Book The Poet Makes:

The Past that Poets Make Harold E. Toliver, 1981 This analysis of the literary art of recapturing the past as the artist perceives it examines such questions as how a fictional narrative differs from other ways of seeing a past time to what extent literature is nontemporal and to what extent it is tied to the institutions and traditions of its era and how given works conjure up a sense of time

I, the Poet Kathleen McCarthy, 2019-10-15 First person poetry is a familiar genre in Latin literature Propertius Catullus and Horace deployed the first person speaker in a variety of ways that either bolster or undermine the link between this figure and the poet himself In I the Poet Kathleen McCarthy offers a new approach to understanding the ubiquitous use of a first person voice in Augustan age poetry taking on several of the central debates in the field of Latin literary studies including the inheritance of the Greek tradition the shift from oral performance to written collections and the status of the poetic I voice In light of her own experience as a twenty first century reader for whom Latin poetry is meaningful across a great gulf of linguistic cultural and historical distances McCarthy positions these poets as the self conscious readers of and heirs to a long tradition of Greek poetry which prompted them to explore radical forms of communication through the poetic form Informed in part by the New Lyric Studies I the Poet will appeal not only to scholars of Latin literature but to readers across a range of literary studies who seek to understand the Roman contexts which shaped canonical poetic genres

Little,2023-02-23 This book explores sixteenth century humanism as an origin for the idea of literature as good even great books It argues that humanists located the value of books not only in the goodness of their writing their eloquence but also in their capacity to shape readers in good and bad behavior thoughts and feelings in other words in their morality To approach humanism in this way by attending to its moral interests is to provide a new perspective on periodization the transition from the Middle Ages to the Renaissance early modern That is humanists did not so much rupture with medieval ideas about literature or with medieval models as they adapted and altered them offering a new confidence about an old idea the moral instructiveness of pagan classical texts for Christian readers This revaluation of literature was a double edged sword On the one hand humanist confidence inspired authors to invent their own good books good in style and morals in morality plays such as Everyman and the Christian Terence tradition and in educational treatises such as Sir Thomas Elyot's Boke of the

Governour On the other hand humanism placed a new burden on authors requiring their work to teach and delight In the wake of humanism authors struggled to articulate the value of their work for readers returning to a pre humanist path that they associated with Geoffrey Chaucer This medieval inflected doubt pervades the late sixteenth century writings of the most prolific and influential Elizabethans Robert Greene George Gascoigne and Edmund Spenser Poems for Building
