Albatros D.I-D.II James F. Miller, 2013-01-20 A concise technical history of the German Albatros D I and D II type scouts In 1916 German aerial domination had been lost to the French and British fighters German fighter pilots requested an aircraft that was more powerful and more heavily armed and the Albatros design bureau set to work on what was to become an iconic aircraft design By April 1916 they had developed the Albatros D I that featured the usual Albatros semi monocoque wooden construction with a 160hp Mercedes engine and two forward firing machine guns Alongside the development of the D I Albatros had also designed and built a second machine that was similar to the D I the Albatros D II Although there were several external differences between the two aircraft it is important to note that these machines evolved simultaneously and that the D II was not the result of post combat feedback from D I pilots With the inclusion of these aircraft into their reorganized air force Germany was able to regain control of the skies by autumn 1916 This history shows that along with the later designs they inspired the Albatros D I and D II were instrumental in allowing the Germans to prosecute their domination through Bloody April and well into the summer months that followed Albatros D.III James F. Miller,2014-03-20 In 1916 German aerial domination once held sway by rotary engined Fokker and Pfalz E type wing warping monoplanes had been lost to the more nimble French Nieuports and British DH 2s which not only out flew the German fighters but were present in greater numbers Born from experience calls from German fighter pilots requested that rather than compete with the maneuverability of these adversaries new single engine machines should be equipped with higher horsepower engines and armed with two rather than the then standard single machine gun The Robert Thelen led Albatros design bureau set to work on what became the Albatros D I and D II and by April 1916 they had developed a sleek yet rugged machine that featured the usual Albatros semi monocoque wooden construction and employed a 160hp Mercedes D III engine with power enough to equip the aeroplane with two forward firing machine guns In all 500 D IIIs and 840 D III OAW s were produced and saw heavy service throughout 1917 DH 2 vs Albatros D I/D II James F. Miller,2012-05-20 An illustrated account of the DH 2 the most successful pusher fighter of World War I against the Albatros D II part of a long family of fighters that in many ways symbolized German aerial might in the conflict Flown by Victoria Cross recipient Lanoe Hawker and the members of No 24 Sqn the ungainly yet nimble DH 2 helped the Allies attain air superiority over the Somme in early 1916 and hold it through the summer With its rotary engine pusher configuration affording excellent visibility and eliminating the need for a synchronized machine gun the DH 2 was more than a match for anything the Germans could put in the air That is until the arrival of the Albatros D II a sleek inline engined machine built for speed and with twin gun firepower This book dissects the epic struggle in the skies above the Somme in 1916 pitting the manoeuvrable yet under gunned DH 2s against the less nimble yet better armed and faster Albatros D IIs In the end the Germans would regain air superiority three squadron commanders two of whom were considered pinnacles of their respective air forces would lose their lives and an up and coming pilot Manfred von Richthofen would triumph in a legendary dogfight and attain unimagined heights fighting with tactics learned from a fallen mentor Military Aviation of the First World War Alan Sutton,Alan C. Wood,2017-04-21 over 470 black and white photographs This beautifully illustrated book provides details of every power that took part in Military aircraft activity during the First World War The war was a global conflict with 57 nations involved but with aviation being in its infancy only eight nations had a major air arm to their fighting Services The Allies Britain America Italy Belgium France and Russia and then the Central Powers comprising Germany and Austria Hungary The book covers the formation establishment and wartime exploits of all the major air powers during the war as well as providing thumbnail sketches of all the major aces for each country giving full coverage to The Allies The Royal Flying Corps The French Military Air Service The United States Air Service Aeronautica de Region Esercito Italy The Belgian Air Arm The Russian Imperial Air Services The Central Powers The Imperial German Air Service and the Austro Hungarian flying service However smaller powers at the time like Australia Canada and Japan as well as Portugal Serbia Romania and South Africa are all featured is this fascinating book

FE 2b/d vs Albatros Scouts James F. Miller,2014-01-20 In the spring of 1916 the deployment of the RFC s FE 2 with its rotary engine pusher configuration affording excellent visibility for its pilot and observer and removing the need for synchronized machine guns helped wrest aerial dominance from Imperial Germany s Fokker Eindecker monoplanes and then contributed to retaining it throughout the Somme battles of that fateful summer However by autumn German reorganization saw the birth of the Jagdstaffeln specialised fighter squadrons and the arrival of the new Albatros D scout a sleek inline engined machine built for speed and twin gun firepower Thus for the remainder of 1916 and well into the next year an epic struggle for aerial superiority raged above the horrors of the Somme and Passchendaele battlefields pitting the FE 2 against the better armed and faster Albatros scouts that were focused on attacking and destroying their two seater opponents In the end the Germans would regain air superiority and hold it into the following summer with the employment of their new Jagdgeschwader larger fighter groupings but the FE 2 remained a tenacious foe that inflicted many casualties some of whom were Germany s best aces including The Red Baron
