major part of Chinese culture in ancient times that tea drinking ceremonies which were then adapted by Japan were a major part of the social fabric. Even today there are exotic teas which are going for thousands of dollars on the auction table because they are considered to be such rare distinguished and exotic beverages. Of the three major beverages of the world, tea is definitely the most popular. Cha is a word which is recognized all over the world especially when one demands something refreshing to drink after a hard day's work at the office or sitting doing that hard day's work in the office.

History of Tea: Historically, tea has been assimilated in the social fabric for millenniums. Serendipity has a great hand in the knowledge of tea like that of coffee. Coffee was supposedly found by a shepherd who had seen his goats eating some berries off a bush and then acting in a very enthusiastic and frisky manner. In the same way, tea was supposedly discovered by a Chinese Emperor more than 3000 years ago. He was sitting in his garden and a few leaves of a fragrant camellia bush accidentally fell into a cauldron of boiling water in the vicinity. The resulting fragrance tempted the Emperor to sip this refreshing brew. And soon everybody in China was steeping the leaves of the Camellia in hot water and drinking the resulting infusion down. It was only later that the proper preparation of tea in the form of drying the leaves, fermentation, oxidization and other tea preparation methods before it was packaged and sold to the consumers became known globally down the ages. The Camellia sinensis plant is normally used for the preparation of green tea. The tea available in the market is normally found in 3 forms: black tea, green tea and oolong tea. All these teas are made through different phases of drying and intensity of the fermentation process. About 3 billion kgs of tea are consumed all over the world annually, of which the major tea drinkers are the Chinese, Japanese, and Indians, which come up to 43% of the world population of tea drinkers. In ancient Eastern medicine, tea has been used as a relaxant and healing drink. According to the Chinese, drinking lots of tea meant that you would not suffer from stomach problems, headaches, nervous tension, and any other disease of which you could think. For the last 4000 years, tea has been an important ingredient used to cure people in alternative medicines in the East.

The Green Tea Book Lester A. Mitscher, Victoria Toews, 1997-09-01. Discover the ancient Chinese secret to a long healthy life with just three cups of green tea per day. The Green Tea Book has been a trusted resource for almost a decade. Now chemist Lester A. Mitscher and health writer Victoria Dolby Toews update their ground-breaking work with the latest scientific information. The natural medicine in green tea is polyphenols. These phytonutrients are powerful antioxidants, and Dr. Mitscher and Toews explore the research on green tea explaining its many healing properties. You'll learn how drinking as few as three cups of green tea a day may help reduce the risk of certain cancers and mitigate the side effects of cancer treatment, promote a healthy heart, boost immunity and detoxify the body, support the body's natural antiaging processes, prevent inflammation of teeth and gums, aid digestion, and so much more. The Green Tea Book guides readers to those teas highest in polyphenols, offering suggestions on choosing teas that one will savor and enjoy. This one-stop resource will have readers convinced taking one's medicine has never tasted so good.
