Working Together to Reduce Harmful Drinking Marcus

Grant, Mark Leverton, 2009-10-05 This book is intended to contribute to the World Health Organization's WHO global strategy to reduce the harmful use of alcohol. It explores areas where alcohol producers' technical competence can and does make a positive contribution to reducing harmful drinking and where industry input has been welcomed by WHO. The book describes each of these areas: producing beer, wine, and spirits; addressing availability of noncommercial beverages; pricing; marketing; and selling beverage alcohol; encouraging responsible choices; and working with others. The final chapter sets out views of how alcohol producers can contribute to reducing harmful drinking in countries where they are present. The messages recurring throughout the book are that reasonable regulation provides the context for good alcohol policy; excessive regulation often leads to unintended negative consequences; leading producers have a proud record of making positive contributions to implementing effective alcohol policies; but there are opportunities to do much more. Russian-U.S. Cooperation in the Fight Against Alcoholism United States. Congress. Commission on Security and Cooperation in Europe, 2014 Urban Violence and Insecurity Caroline O N Moser, 2004 Swimming with Crocodiles Marjana Martinic, Fiona Measham, 2008-06-19 There is evidence that a distinct pattern of alcohol consumption is emerging across the world and is a cause for concern because of its relationship with a range of health and social problems. Its visibility, particularly its high involvement of young people, makes this not only an issue for public safety and order in many countries but also a highly contentious and politicized subject. This book examines the rapid and heavy drinking behavior by young people described in a number of countries, positioning it within its appropriate social, historical, and cultural contexts. The book argues in favor of a new term, extreme drinking, to fully encapsulate the many facets of this behavior, taking into account the underlying motivations for the heavy, excessive, and unrestrained drinking patterns of many young people. It also acknowledges the drinking process itself and accommodates greater focus on outcomes that are likely to follow. In many ways, extreme drinking is not so far removed from other extreme behaviors such as extreme sports; all offer a challenge; their pursuit is motivated by an expectation of pleasure; and they are, by design, not without risk to those who engage in them, others around them, and society as a whole. Edited by Marjana Martinic and Fiona Measham, Swimming with Crocodiles is the ninth volume in the ICAP Book Series on Alcohol in Society. The authors discuss the factors that motivate extreme drinking, address the developmental, cultural, and historical contexts that have surrounded it, and offer a new approach to addressing this behavior through prevention and policy. The centerpiece of the book is a series of focus groups conducted with young people in Brazil, China, Italy, Nigeria, Russia, South Africa, and the United Kingdom, which examine their views on extreme drinking, motivations behind it, and the cultural similarities and differences that exist, conferring at once risk and protective factors. Reasonable Risk Marjana Martinic, Barbara C. Leigh, 2004 First Published in 2004 Routledge is an imprint of Taylor & Francis, an informa company Handbook of European Homicide Research Marieke C. A. Liem, William Alex Pridemore, 2011-10-17 This comprehensive work provides a sourcebook of information about the substantive methodological and policy oriented aspects of homicide research in Europe Part one of this work covers the most recent substantive and methodological information about European homicide research The second part will contains detailed case studies on homicide research in 15 20 individual European nations This work will be both conceptual and practical conceptual and practical Conceptual aspects will focus on theoretical frameworks and patterns and trends of violence in Europe Practical aspects will examine the results of empirical research topics relating to different data sources and the variation of legal definitions of violence throughout Europe and policy issues relating to variation in homicide prevention and punishment of homicide offenders throughout Europe This handbook will not only provide an up to date reference that brings together known information but will also offer previously unpublished comprehensive literature reviews and original research findings The editors distinctive approach is to provide readers with an English language central source of information about the voluminous literature on European homicide research that is currently spread widely in dozens of different European and American journals

Gender Dimensions of Alcohol Consumption and Alcohol-related Problems in Latin America and the Caribbean Hnin Hnin Pyne, Mariam Claeson, Maria Correia, 2002-01-01 While the World Bank has included the issue of alcohol consumption and production on its agenda for the past ten years it has not included gender dimensions in the issue By focusing on alcohol consumption in Latin America and the Caribbean the instances of death disease and domestic violence arising from alcoholism were tracked This study recommends an approach to dealing with the damage done by alcohol consumption and production that goes beyond controlling its availability Specifically the measures recommended include increasing knowledge through research developing indicators to measure consumption levels and patterns among men and women and the economic and social consequence of alcohol use integrating the issue of alcohol use and related problems into consultations with governments and civil society organizations and investment lending where appropriate to address the issue
