Atlas of Religion in China: Social and Geographical Contexts Fenggang Yang, 2018-09-04 The speed and the scale with which traditional religions in China have been revived and new spiritual movements have emerged in recent decades make it difficult for scholars to stay up to date on the religious transformations within Chinese society This unique atlas presents a bird s eye view of the religious landscape in China today In more than 150 full color maps and six different case studies it maps the officially registered venues of China s major religions Buddhism Christianity Protestant and Catholic Daoism and Islam at the national provincial and county levels The atlas also outlines the contours of Confucianism folk religion and the Mao cult Further it describes the main organizations beliefs and rituals of China s main religions as well as the social and demographic characteristics of their respective believers Putting multiple religions side by side in their contexts this atlas deploys the latest qualitative quantitative and spatial data acquired from censuses surveys and fieldwork to offer a definitive overview of religion in contemporary China An essential resource for all scholars and students of religion and society in China

Chinese Business in Malaysia Terence Gomez, 2012-12-06 Chinese companies have managed to perform well in Malaysia especially after the recession in the mid 1980s due to a clear change in the Malay dominated government's attitude to Chinese capital. Despite the problems that prevail among UMNO politicians the government has provided a stable economic environment and offers opportunities for domestic private investment even for the Chinese. Given these circumstances it does appear that Chinese capital in Malaysia has reasonable prospects for further growth in the immediate future. This study examines the dominant role of Chinese capital in the economy providing in depth empirical research on its mode of development and styles of operation. Covering the period from colonial times to the present day this study identifies key issues pertaining to Chinese business operations in Malaysia: ownership and control patterns, style of growth, relations with the state, politicians and other Chinese businessmen and the manner of development of business abroad whilst debunking the theory that large scale Chinese capital is not very entrepreneurial in nature.

The Cambridge Guide to Asian Theatre James R. Brandon, Martin Banham, 1997-01-28. A comprehensive and authoritative single volume reference work on the theatre arts of Asia. Nine expert scholars provide entries on performance in twenty countries from Pakistan in the west through India and Southeast Asia to China, Japan and Korea in the east. An introductory pan-Asian essay explores basic themes they include ritual dance, puppetry, training, performance and masks. The national entries concentrate on the historical development of theatre in each country followed by entries on the major theatre forms and articles on playwrights, actors and directors. The entries are accompanied by rare photographs and helpful reading lists.

Comparatizing Taiwan Shu-mei Shih, Ping-hui Liao, 2014-10-17. As the site of crossings of colonizers, settlers, merchants and goods, island nations such as Taiwan have seen a rich confluence of cultures where peoples and languages were either forced to mix or did so voluntarily due largely to colonial conquest and their crucial role in world economy. Through an examination of socio-cultural phenomena, Comparatizing Taiwan situates Taiwan globally, comparatively and relationally to bring out the nation's innate richness. This book examines Taiwan in relation to other islands, cultures or nations in terms of culture, geography, history, politics and economy. Comparisons include China, Korea, Canada, Hong Kong, Macau, Ireland, Malaysia, Japan, New Zealand, South Africa, the United States and the Caribbean and these comparisons present a number of different issues alongside a range of sometimes divergent implications. By exploring Taiwan's many relationalities, material as well as symbolic, over a significant historical and geographical span, the contributors move to expand the horizons of Taiwan studies and reveal the valuable insights that can be obtained by viewing nations, societies and cultures in comparison. Through this process, the book offers crucial reflections on how to compare and how to study small nations. This truly interdisciplinary book will be welcomed by students and scholars interested in Taiwan studies, Sinophone studies, comparative cultural studies, postcolonial studies and literary studies.
