Of Dead Authors:

Letters to Dead Authors Andrew Lang, 2020-09-28 Sir There are many things that stand in the way of the critic when he has a mind to praise the living He may dread the charge of writing rather to vex a rival than to exalt the subject of his applause He shuns the appearance of seeking the favour of the famous and would not willingly be regarded as one of the many parasites who now advertise each movement and action of contemporary genius Such and such men of letters are passing their summer holidays in the Val d Aosta or the Mountains of the Moon or the Suliman Range as it may happen So reports our literary Court Circular and all our Pr cieuses read the tidings with enthusiasm Lastly if the critic be quite new to the world of letters he may superfluously fear to vex a poet or a novelist by the abundance of his eulogy No such doubts perplex us when with all our hearts we would commend the departed for they have passed almost beyond the reach even of envy and to those pale cheeks of theirs no commendation can bring the red You above all others were and remain without a rival in your many sided excellence and praise of you strikes at none of those who have survived your day The increase of time only mellows your renown and each year that passes and brings you no successor does but sharpen the keenness of our sense of loss In what other novelist since Scott was worn down by the burden of a forlorn endeavour and died for honour s sake has the world found so many of the fairest gifts combined If we may not call you a poet for the first of English writers of light verse did not seek that crown who that was less than a poet ever saw life with a glance so keen as yours so steady and so sane Your pathos was never cheap your laughter never forced your sigh was never the pulpit trick of the preacher Your funny people your Costigans and Fokers were not mere characters of trick and catch word were not empty comic masks Behind each the human heart was beating and ever and again we were allowed to see the features of the man Thus fiction in your hands was not simply a profession like another but a constant reflection of the whole surface of life a repeated echo of its laughter and its complaint Others have written and not written badly with the stolid professional regularity of the clerk at his desk you like the Scholar Gipsy might have said that it needs heaven sent moments for this skill There are it will not surprise you some honourable women and a few men who call you a cynic who speak of the withered world of Thackerayan satire who think your eyes were ever turned to the sordid aspects of life to the mother in law who threatens to take away her silver bread basket to the intriguer the sneak the termagant to the Beckys and Barnes Newcomes and Mrs Mackenzies of this world The quarrel of these sentimentalists is really with life not with you they might as wisely blame Monsieur Buffon because there are snakes in his Natural History Had you not impaled certain noxious human insects you would have better pleased Mr Ruskin had you confined yourself to such performances you would have been more dear to the Neo Balzacian school in fiction You are accused of never having drawn a good woman who was not a doll but the ladies that bring this charge seldom remind us either of Lady Castlewood or of Theo or Hetty Lambert The best women can pardon you Becky Sharp and Blanche Amory they find it harder to forgive you Emmy Sedley and Helen Pendennis Yet what man does not know in his heart that the best women God bless them lean in their characters either to the sweet passiveness of Emmy or to the sensitive and jealous affections of Helen Tis Heaven not you that made them so and they are easily pardoned both for being a very little lower than the angels and for their gentle ambition to be painted as by Guido or Guercino with wings and harps and haloes So ladies have occasionally seen their own faces in the glass of fancy and thus inspired have drawn Romola and Consuelo Yet when these fair idealists Mdme Sand and George Eliot designed Rosamund Vincy and Horace was there not a spice of malice in the portraits which we miss in your least favourable studies That the creator of Colonel Newcome and of Henry Esmond was a snarling cynic that he who designed Rachel Esmond could not draw a good woman these are the chief charges all indifferent now to you who were once so sensitive that your admirers have to contend against A French critic M Taine also protests that you do preach too much Did any author but yourself so frequently break the thread seldom a strong thread of his plot to converse with his reader and moralise his tale we also might be offended But who that loves Montaigne and Pascal who that likes the wise trifling of the one and can bear with the melancholy of the other but prefers your preaching to another s playing

That Book Is Dangerous! Adam Szetela, 2025-08-12 An alarming expos of the new challenges to literary freedom in the age of social media when anyone with an identity and an internet connection can be a censor In That Book Is Dangerous Adam Szetela investigates how well intentioned and often successful efforts to diversify American literature have also produced serious problems for literary freedom Although progressives are correct to be focused on right wing attempts at legislative censorship Szetela argues for attention to the ways that left wing censorship controls speech within the publishing industry itself The author draws on interviews with presidents and vice presidents at the Big Five publishers literary agents at the most prestigious agencies award winning authors editors marketers sensitivity readers and other industry professionals to examine the new publishing landscape What he finds is unsettling mandatory sensitivity reads morality clauses in author contracts even censorship of dangerous books in the name of antiracism feminism and other forms of social justice These changes to acquisition practices editing policies and other aspects of literary culture are a direct outgrowth of the culture of public outcries on X Goodreads Change org and other online platforms where users accuse authors justifiably or not of racism sexism homophobia and other transgressions But rather than genuinely address the economic inequities of literary production this current moral crusade over literature serves only to entrench the status quo While the right is remaking the world in its image he writes the left is standing in a circular firing squad Compellingly argued and incisively written the book is a much needed wake up call for anyone who cares about reading writing and the publication of books as well as the generations of young readers we are raising

A Sociosemiotic Theory of Theatre Jean Alter, 2015-09-30 Analyzes the basic duality of theatre the play is happening on a stage but the story is happening at some other place and time exploring how the two aspects both compete and complement each other and suggesting the social factors that impact the total process

The Richard & Judy Book Club Reader Helen Cousins, 2016-03-03 In January 2004 daytime television presenters Richard Madeley and Judy Finnigan launched their book club and sparked debate about the way people in Britain from the general reader to publishers to the literati thought about books and reading The Richard Judy Book Club Reader brings together historians of the book literature scholars and specialists in media and cultural studies to examine the effect of the club on reading practices and the publishing and promotion of books Beginning with an analysis of the book club s history and its ongoing development in relation to other reading groups worldwide including Oprah s the editors consider issues of book marketing and genre Further chapters explore the effects of the mass broadcast celebrity book club on society literature and its marketing and popular culture Contributors ask how readers discuss books judge value and make choices The collection addresses questions of authorship authority and canon in texts connected by theme or genre including the postcolonial exotic disability and representations of the body food books and domesticity In addition book club author Andrew Smith shares his experiences in a fascinating interview Ruptured Voices: Trauma and Recovery Karen

O'Donnell,2019-01-04 This volume was first published by Inter Disciplinary Press in 2016 Trauma is no longer and perhaps has never been an uncommon occurrence it is now commonplace in human experience Notoriously difficult to define when one tries to offer a definition of trauma that works across disciplines and beyond the boundaries of subjects one enters a new territory This collection participates in a reconstructive movement in which the boundaries of trauma trauma theory and trauma recovery are flung wide The vastly differing experiences contexts and critical reflections of the contributors serve to ensure this monograph offers a fresh voice in the field of Trauma Studies This collection of essays on trauma seeks to open dialogue and expand discussion Blurring the boundaries of traditional disciplinary lines this monograph strives to interrupt and rupture the debate on trauma It is in the fissures created by such rupture that new and compelling voices can be heard

Stationer's Voice Timothy Feist,2005 This volume provides a thorough analysis of the Company of Stationers drawing heavily on unpublished Company records Author Timothy Feist places the Stationer s Co in the context of the burgeoning consumer society of the 18th century relates the almanacs content with the political developments of the post Revolution whig state He argues that the almanac s creation production distribution need to be understood through the commercial imperatives driving the Company which controlled the monopoly Feist s discussion of almanac content in the early 18th century stresses its preoccupation with order harmony unity he skillfully links the almanacs association of political with mathematical order Scholarship, Commerce, Religion Ian Maclean,2012-03-20 This study of the learned book trade of the late Renaissance reveals how many features of today s publishing world were in place even then Beginning in Frankfurt Maclean surveys the authors publishers censors and sellers who operated in this fraught religious atmosphere and overheated market and ends with the market s decline in the 1620s Victorian Celebrity Culture and Tennyson's Circle C. Boyce,P. Finnerty,A. Millim,2013-10-31 Tennyson experienced at first hand the all pervasive nature of celebrity culture It caused him to retreat from the eyes of the world This book delineates Tennyson s reluctant celebrity and its effects on his writings on his coterie of famous and notable friends and on the ever expanding media led circle of Tennyson s admirers Corporate Humanities in Higher Education Jeffrey R. Di Leo, 2013-12-18 How do humanists speak for and from the humanities in an academy which values them less and less and market driven approaches more and more Jeffrey R Di Leo provides a thorough critique of the higher education crisis and a set of practical and reasonable remedies for shaping the study and practice of the humanities in the academy of the future
