Countless young people in the Midwest South and Southwest went to dances and stage shows in the early to mid twentieth century to hear a territory band play Territory bands traveled from town to town performing jazz and swing music and Tulsa based musician Ernie Fields 1904 97 led one of the best In Going Back to T Town Ernie s daughter Carmen Fields tells a story of success disappointment and perseverance extending from the early jazz era to the 1960s This is an enlightening account of how this talented musician and businessman navigated the hurdles of racial segregation during the Jim Crow era Because few territory bands made recordings their contributions to the development of jazz music are often overlooked Fortunately Ernie Fields not only recorded music but also loved telling stories He shared his tales from the road with his daughter a well known Boston journalist and his son Ernie Fields Jr who has carried on his legacy as a successful musician and music contractor As much as possible Carmen Fields tells her father s story in his own voice how he weathered the ups and downs of the music industry and maintained his optimism even while he faced entrenched racial prejudice and threats of violence After traveling with his band all over the United States Fields eventually caught the attention of renowned music producer John Hammond In 1939 Hammond arranged for recording sessions and bookings that included performances in the famed Apollo Theater in New York Ernie finally scored a top ten hit in 1959 with his rock and roll rendition of In the Mood At a time when most other territory bands had faded the Ernie Fields Orchestra continued to perform A devoted husband and family man Ernie Fields also respected and appreciated his fellow musicians The book includes a Roll Call of his organization s members based on notes he kept about them Going Back to T Town is a priceless source of information for historians of American popular music and African American history The Ladies' Repository ,1855 Parliamentary Papers Great Britain.
