and a place on library reference shelves nationwide This new edition of the reference classic is updated and expanded with new entries reflecting the latest developments and discoveries and newly organized for easier access to information Sheep Under the Sea - Reverse Culture Shock Written from an Airplane Tray Liv Jones,2011
