Notes:

¹ If there is a vowel underneath the letter, the sound of the vowel is pronounced. If there is no vowel underneath, the letter remains silent.

² In Hebrew there are two types of Sh'va. A sh'va na is considered a vowel and is pronounced. This is represented in our translation by the apostrophe ('). and pronounced like the 'v' in father. The other sh'va, the sh'va nakh, indicates the end of a syllable. It does not have its own sound, and therefore no phonetic representation.

³ A kamatz katan looks like a regular kamatz but is pronounced like a cholam.

⁴ The Hebrew alphabet has a unique feature known as gematria, in which every letter is assigned a numerical value.

Above each letter is its numeric value⁴

Vowels: The Aleph is silent¹ so we will use it in the example for each sound
