Prehistoric, Ancient Near Eastern & Aegean Textiles and Dress Mary Harlow, Cécile Michel, Marie-Louise Nosch, 2014-09-30 Textile and dress production from raw materials to finished items has had a significant impact on society from its earliest history The essays in this volume offer a fresh insight into the emerging interdisciplinary research field of textile and dress studies by discussing archaeological iconographical and textual evidence within a broad geographical and chronological spectrum The thirteen chapters explore issues such as the analysis of textile tools especially spindle whorls and textile imprints for reconstructing textile production in contexts as different as Neolithic Transylvania the Early Bronze Age North Aegean and the Early Iron Age Eastern Mediterranean the importance of cuneiform clay tablets as a documentary source for both drawing a detailed picture of the administration of a textile industry and for addressing gender issues such as the construction of masculinity in the Sumerian kingdoms of the 3rd millennium BC and discussions of royal and priestly costumes and clothing ornaments in the Mesopotamian kingdom of Mari and in Mycenaean culture Textile terms testify to intensive exchanges between Semitic and Indo European languages especially within the terminology of trade goods The production and consumption of textiles and garments are demonstrated in 2nd millennium Hittite Anatolia from 1st millennium BC Assyria a cross disciplinary approach combines texts realia and iconography to produce a systematic study of golden dress decorations and finally the important discussion of fibres flax and wool in written and archaeological sources is evidence for delineating the economy of linen and the strong symbolic value of fibre types in 1st millennium Babylonia and the Southern Levant The volume is part of a pair together with Greek and Roman Textiles and Dress An Interdisciplinary Anthology edited by Mary Harlow and Marie Louise Nosch

Tudor Textiles Eleri Lynn, 2020-04-03 A detailed study of Tudor textiles highlighting their extravagant beauty and their impact on the royal court fashion and taste At the Tudor Court textiles were ubiquitous in decor and ceremony Tapestries embroideries carpets and hangings were more highly esteemed than paintings and other forms of decorative art. Indeed in 16th century Europe fine textiles were so costly that they were out of reach for average citizens and even for many nobles. This spectacularly illustrated book tells the story of textiles during the long Tudor century from the ascendance of Henry VII in 1485 to the death of his granddaughter Elizabeth I in 1603. It places elaborate tapestries, imported carpets, lavish embroidery and more within the context of religious and political upheavals of the Tudor court as well as the expanding world of global trade including previously unstudied encounters between the New World and the Elizabethan court. Special attention is paid to the Field of the Cloth of Gold, a magnificent two week festival and unsurpassed display of golden textiles held in 1520. Even half a millennium later such extraordinary works remain Tudor society's strongest projection of wealth, taste and ultimately power.

Handweaving Isabel Buschman, 1991. Buschman annotates more than 550 books and periodical titles published on the techniques and history of handweaving from 1928 through October 1989. She includes works on how to weave, basic weaving texts, books on looms and equipment and patterns both for weaving and for woven articles, handweaving history and historic fabrics from around the world, works on Native American weaving ranging from the Chilkats of the Northwest coast of North America to the Pueblos and Navajos of our Southwest, Mexico and Central America and on through the rich weaving culture of the Andes, reference works containing specialized bibliographies and information on fibers, dyes, education and marketing and periodicals. With author title and subject indexes.

Traditional Textiles of the Indian Subcontinent Akhtarul Islam Amjad, Britta Kalkreuter, Samrat Mukhopadhyay, 2025-07-09. This book explores the cultural history of traditional textiles and their contemporary relevance in sustainable practices. It focuses on manufacturing processes, technological integration and design fundamentals of traditional textiles. The book also highlights the fusion of traditional textiles with contemporary fashion trends and the efforts made by designers to preserve and promote heritage textiles. It also provides information on manufacturing, designing and sustainable engineering in traditional textiles, offering practical guidance and case studies for a comprehensive understanding. This book serves as a valuable reference to a wide range of individuals who have an interest in traditional textiles, including scholars, students, engineers and manufacturers in the fields of textile engineering, fashion design, cultural studies and sustainable studies. For scholars, educators, students and researchers, it provides a comprehensive understanding of the relationship between traditional textiles, sustainability and engineering, serving as a foundation for further academic exploration. Artisans and craftsmen can gain insights into sustainable practices and innovative design approaches, empowering them to adapt their craft to contemporary demands while preserving cultural heritage. Policymakers and NGOs can use the book to inform policy decisions and interventions related to cultural preservation, sustainable development and the protection of traditional craftsmanship. Textile industry professionals can acquire knowledge of sustainable engineering and design principles, enabling them to integrate eco-friendly practices into textile manufacturing and design processes. Designers and fashion professionals can be inspired to incorporate traditional textile elements into contemporary fashion promoting cultural diversity and sustainability in the global fashion industry
