The Politics of Knowledge in Premodern Islam Omid Safi,2006-05-26 The eleventh and twelfth centuries comprised a period of great significance in Islamic history The Great Saljuqs a Turkish speaking tribe hailing from central Asia ruled the eastern half of the Islamic world for a great portion of that time In a far reaching analysis that combines social cultural and political history Omid Safi demonstrates how the Saljuqs tried to create a lasting political presence by joining forces with scholars and saints among them a number of well known Sufi Muslims who functioned under state patronage In order to legitimize their political power Saljuq rulers presented themselves as champions of what they alleged was an orthodox and normative view of Islam Their notion of religious orthodoxy was constructed by administrators in state sponsored arenas such as madrasas and khanaqahs Thus orthodoxy was linked to political loyalty and disloyalty to the state was articulated in terms of religious heresy Drawing on a vast reservoir of primary sources and eschewing anachronistic terms of analysis such as nationalism Safi revises conventional views both of the Saljuqs as benevolent Muslim rulers and of the Sufis as timeless ethereal mystics He makes a significant contribution to understanding premodern Islam as well as illuminating the complex relationship between power and religious knowledge Encyclopaedic Visions Richard Yeo,2001-03-29 The eighteenth century English dictionaries of arts and sciences claimed to contain all knowledge that a person of education should possess These early encyclopaedias responded to the explosion of information by reducing knowledge to essentials stressing the need for a coherent account of the sciences and for some time excluding biography and history Richard Yeo places these scientific dictionaries in a rich cultural framework of debate that includes the arrangement of knowledge the Republic of Letters the Enlightenment public sphere copyright issues and the specialisation of science He discusses dilemmas involved in the quest for knowledge to be both organised and readily available examining assumptions about the organisation communication and control of knowledge in these works Elegantly illustrated and accessibly written Encyclopaedic Visions provides a major contribution to Enlightenment studies and the history of ideas in general It's Part of What We Are - Volumes 1 and 2 - Volume 1: Richard Boyle (1566-1643) to John Tyndall (1820-1893); Volume 2: Samuel Haughton (18210-1897) to John Stewart Bell (1928-1990) Charles Mollan, 2007-11-15 Biographies of more than 100 Irish scientists or those with strong Irish connections in the disciplines of Chemistry and Physics including Astronomy Mathematics etc describing them in their Irish and international scientific social educational and political context Written in an attractive informal style for the hypothetical educated layman who does not need to have studied science Well received in Irish and international reviews
