Shute: The engineer who became a prince of storytellers Richard Thorn, 2017-08-08 Nevil Shute was a writer whose books were frequently looked down on by literary critics and yet when he died in 1960 he was one of the best selling novelists of his day Today books such as A Town Like Alice and On the Beach continue to attract new generations of fans However there was more to Shute than his books a great deal more Richard Thorn explores Shute's personal and professional life drawing from extensive research carried out using archives and sources in the UK USA and Australia Nevil Shute Norway began his professional life as an aeronautical engineer working on the outskirts of London for the newly established de Havilland Aircraft Company He quickly went on to play a key role in Britain's ill fated and final airship programme before co founding an aircraft manufacturing company at the height of an economic depression All the while using the pseudonym Nevil Shute he spent his time writing for relaxation in the evenings After the Second World War he flew a single engined aeroplane to Australia and back in search for new material for his novels Fascinated by the new world that he had seen the novelist sold up and moved his family to Australia buying a farm in a small town on the outskirts of Melbourne For the remainder of his life Australia was his home and the inspiration for many of his best loved novels Shute tells the story of the life and times of an extraordinary man who made a significant contribution to twentieth century popular literature This book will appeal to fans of Shute's work those interested in his background and personal life or to readers interested in the early years of the aviation industry in Britain arguably the world's greatest airline. In Russia Igor Sikorsky had built a vast passenger-carrying aircraft the Ilya Muromets, and politicians debated whether giant airships or fixed-wing aircraft should rule the skies, an issue that was put firmly to bed when the mighty German airship Hindenburg exploded while mooring at Lakehurst in 1937. Robert Bluffield's highly researched and detailed account tells the dramatic stories of explorers such as Kingsford Smith, Lindbergh, and Cobham, and flamboyant entrepreneurs, some well known, others forgotten, who risked fortunes and reputations to follow their dreams of reaching and ruling the skies over empires, continents, and oceans. Against bewildering adversity, corruption, underhanded deals, and dwindling resources, these tenacious individuals braved the elements, using primitive, entirely unsuitable equipment to establish earth-shrinking aerial services that crisscrossed the great oceans and the globe's most inhospitable territories. These are the stories of those pioneers of Aéropostale, CNAC, Air Orient, Imperial Airways, KLM, Deutsche Luft Hansa, Pan Am, SCADTA, The Condor Syndicat, Qantas, and others that had a far-reaching impact on the way the modern world would travel.
