its concerns from treated populations to community based studies Handbook of Counseling and Psychotherapy in an International Context Roy Moodley,Uwe P. Gielen,Rosa Wu,2013-05-07 Many factors in the world today such as globalization and a rise in immigration are increasing the need for mental health practitioners to acquire the ability to interact effectively with people of different cultures This text will be the most comprehensive volume to address this need to date exploring the history philosophy processes and trends in counseling and psychotherapy in countries from all regions of the globe Organized by continent and country each chapter is written by esteemed scholars drawing on intimate knowledge of their homelands They explore such topics as their countries demographics counselor education programs current counseling theories and trends and significant traditional and indigenous treatment and healing methods This consistent structure facilitates quick and easy comparisons and contrasts across cultures offering an enhanced understanding of diversity and multicultural competencies Overall this text is an invaluable resource for practitioners researchers students and faculty showing them how to look beyond their own borders and cultures to enhance their counseling practices Religiosity and Subjective Well-being in the Arab Context Ahmed M. Abdel-Khalek,2019-01-10 Throughout the history of humanity religion has played an important role as one of the most powerful forces of life death health and disease In psychology interest in the study of religion dates back around one and a half centuries This interest has been driven in large part by the findings of a positive relationship between religiosity and physical and mental health subjective well being happiness and longevity Furthermore religiosity is now a subject in many disciplines such as medicine psychiatry sociology anthropology education epidemiology gerontology social work and psychotherapy This book brings together in one volume the scattered studies of religiosity and subjective well being carried out in different Arab mainly Muslim countries The vast majority of these articles are empirical research papers and are classified into six sections namely Islam and Mental Health Psychometric Measures Religiosity Health and Happiness Religiosity Quality of Life and Subjective Well Being Religiosity and Personality and Religiosity Subjective Well Being and Psychopathology Caring for Arab Patients Laeth Nasir,Arwa Kayed Abdul-Haq,Tony Lockett,2018-12-20 This practical and patient centred guide assists medical professionals in delivering better clinical care to Arab patients In examining the psychosocial underpinnings of Arab medicine this unique book summarises and assesses the latest research taking into account the needs and priorities of Arab patients Important issues covered include patient education compliance doctor shopping and psychiatric and mental health services The evidence based approach integrates academic research and first hand experience from the unique bicultural position of the contributors Caring for Arab Patients is vital for all healthcare professionals including doctors nurses pharmacists and occupational therapists with responsibilities for Arab patients throughout the world Students of medicine and nursing will find much of interest as will healthcare managers researchers academics policy makers and shapers Arabic Psychological Tests and Their English Versions Ahmed M. Abdel-Khalek,2020-11-09 Measurement is an important concern for the progress of psychology both as a basic science and as a field of application The development of psychological research and practice would not be possible without sound assessment and measuring procedures This book presents a collection of personality and psychopathology scales developed originally in Arabic and translated into English since self reports and questionnaires play a prominent role in psychological research and practice as they are simple and cost less than other methods of assessment Furthermore these scales are suitable in surveys and epidemiological studies with large samples This book will be useful in different disciplines such as psychology psychiatry epidemiology gerontology social work and social sciences International Handbook of Cross-Cultural Counseling Lawrence H. Gerstein, 2009-07-29 The Handbook of International Counseling is an effort to bring together the current practices values attitudes and beliefs about counseling from countries around the globe The editors have selected leading experts in the field of counseling in a wide and culturally representative group of countries throughout the world This book will be the first volume that undertakes such an ambitious goal in the field of counseling Religion and Psychiatry Peter Verhagen, Herman M. Van Praag, Juan José Lopez-Ibor, John Cox, Driss Moussaoui, 2012-02-27 Religion and spirituality is very much alive and shapes the cultural values and aspirations of psychiatrist and patient alike as does the choice of not identifying with a particular faith Patients bring their beliefs and convictions into the doctor patient relationship The challenge for mental health professionals whatever their own world view is to develop and refine their vocabularies such that they truly understand what is communicated to them by their patients Religion and Psychiatry provides psychiatrists with a framework for this understanding and highlights the importance of religion and spirituality in mental well being This book aims to inform and explain as well as to be thought provoking and even controversial Patiently and thoroughly the authors consider why and how when and where religion and spirituality are at stake in the life of psychiatric patients The interface between psychiatry and religion is explored at different levels varying from daily clinical practice to conceptual fieldwork The book covers phenomenology epidemiology research data explanatory models and theories It also reviews the development of DSM V and its awareness of the importance of religion and spirituality in mental health What can religious traditions learn from each other to assist the patient Religion and Psychiatry discusses this as well as the neurological basis of religious experiences It describes training programmes that successfully incorporate aspects of religion and demonstrates how different religious and spiritual traditions can be brought together to improve psychiatric training and daily practice Describes the relationship of the main world religions with psychiatry Considers training policy and service delivery Provides powerful support for more effective partnerships between psychiatry and religion in day to day clinical care This is the first time that so many psychiatrists psychologists and theologians from all parts of the world and from so many different religious and spiritual backgrounds have worked together to produce a book like this one In that sense it truly is a World Psychiatric Association publication Religion and Psychiatry is recommended reading for residents in psychiatry postgraduates in theology psychology and psychology of religion researchers in psychiatric epidemiology and trans cultural psychiatry as well as professionals in theology psychiatry and psychology of religion Mental Health and Palestinian Citizens in Israel Itzhak Levav, Muhammad M. Haj-Yahia, Ora Nakash, 2019-10-01 Minorities face particular social strains and these are often manifested in their overall mental health In Israel just under a quarter of the citizens are Arab Palestinians yet very little has been published exploring the spectrum of mental health issues prevalent in this population The work collected here draws on the first hand experience of experts working with Israeli Palestinians to highlight the problems faced by service users their families and their communities Palestinians in Israel face unique social gender and family related conditions that also need reliable research and assessment Mental Health and Palestinian Citizens in Israel offers research and observation on three central topics socio cultural determinants of mental health mental health needs and mental health service utilization From suicidal behaviors and addiction to generational trauma and the particular concerns of children and the elderly this broad and careful collection of research opens new dialogues on treatment prevention and methods for providing the best possible care to those in need Human Cultures through the Scientific Lens Pascal Boyer, 2021-07-09 This volume brings together a collection of seven articles previously published by the author with a new introduction reframing the articles in the context of past and present questions in anthropology psychology and human evolution It promotes the perspective of integrated social science in which social science questions are addressed in a deliberately eclectic manner combining results and models from evolutionary biology experimental psychology economics anthropology and history It thus constitutes a welcome contribution to a gradually emerging approach to social science based on E O Wilson s concept of consilience Human Cultures through the Scientific Lens spans a wide range of topics from an examination of ritual behaviour integrating neuro science ethology and anthropology to explain why humans engage in ritual actions both cultural and individual to the motivation of conflicts between groups As such the collection gives readers a comprehensive and accessible introduction to the applications of an evolutionary paradigm in the social sciences This volume will be a useful resource for scholars and students in the social sciences particularly psychology anthropology evolutionary biology and the political sciences as well as a general readership interested in the social sciences Counseling Multicultural and Diverse Populations Nicholas A. Vacc, Susan B. DeVaney, Johnston M. Brendel, 2003 First Published in 2003 Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis an informa company Terrains of Exchange Nile Green, 2015-05-02 Terrains of Exchange offers a bold new paradigm for understanding the expansion of Islam in the modern world Through the model of religious economy it traces the competition between Muslim Christian and Hindu religious entrepreneurs that transformed Islam into a proselytising global brand Drawing Indian Arab Iranian and Tatar Muslims together with Scottish missionaries and African American converts Nile Green brings to life the local sites of globalisation where Islam was repeatedly reinvented in modern times Evoking terrains of exchange from Russia s imperial borderlands to the factories of Detroit and the ports of Japan he casts a microhistorian s eye on the innovative new Islams that emerged from these sites of contact Drawing on a multilingual range of materials the book challenges the idea that globalisation has given rise to a unified global Islam Instead it reveals the forces behind the fracturing of Islam in the hands of feuding and fissiparous religious firms Terrains of Exchange not only presents global history as Islamic history It also reveals the forces of that history at work in the world today Handbook of Research Methods in Abnormal and Clinical Psychology Dean McKay,2008 The Handbook of Research Methods in Abnormal and Clinical Psychology presents a diverse range of areas critical to any researcher or student entering the field It provides valuable information on the foundations of research methods including validity in experimental design ethics and statistical methods The contributors discuss design and instrumentation for methods that are particular to abnormal and clinical psychology including behavioral assessment psychophysiological assessment and observational methods They also offer details on new advances in research methodology and analysis such as meta analysis taxometric methods item response theory and approaches to determining clinical significance In addition this volume covers specialty topics within abnormal and clinical psychology from forensic psychology to behavior genetics to treatment outcome methods The Mark of Shame Stephen P. Hinshaw,2009-08-27 In The Mark of Shame Stephen P Hinshaw addresses the psychological social historical and evolutionary roots of the stigma of mental illness as well as the long history of such stigmatization

Principles of Multicultural Counseling and Therapy Uwe P. Gielen,Juris G. Draguns,Jefferson M. Fish,2008-06-19 In an era of globalization characterized by widespread migration and cultural contacts psychologists counselors and other mental health professionals face a unique challenge how does one practice successfully when working with clients from so many different backgrounds Gielen Draguns and Fish argue that an understanding of the general principles of multicultural counseling is of great importance to all practitioners The lack of this knowledge can have several negative consequences during therapy including differences in expectations between counselor and client misdiagnosis of the client s concerns missed non verbal cues and the client feeling that she has been misunderstood This volume focuses on the general nature of cultural influences in counseling rather than on counseling specific ethnic groups Counseling practices from all over the world not just those of Western society are explored Bringing together the work of a diverse group of international experts the editors have compiled a volume that is not only concise and teachable but also an essential guidebook for all mental health professionals

Faith and Mental Health Harold G Koenig,2005-09-01 Koenig opens a window on mental health providing an unprecedented source of practical information about the relationship between religion and mental health Dr Koenig examines how Christianity and other world religions deliver mental health services today and he makes recommendations based on research expertise and experience for new programs to meet local needs Cross-Cultural Analysis Eldad Davidov,Peter Schmidt,Jaak Billiet,2012-10-12 Intended to bridge the gap between the latest methodological developments and cross cultural research this interdisciplinary resource presents the latest strategies for analyzing cross cultural data Techniques are demonstrated through the use of applications that employ cross national data sets such as the latest European Social Survey With an emphasis on the generalized latent variable approach internationally prominent researchers from a variety of fields explain how the methods work how to apply them and how they relate to other methods presented in the book Syntax and graphical and verbal explanations of the techniques are included A website features some of the data sets and syntax commands used in the book Applications from the behavioral and social sciences that use real data sets demonstrate The use of samples from 17 countries to validate the resistance to change scale across these nations How to test the cross national invariance properties of social trust The interplay between social structure religiosity values and social attitudes A comparison of anti immigrant attitudes and patterns of religious orientations across European countries The book is divided into techniques for analyzing cross cultural data within the generalized latent variable approach multiple group confirmatory factor analysis and multiple group structural equation modeling multi level analysis latent class analysis and item response theory Since researchers from various disciplines often use different methodological approaches a consistent framework for describing and applying each method is used so as to cross methodological borders between disciplines Some chapters describe the basic strategy and how it relates to other techniques presented in the book others apply the techniques and address specific research questions and a few combine the two A table in the preface highlights for each chapter a description of the contents the statistical methods used the goal s of the analysis and the data set employed This book is intended for researchers practitioners and advanced students interested in cross cultural research Because the applications span a variety of disciplines the book will appeal to researchers and students in psychology political science sociology education marketing and economics geography criminology psychometrics epidemiology and public health as well as those interested in methodology It is also appropriate for an advanced methods course in cross cultural analysis

Mothers and Daughters in Arab Women's Literature Dalya Abudi, 2010-11-11 This study explores the mother daughter relationship as the most fundamental and most intimate female relationship and as the cornerstone of Arab family life Drawing on autobiographical and semifictional works by women writers from across the Arab world the study offers a first hand account of how Arab women view and experience this primary bond The author uses both early and contemporary writings of Arab women to illuminate the traditional and evolving nature of mother daughter relationships in Arab families and how these family dynamics reflect and influence modern Arab life The compelling narratives demystify the institutions of family and motherhood and show the potential of mothers and daughters to transform the patriarchal family and thus the fabric of Arab society A groundbreaking work that fills a void in cross cultural studies it is of interest to scholars and students of Middle Eastern studies women s studies and family studies
